GOSSIPS SAY

That three thousand heads of cabbages were sent to the Boston markets on the 10th inst. by a young produce raiser of Portsmouth.

That Mr. John Albee, the poet, has returned from Europe and is at his home at Newcastle.

That a Lawrence gentleman is to build at Hampton beach a stone cottage after the style of the Stedman house at Newcastle.

That the skating rink is becoming a very popular resort for the young people of our city.

That Col. Charles A. Sinclair is on a trip to St. Louis, Mo.

That a gentleman of Kittery has $2000 worth of fancy fowls, the eggs of which he sells for fifty cents each.

That the scarcest article in the Portsmouth market is hen fruit.

That there was a tremendous demand for certificates of stock in the Eastern railroad the first half of this week.

That a son of Rev. Mr. Bicknell, formerly of this city, fell and broke one of his legs in Lowell, Mass., a few days since.

That the managers of the apron-and-necktie party are to be congratulated on the success of their latest venture.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER, J.

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 12th.

Thomas Sullivan, a marine, was assessed $9.90 for being found drunk.

Clara Hughes took from one Florence Howard at Newburyport a cloak, and wore it to this city. The city marshal, being notified by telephone, arrested Mrs. Hughes and locked her up. Wednesday forenoon the Howard woman appeared and regained her cloak, and Mrs. Hughes was liberated on payment of costs, $5.76.

GONE AT LAST.

The old ship "Guard," altered over into a coal barge to be towed by steamer from one port to another, sailed for New London, Conn., at about two o'clock in the afternoon on the 12th inst., in tow of the powerful tug Storm King, of Boston; she looked quite spruce as she went down the harbor, she having been painted lead-color outside and her masts white, while her deck-house aft, and the lookout-house surmounting it, are of such a brilliant red that no fire will ever be needed to keep anyone warm inside. Originally one of the old "cotton-boxes," at the time when a 2000-ton ship was a monster, and later for many years a storeship in the United States navy, the old craft's hull is still in good condition, and barring mishaps she will last a long time yet in her new line of business.

TRUE HONOR.

An incident came to our knowledge recently which is in refreshing contrast to what we hear so much about, among those even who call themselves good citizens and honest men, but who do not scruple to use every means to escape paying their proportion of taxes to the city or state, short of absolute perjury.

A gentleman of this place not receiving his usual tax-bill, called on the collector for it; and finding that by some accident his name had been omitted from the tax list, voluntarily paid the amount which would otherwise have been assessed against him, only claiming the six per cent discount to which he would have been entitled had the bill been presented and paid at the proper time.

Now some may perhaps smile at what they term this over-nice sense of honesty; but to us it seems worthy of all praise. That man is one on whom you can rely, and be sure that in whatever position of trust he may be placed he will not be found wanting. H

ROLLER SKATING.

At the Franklin hall skating Rink, this evening, Prof. Wm. Ed. Livesey, the champion English trick and fancy roller skater, will appear, for the third time in this city. The Boston Globe says he "is without doubt the finest roller skater in America," and that "his skating has not been approached in Boston," assertions which those who have seen him in this city will not dispute. Admission twenty cents; skate checks ten cents.

CHANCE FOR A RACE.

The Biddeford Times of the 11th inst. publishes the following: "Mr. Albert Norwood, Jr., of Biddeford Pool, desires to state that he is willing to accept the offer reported to have been made by Mr. Samuel H. Pilsbury of Kittery, and will sail his yacht Amphritrite against either of said Pilsbury's yachts, Myth or Nemo, as follows: Will make a match to sail at Kittery for $75 a side, at Kennebunk for $50 a side, or at Saco for $25 a side. Will sail now or early in the spring. Should be pleased to hear from Mr. Pilsbury in relation to the foregoing at an early day."

EASTERN RAILROAD MEETING.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Eastern railroad, for the choice of three directors, and of the holders of certificates of indebtedness for the choice of six directors, for the ensuing year, was held at the Meionaon in Boston on Wednesday, Dec. 12th.

The bondholders were called to order by Joshua Crane, who was chosen chairman; and Frank Jones of Portsmouth, Samuel C. Lawrence of Medford, George S. Morison of New York, Richard Olney of Boston, Jacob C. Rogers of Peabody, and Arthur Sewall of Bath, Me., were chosen directors; George E. B. Jackson and Jonas H. French, of the old board, being dropped on account of their opposition to the consolidation scheme.

President Jackson was chairman of the stockholders' meeting, which elected Francis I. Amory of Boston, Thomas W. Hyde of Bath, and Charles Houghton of Boston, as directors, Messrs. Amory and Hyde being new men.

As the steamer James Sampson was backing out from her wharf at Kittery Point, on one of her late trips Tuesday evening of this week, she picked up an old moorings, laid down several years ago, and wound it around her propeller in such a way as to totally disable herself. The steamer Mystic went down and got her passengers, and also took her regular patrons across the river Wednesday morning, the Mystic on the latter trip carrying 206 persons.

Tickets for the entertainments at Music hall on Saturday afternoon and evening, by the Corinne Merrie Makers, can now be secured at Goodrich's. The piece to be presented is "Bijou," a musical extravaganza in three acts. See advertisement.

The schooner Annie F. Conlon, Capt. Seaward, arrived in the lower harbor on the 12th inst., on her way from Windsor, Nova Scotia, to Alexandria, Va. Capt. Seaward says he never before had such a knocking about, in all his going to sea, as he has had for the past five weeks; from the time he arrived at Windsor to the present, he has experienced only a succession of snow storms and gales of wind.

About 400 people from this city went to Boston "railroad day" on Eastern railroad stock and certificates of indebtedness.

The Willing Workers of the Methodist society will present on Friday evening a juvenile operetta called "Red Riding Hood's Rescue; or, the Dangers of Disobedience," at the Methodist church, State street, and have engaged the services of Miss Fannie Hoyt, the favorite young violinist, to assist in the entertainment. Admission, twenty cents; children under twelve years, ten cents.

The quarterly meeting of St. John's Guild will be held this (Thursday) afternoon at three o'clock, at the house of the president, Mrs. Bassett, (the Langdon house, Pleasant street;) the members of the various Chapters are invited to be present.

Among other nominations sent to the senate on the 11th inst. was that of Frank B. Randall of this city to be first assistant engineer in the United States revenue service.

"Towle," the Washington correspondent of the Boston Traveller, under date of Dec. 11th wrote that paper as follows: "Hon. Frank Jones, of Portsmouth, N. H., is in a very excitable state of mind, and he has freely expressed his disgust at the action of the officers of the house. It appears that he went to Clerk Clark and requested that Mr. Jenness, connected with the enrolling of bills of the house, be retained in his place. Mr. Clark said he was very sorry, but that as Jenness hailed from New Hampshire, which did not have a single democratic congressman, he should be obliged to utilize the place to satisfy the demands of another member of the majority. Mr. Jones was thoroughly indignant, and said to Mr. Clark that he noticed the southern democrats came north just before election time after money to carry close districts, and that in 1882 he contributed thousands of dollars to aid this object. He further declared that if he had lost his influence he did not see any reason why he should continue to put out his money." Mr. Jones was in Boston on Wednesday, the 12th, and informed the Traveller that there was no truth whatever in the story.

At Newmarket, Tuesday afternoon of this week, Stephen Hersom, aged twenty years, was drowned while skating. The body was recovered.

The measles have been very prevalent at Kittery Point of late, and unless the trouble abates it is likely the schools will have to be closed.

A handsome card photograph of Little Corinne will be presented to each child attending the matinee entertainment on Saturday afternoon at Music hall.

The Dover Democrat gives the following as the history of "King David," the harmless demented individual so well known in this vicinity. It says he "was born in Strafford Centre, April 6th, 1811. He was considered a little 'off' when a boy, but when he matured he became an excellent house carpenter. When he was forty years old he fell from a staging thirty-seven feet high, and struck on his head. He was taken up for dead, and lay in a comatose state for three days. He eventually recovered, however, but from that day has been harmlessly insane. His hobby is that while lying unconscious he was travelling all over the world, and when he came to he was very angry, saying they should have left him alone, as he never had a better time in his life, and described the places he had seen and incidents that happened during his travels. His real name is George H. Tuttle, and he is now supported by the town of Strafford."

The republican national convention is to be held in Chicago, on Tuesday, June 3d, 1884.

The Best Baking Powder.

The best baking powder is made from pure Cream of Tartar, Bicarbonate of Soda, and a small quanity of flour or starch. Frequently other ingredients are used, and serve a purpose in reducing the cost and increasing the profits of the manufacturer.

We give the Government Chemist's analyses of two of the leading baking powders:

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they conain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."

Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Flour.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."

Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Carbonate of Ammonia,
Tartaric Acid,
Starch.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

NOTE.—The Tartaric acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D

NEW YORK, Jan'y 17th, 1881.

The above analyses indicate a preference for "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," and our opinion is that it is the better preparation.—Hall's Journal of Health.

The Old Men's Home.

One of the most beneficent charities in existence is that which provides a resting place for weary and worn out old men. They have many infirmities and diseases, one of the most common of which is rheumatism. Just here comes in the advantage of Perry Davis's Pain Killer, which has relieved the sufferings of many an old man by driving away the most severe rheumatic pains.

The bill for legalizing marriages between Jews and Christians has been defeated in the chamber of magnates of the Hungarian diet.

The ills which flesh is heir to are more often due to impurities in the blood than is generally supposed. The purification of this vital fluid enables the system to ward off its worst enemies. There is no doubt that Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the best blood purifiers in the world, and we feel confident that those who give it a trial will not be disappointed.

Eminent Medical Testimony.

19 East 32d Street,
New York, March 15th, 1883.

I have used Allcock's Porous Plasters in my practice with remarkable success, and found them peculiarly efficacious when applied to the back for Weak Spine and Nervous Exhaustion; they afford almost instant relief in Cough, Colds and Liver Complaint. I cordially recommend them as the best and safest Plaster ever made, and would caution the public against the numerous other so-called Porous Plasters that are sought to be palmed off on a credulous public; they are worthless and oftentimes dangerous.

Wilbeck's store, at Castleton, N. Y., was demolished by an explosion on the night of the 12th inst., and with Kellogg's drug store was burned to the ground. Many people living over Wilbeck's store escaped in their night clothes. It is believed that the explosion was caused by a dynamite cartridge left in the coal, that had been used to blast it from the mines.

"G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon" Whiskey was introduced by Chester H. Graves & Sons six years ago, when it was approved by S. Dana Hayes, State Assayer, Massachusetts. It at once established a reputation as a perfectly pure Whiskey, and we learn it has just received a fresh endorsement from the present State Assayer of Massachusetts. Leading druggists and grocers sell it.

Official List of Patents

Granted to citizens of New Hampshire, for the week ending Dec. 11th.

Joseph A. Holmes, Greenland, elevator bucket.

Hon. Charles C. Dame was the candidate of the Independent Citizens for mayor at the municipal election in Newburyport on the 11th inst. He received three hundred votes less than did Mayor Johnson. Mr. Dame would have proved a good mayor had he been elected to the office.

Wheeler, the democrat who assassinated J. P. Matthews in Hazelhurst, Mississippi, election day, has been rewarded for committing the murder, having been made city marshal of Hazelhurst. It seems that Wheeler deserved his fate; he had been notified that if he attempted to vote in opposition to the orders of the democratic leaders, he would be murdered; but notwithstanding this warning he appeared at the polls unarmed, with an opposition ballot in his hand, and was bravely filled up with buckshot by Wheeler. The democrats of Mississippi evidently love to reward true merit, and murder committed "in the interest of the party" is the most meritorious of deeds, in their eyes; they made Barksdale a congressman, and they will make Wheeler one if he keeps on in the good work.

Green. A wave on the Breton Coast. By Blanche Willis Howard; 16 mo., pp. Boston; published by James R. Osgood & Co.; price $1.25. Sold by booksellers.

Miss Howard's new book is receiving much commendation, and it will have a wide reading. It is not a work which will be simply amusing to the listless reader. It tells of a different phase of society than that portrayed in the customary fashionable novels.

The scene is at Plouvence, a Breton village, whose inhabitants live from the proceeds of sardine fishing, and where artists go to make sketches. The novel treats of characters rather than of the manners and customs of these uncultivated people, among whom an American artist, Everett Hamer, comes, and selects Gueen, a beautiful girl despite her origin and surroundings, as a model for his sketches. Gueen resists the artist's overtures to pose for him, and she has a will of her own, but finally consents, and falls in love with the American, who seems to have proved, unconsciously to himself, a woman-killer. He paints a successful picture, which Gueen enthusiastically admires, and saves from destruction at the risk of her life. The artist is in love only with his art, and leaves Plouvence without even taking leave of his admirer.

Ten years after he enquires with apparently small interest of a priest, who was the recteur of the place, and whom he meets in Rome, as to his former model, and learns of her death. The priest saw the interest which Gueen felt for the artist, and the way with which the Cure viewed the affair is told in the most touching manner

The story is full of interest. The peculiar traits of the persons who figure prominently in the tale are shown with a capacity which at once places the writer in the front ranks of successful novelists. To be able to portray such a character as Gueen in her humble surroundings, and to describe such rare qualities of heart beneath such an apparent rough exterior as we suppose her to be in her first introduction, show the author to be possessed of a genius whose promise of future results in this department of literature is of the most hopeful character. Here is, as we before intimated, a story which will be read not for its incidents or denouement, but for its clever, nay, masterly portrayal of character, a trait which has made, ere this, more than one gifted woman distinguished among the better class of readers, rather than as a "popular" novelist.

Edgar Lowell, seventeen years old, of Biddeford, went skating on Swan Pond brook on the night of the 11th inst., and was drowned by the breaking of the ice. The body was soon recovered.

Rev. Charles Andrews, a superannuated preacher of the Methodist Episcopal church, died at Old Orchard on Sunday, the 9th inst., at the age of seventy-two years. He was a native of Great Falls, N. H., to which place his remains were taken for interment.

Most of the weirs on Cape Cod have been taken up for the season. In the weirs at Truro, one day recently, 250 barrels of mackerel of good quality were taken; and on the 8th inst., in two weirs at the same place, 150 barrels were captured. A large number of new weirs will be set on the Cape Cod shores next spring.

In the house of representatives, on the 11th inst., Mr. Robinson of New York introduced a resolution of enquiry calling on the secretary of state for information, and reciting that it has been stated repeatedly in the public press that a British spy named E. O'Brien has been allowed to tamper with the mails in New York, and, though known as such by United States Inspector Newcome, was by him permitted to visit his office in in the New York post-office, where he had apparently unlimited opportunity to tamper with and open the correspondence of American merchants and citizens, and where he laid his plans for entraping those unfortunate men, some of the American citizens who were recently tried in Liverpool and sentenced to imprisonment for life; and directing the postmaster general to examine into the matter, and communicate to the house the facts and circumstances therewith.

A despatch from Monterey, Mex., says: Four of the men implicated in the recent train robbery have been arrested here, and the names of twenty-three others are in the hands of the authorities. It is rumored that the mayor of New Laredo is involved in the matter.

The annual report of the directors and treasurer of the Maine Central railroad company has been issued; many of the figures have been given approximately before, but the following will be of some interest: The total number of miles operated by the company is 182; gross earnings of the combined roads now forming the Maine Central, for the year, $2,864,615.31; increase over last year, $232,475.01. Two dividends have been paid to the stockholders during the year, one of 2 1-2 and the other of three per cent. The total expense for the year was $1,839,706.80. General Manager Payson Tucker in his report gives the following figures: Total train mileage, 2,148,679; passengers carried, 1,150,937. A branch road is to be contracted for, forty miles from the Brewer or Augusta branch to Hancock. It will be ready for use by June, 1884. The estimated cost is $700,000. By the first of the year the road will have in all 330 miles of steel rails. It is in a very prosperous condition.

MEDICAL.

If it were possible to get the testimony of the multitude who have used HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA for debility, languor, lassitude, and that general feeling of stupidity, weariness and exhaustion which every one feels during this season, we should be able to present to our readers such an overwhelming mass of commendatory messages, that the few who have not tried it would do so at once. It is a positive fact, and has been so effectually demonstrated that no one to-day denies it, that Hood's Sarsaparilla contains more real medicinal value than any article before the people.

What a Man Did with Kidney Complaint

DRACUT, MASS.
MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.:
Dear Sirs—I have suffered from kidney complaint and biliousness for fifteen years. Have tried everything and never got any good. Last January, before I commenced taking HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, everything I ate bloated me all up, pain in my chest and arms, headache and dizzy. I could not get up without feeling weary and all fagged out. Many mornings I was obliged to lie down on the lounge. To do any work seemed almost impossible. Have taken five bottles. The backache, dizziness, pain in my chest and arms, and that feeling of intense weariness are all gone. I can eat anything and it does not press me at all. Feel just like work; in fact, like a new man. Can heartily recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, and hope all who desire to know anything about it will come to me and ask what I think of it. Very truly yours,
JONATHAN J. COBURN.

WASHINGTON, D. C.
December 14, 12:00 A. M.

Probabilities for New England:—Warmer threatening and rainy weather increasing southwesterly winds with gales on the coast, falling followed on Friday night by colder northwesterly winds and rising barometer.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 40 degrees above zero.

Sky clear.

"BIJOU."

At Music hall, to-morrow afternoon and evening, "Bijou, or Our Company," will be given by Little Corinne and a full company of adult performers. Corinne is the most wonderful child actress ever seen here, and needs no introduction; and the other members of the organization are strongly commended by the press. Tickets at Goodrich's.

GOSSIPS SAY

That the apron and neck-tie-party in Congress hall on Tuesday evening, the 11th inst., was the finest dancing party that has assembled in this city this season.

That the prettiest and most valuable apron shown was worn by a young lady of the south end, and was brought from China a few years since by a naval officer now deceased.

That the U. S. Senate on the 12th inst. confirmed the appointment of Frank B. Randall of this city as first assistant engineer in the revenue service.

That Mr. Randall is one of our most deserving and intelligent young men, and well merits the promotion he has received.

That a goat team driven by a Miss of ten summers has recently attracted a good deal of attention on the streets.

That two more heavy pigs have been killed on Christian Shore, one weighing 430 lbs., and the other, a five-months-old pig, weighing 320 lbs.

That Miss Mabel F. Sylvester, the young lady who gave so wonderful an exhibition of fancy skating at the Portsmouth rink recently, is the finest lady skater ever exhibiting here.

That the largest crowd that has yet been in attendance at the skating rink was there on Thursday evening, the champion skater, Livesey, being the attraction.

That about twenty members of St. John's and St. Andrew's lodges of Freemasons went to Greenland on Thursday evening to make a fraternal visit to Winnicut lodge of that town.

That the brethren report a pleasant time and a splendid collation.

That Special Agent Grimeson of the internal revenue service was in this city on Thursday, and inspected the several breweries and Ward's distillery.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES--LOWELL J.

In this court the testimony in behalf of the plaintiffs in the land case was resumed on Wednesday, the 12th inst. Among the witnesses was William Plummer, grandson of Gov. Plummer, who testified to the handwriting of the governor, among whose papers was a plan of lands claimed to be embraced in the tract in controversy.

The evidence will, it is stated, be concluded this week.

COL. FRENCH'S PICNIC.

That energetic and pugnacious gentleman, Col. Jonas H. French of Gloucester, Mass., introduced a little spice in the late meeting of the stock holders of the Eastern railroad. As the voting commenced he took the floor, and in commenting upon the fact that President Jackson's name had been dropped by both bond and stock holders on one of the tickets, explained it on the ground that Mr. Jackson, "true man that he was," had refused to sign the proposed lease of the Eastern road to the Boston & Maine railroad company.

The whole trouble with this bondholders' ticket, he continued, was that one man, employed by the Wards, agents for Baring Bros. & Co., who held about $3,000,000 of the bonds, had ever since 1876 controlled the bondholders. This man had dictated to them, every year, who should go on to the board, and who should not. He had kept himself on the ticket every year; he had quarrelled with every gentleman on the board and had, within six or seven years, put in and put out nearly as many presidents. He quarrelled with Mr. Lawrence; he quarrelled with Mr. Phillips, and he quarrelled with Mr. Jackson. And now that another president is to be chosen, I venture to say that he will quarrel with him within four months. This man to whom he referred was, he observed, present. He was glad of it, inasmuch as he disliked very much to attack a man behind his back. With all the high standing of Messrs. Baring Bros. & Co., and with all the power, financially and otherwise, at their command, they were not strong enough to maintain a one-man power in the directory of the Eastern railroad company. This man tells our president to step down and out; he says the same to those of the directors who refuse to obey his dictates; he proposes to have a board of directors "solid" for the lease to the Boston & Maine railroad company.

Reviewing the history of the fight in the New Hampshire legislature over this matter last summer, Col. French called attention to an agreement entered into by the Eastern and Boston & Maine directors, under which each was to pay one-half of the "counsel fees" required in securing the needed legislation, and caustically remarked that "counsel fees" was a term that covered up much that was very strange. Mr. Olney having stated, in answer to a question, that the Eastern's half of the "counsel fees" so far paid was $7000, Col. French guessed $9000 would come nearer to it. He further asserted that it was the intention to put in larger bills when the new board of directors came into power, and that from an estimate he had secured from a party who was well capable of judging, the entire cost of engineering the proposed lease to a successful consummation would be from $75,000 to $80,000, of which the Eastern company would be obliged to pay one-half. The programme for the future was, he continued, to have a new directory with a view to getting the lease through at all events. President Jackson had declined to do the bidding of the old board, and he is, accordingly, retired. Another gentleman is to be made president, and if he refuses to obey he will have to go; there will be a quarrel, and still another man will be chosen.

At the conclusion of Col. French's remarks, Mr. W. E. L. Dillaway asked him as to the size of his stock holding. Col. French promptly replied, "Thirty-five shares, and that is thirty more than I wish it was." In response to a similar query about the bonds held by him, he said that he was the owner of $5000 of them. Mr. Dillaway then talked pretty sharply about Col. French's opposition, and commented on the smallness of his holdings in the company's stock and securities.

As Mr. Dillaway was about to take his seat, Col. French queried as to how much Dilloway owned in the road, and there was a burst of laughter when he acknowledged that he owned only twenty shares of stock, and not a dollar of the bonds, the laughter increasing to a roar as the colonel remarked, "I can go you fifteen better."

The circus ended just as the polls were closed for voting on the bondholders' ticket.

The new board of directors of the Eastern railroad met in the passenger station at Boston on the 12th inst., and organized by the choice of Arthur Sewall as president, and the re-election of N. G. Chapin as treasurer and Francis I. Amory as clerk.

Meagher's family clam chowder to-day, delivered at houses to order.

Three tramps went to the house of Forrest Trafton on Middle street, Thursday evening, and stole an overcoat. Asst. Marshal Cole found them in a box car at the Eastern railroad station, and captured one, the other two escaping after being shot at.

In the list of pensioners in this city are the names of several widows who died years ago.

The Rogers Mission Circle of the North church met at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon, 12th inst., at the house of Mr. John P. Sweetser, and from that time until about 9:30 in the evening a most enjoyable time was had by the young people, the amusements including singing, speaking, supper, social games, etc. It was voted the best time the Circle has had this year.

Engine No. 110, heavily laden and drawing a heavily loaded car, this week passed over the culverts, bridges and draws of the Eastern railroad and branches, for the purpose of testing them. Everything was found satisfactory.

The drill sloop and "band-stand" which have been over the Gangway rock all summer, were on Thursday hauled up on Badger's island, work on the rock having ceased for this year. The chain says of the band-stand were merely cast off and allowed to go to the bottom, whence they will be picked up by a diver next spring—a great improvement over the plan adopted a year ago, when the chains buoyed, to the great annoyance all through the winter of the steamers on the river.

The pay-car of the Eastern railroad arrived here on Thursday, with the wages of the employes.

Wild ducks were seen in large numbers at Great bay the first of this week.

Mr. Channing F. Folsom, superintendent of schools at Dover, was in town on Thursday, and visited the Haven school, of which he was formerly master.

Andrew J. Hall, Esq., re-elected alderman in Boston, is a native of Strafford in this state. He learned the baker's trade in this city, and married a daughter of Elijah B. Young, formerly a resident on Islington street, and a conductor on the Eastern railroad. Mr. Hall has at different times been the owner of fifteen restaurants and one hotel in Boston, and upon the question whether the committees should lunch at Young's or at Parker's ought to be an authority.

It is stated that an extensive dry-goods house in New York, which has a summer store at Saratoga, has at the request of seaside boardinghouse keepers in this region sent one of its business men to look at the stores in National block, with a view to opening for the coming season a store for the sale of fancy and staple dry-goods and toilet-articles, with patterns of rich dress goods which can be ordered by telegraph. The stock is to be especially adapted to the wants of the transient summer trade which comes to Portsmouth to expend its ducats during dog days.

The New York Tribune speaks in glowing terms of Miss Norah Bartlett's first appearance in that city with Booth's company on Monday night of this week, commending "her voice, her intelligence, sensibility and taste." The New York Times of the 12th alludes to her graceful and intelligent performance of Marion deLorme.

The usual advanced rates charged by the cheap stores in Boston on "Railroad day" were maintained, and in the rush purchasers in many instances paid for goods higher prices than they could have bought the same articles for in Portsmouth.

The Government Chemist Analyzes two of the Leading Baking Powders, and what he finds them made of.

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Flour

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Carbonate of Ammonia
Tartaric Acid
Starch

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

Note.—The Tartaric Acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.

NEW YORK, JANY 17TH, 1881.

The above shows conclusively that "Cleveland's Superior" is a strictly pure Cream of Tartar Baking Powder. It has also been analyzed by Professor Johnson of Yale College; Dr. Genth of the University of Pennsylvania; President Morton of the Stevens Institute; Wm. M. Habirshaw, F. C. S., Analyst for the Chemical Trade of New York, and other eminent chemists, all of whom pronounce it absolutely pure and healthful.

Misery, shame and agony often bequeathed as a sole legacy to children by parents is neglected scrofula. To cleanse the blood of this hereditary poison, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the skin of disfiguring humors, itching torture, humiliating eruptions, and loathsome sores caused by it to purify and beautify the skin, and restore the hair so that no trace of the disease remains, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, diuretic and aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great skin cures and beautifiers, are infallible.

I HAD SALT RHEUM

In the most aggravating form for eight years. No kind of treatment, medicine or doctors did me any good. My hands were so bad I could not do how suffered. When I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES my limbs were so raw and inflamed that I could bear no pressure on them without the skin cracking and bleeding, and was obliged to go about on crutches. Used the CUTICURA REMEDIES five months, and was completely and permanently cured.

It could be rubbed off like dandruff, and at times causing intolerable itching and the most intense suffering. I have spent hundreds of dollars, pills and other advertised remedies, but experienced no relief until I procured the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which, through good perseverance and regular y, cured me, allaying that terrible itching, and restoring my skin to its natural color. I am willing to make affidavit to the truth of this statement. S. G. BUXTON, Mi an, Mich.

"Drink, pretty creature, drink," a little at a time, and you will relieve your cold, and not rack your chest and lungs to pieces, and keep every body else in a state of agitation. You surely ought to spend a quarter for a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. It will pay!

Portland, Oregon.—The Telegram says: In Clackamas county, alone, over a hundred citizens were cured of painful ailments by St. Jacobs Oil, the pain-conqueror.

—A reporter who attended a banquet concluded his description with the candid statement that "it is not distinctly remembered by anybody present who made the last speech."

A man suffering from debility and loss of appetite took two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, gained ten pounds and got well.

—"Were you in the late war?" asked a veteran of a badly demoralized citizen, who came hobbling down the street on a crutch, for he thought of course the citizen was disabled in battle. But the citizen, who had been hurt on the railroad and had passed most of the time during the war in Canada, replied: "Old man, take my advice. Quit asking that question. If you don't you lose friends."

WINSTON, FORSYTH CO., N. C.
Gents—I desire to express to you my thanks for your wonderful Hop Bitters. I was troubled with dyspepsia for five years previous to commencing the use of your Hop Bitters some six months ago. My cure has been wonderful. I am pastor of the First Methodist Church of this place, and my whole congregation can testify to the great virtues of your bitters.
Very respectfully,

The latest sensation in Veasie, Me., is the detection of a well known deacon in passing a counterfeit twenty-dollar bill at the Veasie bank. The cashier afterward found out that the deacon knew the bill was counterfet, and after making him reimburse the bank gave him a "blowing up" that shocked the entire church.

From the Proud Standpoint

of superior "style" the languid city beauty surveys the imaginary physical short comings of her rustic female cousin. Yet if the latter possess a finer set of teeth, as she probably does if she uses Sozodont, and the metropolitan belle does not, that striking contrast so much in her favor enables her to turn the tables with a vengeance. Pearly teeth are better than "style."

A despatch from Matamoras, Mexico, says that three days ago a party of federal soldiers attacked thirty-two bandits in the Combre Du Oco mountains, and killed five of them. The others fled. Only one soldier was killed.

A Fine Fowl for Christmas.

If the Thanksgiving turkey was stuffed in the orthodox and old-time way, variety may be given to the Christmas turkey by making the dressing after these directions, which no cook can read without applauding: For a turkey weighing from eight to ten pounds, allow one loaf of stale bakers' bread, one quart of oysters, one lemon, two roots of celery and one quarter of a pound of butter. It is taken for granted that the turkey is thoroughly cleaned and wiped dry before putting the stuffing in. Crumble the bread till very fine, season with pepper and salt. Drain the oysters, setting the liquor aside. Now take a very sharp knife and peel off the outer rind of the lemon, being careful not to have any of the bitter and tough white skin left on; cut the peel in very small bits; chop the white part of the celery very fine, adding the butter and the juice of the lemon; mix the ingredients mentioned, stirring until thoroughly mixed; then proceed to stuff body and crop.

A turkey of the size spoken of requires at least two hours' baking, and it should be basted frequently; the liquor of the oysters should be put in the pan when the pan is first set in the oven, and this is to be used in basting. The giblets and liver should be chopped very fine and be cooked in a basin on the top of the stove, and then when the gravy is made add them to it.—N. Y. Post.

Scheming to Evade the Giving of Christmas Presents.

A boy of twelve stood leaning against the fence on Duffield street yesterday, hat pulled down, feet crossed, and his right hand going up occasionally to wipe his nose, when along came another anatomy about his size and asked:

"Sick?"
"No."
"Any the family dead?"
"No, I've just been licked."
"Who dun it?"
"Dad."
"Did your ma ask him to?"
"Yes. She told him I had been aching for it more than a month."
"Say," said the new arrival, "you are in luck. I'm trying my best to get dad to whale me. I'd give fifty cents if he had tanned me this noon and it was all through hurting."
"Why?"
"Why! Haven't I got $3 saved up to buy pap and marm Christmas presents, and if I can get 'em to whale me before Christmas won't I spend every cent of that money on myself? How much you got?"
"Two dollars."
"Bully! You are all right! You've bin licked, and they won't expect even a stick of gum from their pounded son. I'll go home and slam the baby around and steal sugar and kick the cat and sass mother, and if I can get wolloped to-night I'll meet you here to-morrow, and we'll pool in and buy more pistols and scalping knives and rock-candy and nuts and raisins than you ever saw before! Yip! Peel me down, dear father—hang my hide on the fence, mother darling.—Detroit Post.

Christmas Among the Esquimaux.

For the benefit of such of our little readers who have never spent a winter in Labrador, Alaska, or the other countries of the far North which the Esquimaux inhabit, we will narrate some interesting facts illustrative of their mode of celebrating Christmas.

The winter residences of the Esquimaux are round hovels built solely of blocks of snow, in the sides of which they insert sheets of ice to answer the purpose of windows; thus, the Esquimaux glazier instead of carrying little boxes containing glass, putty and tin, drives around in an ice-wagon.

The wealth of an esquimaux is computed in snow-banks; a man is worth, not so many acres of land or thousands of dollars, but 500 or 1,000 snow-banks. For example; although he can never be a director of a First National Bank, he may hold the equally important and remunerative position of, say, president of the Neg-a-lek Metropolitan Snow-drift.

When a young Esquimaux leads the Esquimauxess of his heart's choice to the altar, the old man comes down with a check on the drift for so many million flakes, as the Lord has prospered him.

But we started out to describe their Christmas doings. Among their observances the fashion of making presents to relatives and friends holds the same important place as it does with us, and the little folks hang up their seal-skin socks.

They have of course few tastes in common with us. Their little folks appreciate the gift of a sled or a pair of skates just as ours do, but there the resemblance ceases. If an Esquimaux, young or old, has a weakness, it is for blubber; and the little fellow who wakes up Christmas morning to find his seal-skin socks full of blubber is supremely handy.

Among the poorer classes it is customary to make presents of sealskins. In our country a lady esteems the gift of a seal-skin sacque, as quite princely; but in Esquimaux lands a whole suit of the beautiful fur is a very ordinary offering. Indeed a whole seal is frequently presented which the recipient can skin at her leisure and make up to suit herself.

The Christmas dinner is, of course, a leading feature of the day's celebration. A very fine dinner would consist of a chunk of raw whale with a sauce of rose colored hair oil, washed down with a flagon of hot blood. At an extremely tony affair, candles with dip are sometimes served as dessert.

By the way, Ignatius Donnelly advances the theory that the northern lands were the fairest on earth before the glacial period. Was it there that Pharaoh's daughter found little Esquimauxes in the bullrushes?—Cin. Sat. Night.

A queer way of procuring drink came up the other day in Waterbury, Conn. A man rushed hurriedly into a drug store, with a scratch on his hand, exclaiming: "For haven's sake give me a drink of whisky immediately. I've been bitten by a dog that acts mad, and I want protection against hydrophobia." He got the drink, but the drug clerk says the game won't work in that shop again.

"I wish to express my appreciation of the valuable qualities of

as a cough remedy.

"While with Churchill's army, just before the battle of Vicksburg, I contracted a severe cold, which terminated in a dangerous cough. I found no relief till on our march we came to a country store, where, on asking for some remedy, I was urged to try AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

"I did so, and was rapidly cured. Since then I have kept the PECTORAL constantly by me, for family use, and I have found it to be an invaluable remedy for throat and lung diseases. J. W. WHITLEY."

Thousands of testimonials certify to the prompt cure of all bronchial and lung affections, by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily.

SCROFULA

and all scrofulous diseases, Sores, Erysipelas, Eczema, Blotches, Ringworm, Tumors, Carbuncles, Boils, and Eruptions of the Skin, are the direct result of an impure state of the blood.

To cure these diseases the blood must be purified, and restored to a healthy and natural condition. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has for over forty years been recognized by eminent medical authorities as the most powerful blood purifier in existence. It frees the system from all foul humors, enriches and strengthens the blood, removes all traces of mercurial treatment, and proves itself a complete master of all scrofulous diseases.

A Recent Cure of Scrofulous Sores.

"Some months ago I was troubled with scrofulous sores (ulcers) on my legs. The limbs were badly swollen and inflamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. Every remedy I tried failed, until I used AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, of which I have now taken three bottles, with the result that the sores are healed, and my general health greatly improved. I feel very grateful for the good your medicine has done me.

Yours respectfully, MRS. ANN O'BRIAN." 148 Sullivan St., New York, June 24, 1882.

All persons interested are invited to call on Mrs. O'Brian; also upon the Rev. E. F. Wilds of 78 East 54th Street, New York City, who will take pleasure in testifying to the wonderful efficacy of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, not only in the cure of this lady, but in his own case and many others within his knowledge.

The well-known writer on the Boston Herald, B. W. BALL, of Rochester, N.H., writes, June 7, 1882:

"Having suffered severely for some years with Eczema, and having failed to find relief from other remedies, I have made use, during the past three months, of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, which has effected a complete cure. I consider it a magnificent remedy for all blood diseases."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

stimulates and regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, renews and strengthens the vital forces, and speedily cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Gout, Catarrh, General Debility, and all diseases arising from an impoverished or corrupted condition of the blood, and a weakened vitality.

It is incomparably the cheapest blood medicine, on account of its concentrated strength, and great power over disease.

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Jan. 14, 1880.

I have been sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and throat would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.

Tone up the system by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It will make you feel like a new person. Thousands have found relief from suffering by the use of this great blood purifier when all other means failed.

At Old Saybrook, Conn., Wednesday night, Dec. 12th, Miner A. Wilcox quarrelled with a young lady to whom he had been paying attention, and then shot himself through the lungs. He may die.

My Wife Said

to me last night: How much do you suppose we have paid out for doctors and medicine in the last year. I told her I did not know. To doctors I have paid nothing, and five dollars worth of Sulphur Bitters has kept health in our family. L. Andrews, 12 Bowdoin St., Boston.

In the Hop Porous Plaster the virtues of fresh hops are combined with strengthening and stimulating balsams, and its cures of weak back, pain in the side, rheumatism and neuralgia, or pain in the chest are simply marvellous, it being more efficacious and thorough than any liniment or liquid remedies. You'll say so after using.

Mrs. John Howie of Homersville, York county, N. B., gave birth to four boys last Thursday. One died. The others are doing nicely.

The divorced wife of Ex-Senator Christiancy, who has been visiting in Brooklyn, N. Y., became insane Dec. 10th, probably from the use of choral, and died Thursday night.

A GOOD INVESTMENT. — One of our prominent business men said to us the other day: "In the spring my wife got all run down and could not eat anything; passing your store I saw a pile of Hood's Sarsaparilla in the window, and I got a bottle. After she had taken it a week she had a rousing appetite, and did her everything. She took three bottles, and it was the best three dollars I ever invested." C. L. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

The barque Fannie H. Loring, with a cargo of coal, left Philadelphia November 7th for Portland, Me. Nothing has since been heard from the vessel, and it is feared she has been lost with all on board. The crew consisted of Captain Soule and ten men.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

Jerome B. Cox shot and killed Charles McLaughlin in San Francisco last Thursday. Both were prominent and wealthy citizens. The tragedy was the result of a seventeen year's litigation in courts.

ATHENS, GA., Nov. 6, 1883.—I am averse on general principals to saying anything commendatory of proprietary articles, but there are a few on the market that force those of the profession who come in contact with the diseased and suffering to acknowledge their superiority. Among those I find Swift's Specific to rank high. One poor unfortunate requests me to tell you that he had long been a sufferer with terrible blood taint, and securing little if any relief from other treatment, finally resorted to Swift's Specific. He claims now that it has afforded him relief, that he feels that his blood is pure again and wishes me to express his deep obligations, with which I cheerfully comply. Yours respectfully, JOSEPH JACOBS, Druggist.

The Niobrara valley vigilantes, of Dakota, have made away with five horse thieves within the past ten days. Two of the robbers were shot dead, and the other three were hanged. Four others are in custody, and if the court does not punish them the vigilantes will.

The Old Men's Home.

One of the most beneficent charities in existence is that which provides a resting place for weary and worn out old men. They have many infirmities and diseases, one of the most common of which is rheumatism. Just here comes in the advantage of Perry Davis's Pain Killer, which has relieved the sufferings of many an old man by driving away the most severe rheumatic pains.

Ezra H. Twombly, aged fifty years, died in Dover on the 13th inst. He was formerly register of deeds for Strafford county.

The ills which flesh is heir to are more often due to impurities in the blood than is generally supposed. The purification of this vital fluid enables the system to ward off its worst enemies. There is no doubt that Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the best blood purifiers in the world, and we feel confident that those who give it a trial will not be disappointed.

Rev. W. H. Yeoman has resigned the pastorate of the Free Baptist church at East Tilton, and accepted a call to Willmot Flat.

Nothing is so reliable as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for colds, coughs, in short for any and all derangements of the respiratory organs, which tend towards consumption. In all ordinary cases it is a certain cure, and it affords sure relief for asthma and consumption, even in advanced stages.

John E. Marsh, locomotive engineer, recalls the fact that his freight train, in May, 1881, at Plymouth, accidently ran over Thomas Samon, now the Laconia murderer. Samon heard the warning whistle, but mistook the direction of the train, and before it could be stopped the engine and three cars went over him as he lay prone between the rails, but, remarkable as it was, he came out, gripsack and all, uninjured. As the train moved on again Samon took off his hat and bowed to the engineer in recognition of his promptness in stopping the train.

"G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon" Whiskey was introduced by Chester H. Graves & Sons six years ago, when it was approved by S. Dana Hayes, State Assayer, Massachusetts. It at once established a reputation as a perfectly pure Whiskey, and we learn it has just received a fresh endorsement from the present State Assayer of Massachusetts. Leading druggists and grocers sell it.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1883.

☞ Copies of the GAZETTE and of the DAILY CHRONICLE can be had of Moses Brothers, at their Newspaper Store in Congress Block.

At Richmond, Me., on the night of Dec. 12th, Lewis E. Hopkins, alias Slim Jim, and Lorenzo Turner, while on a drunken spree went to the house of "Old Joe," an Indian aged about sixty years, and attempted to ravish his wife, who is about the same age. Old Joe attempted to defend his wife, but was knocked down and jumped on by Hopkins, and killed. The drunken brutes then outraged the woman, and were shortly afterward lodged in jail. Hopkins is forty years old, and Turner about twenty-three. The Indians were quiet and inoffensive people. Turner confesses assaulting the woman, but denies aiding in the murder. Three men, George W. Hussey, Fred Weliman and W. C. Weyman, of whom the assassins got their liquor, were on the 14th fined $21 each, including costs, for the offence, all pleading guilty.

There was a $50,000 fire in Lowell, Mass., Dec 14th. During its progress there was an explosion by which nine firemen were burned or had limbs broken, though none were killed.

On a dull day in a Bangor, Me., barber shop, one of the loungers agreed with the boss to give him seventy-five cents for the day's receipts, and then went out with several friends and drummed up customers. The barber had to work hard all day and took about $10, of which the lounger pocketed $9.25.

Thomas Crowley, a cattle drover, was repeatedly fired at while driving a drove through a thick piece of woods, ten miles west of Bangor, Me., at nightfall a few days ago.

Mr. Albert Loring of Holyoke, Mass., an educated and well-liked man, who has had charge of the evening school, has become violently insane, and will have to be taken to an asylum.

The county commissioners of Strafford county have voted two to one to remove William T. Wentworth, superintendent of the Strafford county farm. One year ago Dr. Charles A. Fairbanks, physician of the almshouse, preferred serious charges of ill-treatment of inmates, full particulars of which appeared in the papers at the time. Wentworth did not ask an investigation of the charges. Petitions are being circulated for signatures favorable to Wentworth's retention. The two commissioners who voted for his removal will, they say, not be influenced by petitions, but will stand by their position, the public good requiring them to do so.

MEDICAL.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Has "decided" claims upon the public. This is positively proven by the immense good it has done to those who have been cured of diseases for which they have suffered intensely for years, as verified by the published testimonials, every one of which is a positive fact.

CHELSEA, VT., Feb. 24, 1879.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.: The 6th day of last June I was taken sick with a swelling on my right foot, and with an awful pain. The swelling went all over me. My face was swelled so that I could with difficulty see out of my eyes, and I broke out over the whole surface of my body; my right foot up to my knee was one raw, festering mass, and my ankle and foot so lame and sore I could not step on it, and it would run so as to wet a bandage through in an hour. In this condition Mr. W. F. Hood (of the firm of A. H. Hood & Son, druggists, of this town), handed me a bottle of Hood's SARSAPARILLA, and told me to take it. I did so, and by the time I had taken one bottle I found that it was doing me good. I have since taken five bottles more. After I had taken three bottles my soreness began to leave me, and I have been growing better every day, so that to-day I can walk without going lame. I have no soreness in my ankle and it has healed all up, and does not run at all. I owe my recovery to your Sarsaparilla. I write this to let you know that I think it deserves the confidence of the public, especially those who are troubled with humors.

Yours most truly, JOSIAH PITKIN.

P. S. Every person that saw me said that I never would get over my lameness without having running sore on my ankle; but thank God I have.

J. P.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER, J.

FRIDAY, Dec. 14th.

Napoleon Burns, for drunkenness, was assessed $9.90, fine and costs; county farm in default of payment.

Warren Woodbury, drunk, fine $3, costs $6.90.

John Shea, a marine, pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking glass in a window of Charles Garrett's store, and was fined $3, costs $5.76.

Patrick Sheehan, just home from a forty days sojourn at Brentwood, was ordered back again for six months, and to pay $6.90 costs, for drunkenness. He will keep sober for the next seven months, unless he deserts from the farm before his time is up.

YACHT RACE IN PROSPECTIVE.

We are authorized by Mr. Samuel H. Pilsbury of Kittery to say, in answer to the challenge of Albert Norwood, Jr., of Biddeford Pool, published in the Biddeford Times of Dec. 11th, and copied in this paper, that he accepts the challenge, nominates his yacht "Nemo" to race with Mr. Norwood's yacht "Amphitrite," and designates the early spring as the time for the race; the exact date, the place, and the stake to be sailed for, to be decided upon later, in accordance with the terms of Mr. Norwood's challenge. Also that Mr. Pilsbury has deposited with Calvin L. Hayes, Esq., of Kittery, the sum of $5 as a forfeit in case he fails to come to time—which we do not hesitate to say, on our own account, that he will not do. We hope Mr. Pilsbury will elect to race here, he having the choice of sailing "at Kittery for $75 a side, at Kennebunk for $50 a side, or at Saco for $25 a side."

THE RAILROAD BLOCKADE.

Mr. Editor: The conductor of a freight train which arrived here from the eastward over the Eastern railroad at about seven o'clock in the evening on Thursday last, violated the law of this state (and also, I believe, his orders from the railroad company,) in allowing his train to completely stop all passing at the Vaughan street crossing for fifteen minutes by the watch, he allowing his train to remain on the crossing the length of time mentioned. Is it too much to hope that the new direction of the Eastern road will abate this needless and outrageous infringement on the rights of the travelling public of this city, which has prevailed for so many years, and which in spite of remonstrance has seemed to be steadily on the increase? The "consolidation" question is no doubt an important one with the railroads; but the people of Portsmouth, or at least that portion of the people living north of the railroad tracks, are much more interested in knowing whether they are ever to be allowed to use the highways without more obstruction on the part of the Eastern railroad trains than is necessary. I would suggest to the new management that here is a chance to make themselves "solid" with our people, without expense or trouble. WEARY.

THE CHOCORUA'S WRECK.

Capt. Ethan A. Locke of Kittery, master of the late ship Chocorua of this port, has arrived at his home in Maine. The disaster to the vessel happened at six o'clock P. M. on the 29th of September, the ship having sailed from Hong Kong on the 26th. A gale commenced to blow on the 29th, and by four o'clock in the afternoon the Chocorua was under short sail; and at six o'clock, just as the order had been given to ware ship, breakers were sighted ahead and on the lee bow, close aboard, and though the helm was at once put hard up the ship had hardly commenced paying off when she thumped on a coral reef nine miles from land, and hung there until she came off in fragments. A terrific sea was running, and within fifteen minutes from the time the ship struck she was full of water and going to pieces—a total wreck. About midnight the forward house was carried away by a sea, one man going with it; this was the only life lost by the disaster, the rest of the crew lashing themselves to the rigging, and passing the remainder of that night of terror in momentary expectation of having the ship break up under their feet. By daylight the sea had gone down so much that the crew were able to launch the only remaining boat, and two trips were made to the land, the last boat load reaching the beach at eight o'clock in the evening; the ship's masts were seen to fall not long after the boat left her the last time. The men were almost naked on landing, Capt. Locke being shod only with a slipper on one foot and a stocking on the other. The castaways next day reached the telegraph station at Boliano, Philippine islands, where they were kindly care for.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Rt. Rev. Wm. W. Niles, bishop of New Hampshire, will administer the rite of confirmation on Sunday morning at St. John's church, and on Sunday evening at Christ church; preaching on both occasions.

Miss H. Lizzie Haley, of Lowell, Mass., will preach in the Court street Christian church at 10:30 A. M. on Sunday. All are invited.

Rev. A. P. Peabody, D. D., will preach for the South Parish on Sunday.

SOUTH ELIOT, ME., Dec. 14th.

Mr. Editor: The Methodist Episcopal society here have an enterprising Sewing Circle. They have re-frescoed their church, and voted to make other repairs, such as painting, and furnishing new carpets and new pulpit set, and in addition, are working for a vestry. They have nearly enough on hand for all but the vestry, and they have a snug little sum for a beginning on that, obtained the other evening by a benefit sale held for that purpose. They took seventy-five dollars, a sum far exceeding their expectations; but there was a goodly gathering, and the people seemed in a mood to buy. Their success was greatly aided by some of the merchants of Portsmouth, who contributed, in the way of presents, various articles of merchandise, and to whom the ladies are very thankful.

Mr. Jones denies the account, from the Washington correspondent of the Traveller, which stated that he (Mr. Jones) was snubbed on the occasion of his recent trip to Washington to ask for a place for one of his friends in Rye or Eliot at the hands of the democratic managers in the house of representatives. Of course the clerk of the house would not talk in the manner indicated in the report, to a leading democrat like Mr. Jones; nor is it probably true, as some of his political inimical friends insist, that Mr. Jones was rebuked for his overflow in behalf of Gen. Butler. Mr. Jones, as we have before maintained, has done more for the democracy than the party has done or could do for him. But the time has come when, although the party needs money as well as votes from the north, the patronage must go to the southern—or to the unquestioned democratic—states. Probably no man, democrat or republican, is able to perceive this better than does Mr. Jones, and his friends and proteges must patiently subside until after the next presidential election, and then "if" the party succeeds, applications sent to the late congressman will be placed on file and receive due consideration. Until that happy season shall arrive, it will be well for the expectants to learn to labor and to wait.

The locomotives of the Eastern railroad went through on Friday draped in mourning, out of respect to the memory of Engineer Fred P. Wilkins, who died in Boston on Thursday from cancer on the brain. Mr. Wilkins was thirty-four years old, and very popular on the road; he ran his engine, on freight train 240, up to Boston on Wednesday.

The following are the estimates made for the civil establishment at the Portsmouth navy yard: Department of yards and docks, one clerk to civil engineer, $1400; one store clerk, $1200; one writer and assistant draughtsman, $1200; one mail messenger, $700. Department of construction and repair, one clerk to naval constructor, $1400; one clerk of storehouses, $1300; three writers, at $1017.25 each, $3051.50. Department of steam engineering, one clerk to chief engineer, $1400; one store clerk, $1300.

Fifteen mechanics and laborers employed in the department of construction and repair at the navy yard were discharged on the 13th inst., and fifty-two on the 14th.

The U. S. S. Marion was floated out of the dry dock at the navy yard, Friday forenoon, and hauled under the sheers.

O. M. Knight, at the Mechanics' block bookstore, has a very large, well selected assortment of goods in his line, useful and ornamental, suitable for Christmas and New Year presents. The store is very attractively arranged, and is worth inspecting whether you wish to buy anything or not.

Tickets for the ball of Moses H. Goodrich Fire Engine Co. on New Year's eve are being quite generally taken by the business men, and the indications are that the ball will be a pronounced success. It is intended to offer a variety of attractions.

Divers were on Friday exploring the bottom of the Piscataqua between the Concord railroad wharf and Noble's island.

The owners of the fishing schooner Rutherford B. Hayes, before reported as long overdue, have given up all hope of ever hearing from her again. She sailed from Gloucester on the 31st of October with a crew of twelve men, and was last seen on the banks Nov. 12th, the first day of the great gale. The four other Gloucester vessels reported as missing, in addition to those already announced as given up, are the Suitana, fourteen men, seen on the Western banks Nov. 12th, and not since; the George H. Pierson, the Witchcraft and the Helen M. Dennis, none of which have been heard from since the November gale, over a month ago.

The Best Baking Powder.

The best baking powder is made from pure Cream of Tartar, Bicarbonate of Soda, and a small quanity of flour or starch. Frequently other ingredients are used, and serve a purpose in reducing the cost and increasing the profits of the manufacturer.

We give the Government Chemist's analyses of two of the leading baking powders:

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Flour.
Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Carbonate of Ammonia,
Tartaric Acid,
Starch.
Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.
Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

NOTE.—The Tartaric acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D

NEW YORK, Jan'y 17th, 1881.

The above analyses indicate a preference for "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," and our opinion is that it is the better preparation.—Hall's Journal of Health.

BEAUTY SOAP

TO keep the pores open, the oil glands and tubes active, and thus furnish an outlet for impurities in the perspiration and blood which cause humiliating blotches, blackheads, and minor skin blemishes, especially of infancy, to cleanse, whiten and beautify the skin, remove tan, freckles, sunburn, and oily matter; to keep the hands soft, white and free from chapping and roughness, prevent contagious skin and scalp diseases, and to provide an exquisite skin beautifier and toilet, and nursery sanative combined with delicious flower odors and CUTICURA healing balm, use the CUTICURA SOAP. Indorsed by physicians and chemists as absolutely pure and highly medicinal. Sales 1881-2 1,000,000 cakes.

THE HERITAGE OF WOE

Misery, shame and agony often bequeathed as a sole legacy to children by one who has inherited scrofula. To cleanse the blood of this hereditary poison, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the skin of disfiguring humors, itching tortures, humiliating eruptions, and loathsome sores caused by it, to purify and beautify the skin, and restore the hair so that no trace of the disease remains, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, diuretic and aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great skin cures and beautifiers, are infallible.

I HAD SALT RHEUM

In the most aggravating form for eight years. No kind of treatment, medicine or doctors' care, met any permanent good. My friends in Malden know how suffered. When I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES my limbs were so bad I could not hear my weight on them without the skin cracking and bleeding, and was obliged to go about on crutches. Used the CUTICURA REMEDIES five months, and was completely and permanently cured.

COPPER-COLORED.

I have been afflicted with troublesome skin diseases, covering almost completely the upper portion of my body, causing my skin to assume a copper-colored hue. It could be rubbed off like dandruff, and at times became intolerably irritating, and the most intense suffering. I have used blood purifiers, pills and other advertised remedies, but experienced no relief until I procured the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which, though used carelessly and irregularly, cured me, allaying that terrible itching, and removing my skin to its natural color. I am willing to make affidavit to the truth of this statement. S. G. BUXTON, Mt. Ararat, Mich.

From the Proud Standpoint

of superior "style" the languid city beauty surveys the imaginary physical short comings of her rustic female cousin. Yet if the latter possess a finer set of teeth, as she probably does if she uses Sozodont, and the metropolitan belle does not, that striking contrast so much in her favor enables her to turn the tables with a vengeance. Pearly teeth are better than "style."

Selecting His Own Weapons.

In the summer of 1831, Captain Grey, in command of a merchant ship called the Princess of Wales, made a voyage to the Mediterranean, and had occasion to spend two weeks in Marseilles.

During the second week of his sojourn in Marseilles our captain had the misfortune to get into trouble with a French military officer—a Colonel Tourzel—well known in that city and Toulon as a fire-brand of the most inflammable and pugnacious description. He had fought in many duels, and had killed his man more than once.

As soon as the story of the trouble became known, the friends of Captain Grey earnestly besought him to take himself out of the way until the affair had blown over. "For," said they, "the colonel will certainly challenge you, and you cannot show yourself in the city after you have refused to fight him."

"But," said Grey, "I haven't refused. He hasn't asked me."

"Ah! but he will; and of course, you would not think of offering your life to a man to whom the sword and pistol are the every-day playthings of a lifetime."

But the young skipper only shook his head, and promised that he would take good care of himself.

Within half an hour after the friend had left, a friend of the colonel's came with a challenge, couched in formal terms. The messenger was a captain of hussars, as polite as could be.

"You, monsieur will have the choice of weapons. It will make no difference to the colonel—swords or pistols—ten paces or twenty."

Captain Grey bowed, and informed the hussar that he would send a formal reply by a friend as soon as he had selected one.

The captain went and found a brother skipper to whom he made known his need.

"But," cried Captain Blazo, "you don't mean that you are going to fight that man? Why, the very thought is suicidal!"

"Just you wait a bit. Suppose I should select harpoons as the weapons?"

"Well, if you could manage to have harpoons selected, you'd have him foul!"

"Ben, I want you to come with me. I've got an idea."

So away they went—Captain Grey leading the way to the Museum of Art and Antiquity, where he chanced to have a dear friend in attendance, to whom he told his story, at the same time making known his want. The keeper entered into the plan with interest and promised the captain that he should have what he wanted.

"Only," said he, "I shall have to go with them, as they are in my custody, and I cannot properly let them go beyond my sight."

So it was agreed that the keeper of the museum should act as one of Captain Grey's seconds, and he would bring the weapons.

On the following morning, bright and early, Colonel Tourzel, with two seconds and the surgeon of the regiment was on the ground. And there were others on the ground.

Pretty soon a coach appeared, from which stepped Captain Grey and his two seconds, and the attache of the museum came forth with the weapons in his arms. Captain Gray now stepped forth.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I have been challenged to fight a duel. I never deserted my colors yet, and I shall not do it here in Marseilles; but I propose to fight with a weapon that I know how to use. And surely, you, if you be true Frenchmen, cannot object to the lance—the weapon of your best and your bravest! And, my friends, I can tell you further, one of those lances has been wielded in knightly combat by a French king. Aye, this which I here hold"—taking one of them from the keeper—"was borne by Henry the Fourth in a gallant tournay in this very place! Therefore, you cannot object to my choice of weapons! And now I am ready. You, colonel, may, if you like, take the lance of Henry the Fourth."

"Grand Dieu!" gasped the colonel, utterly astounded, "This is one English trick!"

But the English naval officers who had come out all joined in asserting that the lance was a knightly weapon, and, ergo, the weapon of a gentleman. The noblest men, the bravest soldiers, had been proud to be permitted to wield it.

Captain Grey threw off his coat and grasped a lance. The stout ashen shaft was full ten feet long; and the steel head, or blade, which the keeper had carefully brightened, gave proof of its temper in its color. This head of fine steel was about twelve inches in length, two or three in its broadest part, with a point as sharp as the point of a sword.

While the colonel, in a terrible state of unrest was conversing aside with his two seconds, Captain Grey, who appeared to overflow with vitality, having given the heavy lance a few twirls about his head, brought it to a poise, took deliberate aim at an oak tree that stood twenty feet away, and let it fly. He threw with such force and such precision that the steel head struck the tree in the center, sinking into a depth that held it steadily in position, as though it had been an arrow shot from a strong bow.

"Ten thousand thunders! I shall not do it!" gasped the colonel. "It is an anachronisme! I am not obliged.

And nothing would turn him from his purpose. He heaped all manner of abuse upon the trick and upon its perpetrator, evidently hoping he could goad the Englishman into giving him a challenge. He certainly tried to do that thing; but his rage only made the Englishmen laugh more and more heartily; and at length, in despair, he turned and left the ground, hurling back, as he went, the terribly cutting remark that he would not associate himself with miserable tricksters!

But even that failed of its intent. Instead of being angry, the English only laughed the louder. And, as soon as the colonel and his immediate friends had gone, those of the Frenchmen who remained on the ground made it known that their sympathies were entirely with the English captain. Not only did they enjoy the fun of the huge joke, but they were rejoiced to see the quarrelsome, duel-fighting colonel for once in his life entirely beaten.

Colonel Tourzel returned to town, and remained there just four-and-twenty hours. The morning of the following day saw him in the saddle, headed for Toulon. It had become too hot for him in Marseilles.

And Captain Grey was a hero. The story flew. It was one of the best things ever known. There had been a fear in the mind of the attache of the museum that the directors might possibly find fault with him for letting the lances—especially the historic lance of Henry IV.—go out from the building; but, on the contrary, they had reason to be thankful, for never before had there been such a rush to the museum. For several weeks there came hundreds every day to see the knightly weapons of the English captain's duel.

"I wish to express my appreciation of the valuable qualities of

as a cough remedy.

"While with Churchill's army, just before the battle of Vicksburg, I contracted a severe cold, which terminated in a dangerous cough. I found no relief till on our march we came to a country store, where, on asking for some remedy, I was urged to try AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

"I did so, and was rapidly cured. Since then I have kept the PECTORAL constantly by me, for family use, and I found it to be an invaluable remedy for throat and lung diseases. J. W. WRITLEY."

Thousands of testimonials certify to the prompt cure of all bronchial and lung affections, by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily.

In reply to the request of the American government to postpone the execution, pending enquiries with reference to O'Donnell's citizenship, an answer has been sent that her majesty's government has carefully considered the whole matter, and is convinced that no reasonable ground has been assigned to warrant a stay of the execution."

Poisoned.

Thousands of persons are poisoned in America by the continued use of mercury, Iodide of Potassium and other minerals, for various diseases. The mercury works its way into the tissues, producing rheumatism and decay of the bones. The Iodide of Potassium eats away the coating of the stomach, and dries up the gastric juices which digest the food, and the patient lingers along in agony or is glad to die to get away from misery. Swift's Specific is a complete antidote to all this poison. It eliminates mercury from the system, removes the evil effects and of Iodide of Potassium, and brings back health and happiness. Send your address for a copy of Treatise on Blood and Skin diseases. The Swift Specific Company, Drawer 3, Atlanta, Ga.

My Back is now Well.

This is what Mr. Clough of Lowell, Mass., was happy to say after his wife had given him a good rubbing with Perry Davis' Pain Killer, administering a dose inwardly. For four years he had been crippled with rheumatism, and suffered agony in his back. After using Pain Killer, he went to his business with comfort, and is now as well as ever he was.

On the night of Dec. 13th, at Rollinsford, Charles Pray, the railroad station agent, hitched his team near the depot. Soon afterward Peter Cassidy of Dover and Richard Breedeen of Great Falls came along, and stole the team. Mr. Pray and his brother went in pursuit and captured the thieves at North Berwick, Me., after an exciting chase, and took them back to Great Falls next morning, giving them to the custody of the officers. In the police court, before Judge Knapp, both were arraigned, pleaded not guilty, waived an examination and were held to answer in default of $2000 for their appearance at the February term of the supreme court.

The Concord Railroad's President.

The recent changes in the directory of the Concord railroad, by which Hon. Frederick Smyth of this city becomes the permanent president, are deserving of high appreciation. The important and responsible position was entirely unsought by the ex-governor, and hence the greater honor attaches to his acceptance of the trust. His wide experience and splendid business qualifications admirably fit him for the duties of the office, which he is certain to administer enterprisingly, honorably and successfully. We shall confidently look to see him inaugurate a broad and liberal policy in his management—a policy which shall contribute to the material growth of the city and state, which he has so honored and for which he has done so much.—Manchester Union.

A very neat compliment for the ex-governor; but as we understand it, Gov. Smyth is not the permanent president of the Concord road. When Mr. Vose retired from the presidency in obedience to the direction of the court, it was agreed among the directors that Gov. Smyth should fill the office until the annual meeting in May, when the various leading stockholders will probably agree upon a suitable candidate for the position. We have great doubts if Gov. Smyth would have accepted the position unless this had been the understanding with which he took the chair for the time being.

The duties of the office of president, if discharged properly, and for the development and benefit of the interests of the corporation, are such that the incumbent necessarily would be required to spend his time at Concord, where is the principal place of business of the road. Many of the duties of the office of president have been ably, and we think acceptably performed by Benj. A. Kimball, Esq., of Concord, and as the presidency is likely to seek a Concord man, and Mr. Kimball is a large shareholder, familiar with the wants and capacities of the road, and unconnected with any competing or connecting lines, whereby he might otherwise be technically disqualified from serving the Concord railroad, we shall not be surprised if the directors chosen in May should designate him for the position, provided his other business engagements would permit his acceptance of the office.

It is announced that Hon. Frederick O. Prince, who since 1860 has represented Massachusetts on the democratic national committee, and has been secretary of that committee for many years, is to get the grand bounce. This is to pay him for declining to allow the use of his name to help B. F. Butler to a re-election as governor of Massachusetts.

Hiram Bascomb of Portland, Me., committed suicide Thursday, by cutting his throat.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. eod1jan2,84

MEDICAL.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Is designed to meet the wants of a large portion of our people who are either too poor to employ a physician, or are too far removed to easily call one, and a still larger class who are not sick enough to require medical advice, and yet are out of sorts and need a medicine to build them up, give them an appetite, purify their blood, and oil up the machinery of their bodies so it will do its duty willingly. Neither article takes hold of the system and hits exactly the spot like

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

It works like magic, reaching every part of the human body through the blood, giving to all renewed life and energy.

My friend, you need not take our word. Ask your neighbor, who has just taken one bottle. He will tell you that "It's the best dollar I ever invested."

LEBANON N. H., Feb. 19, 1879.
MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO., Dear Sirs—Although greatly prejudiced against patent medicines in general, I was induced, from the excellent reports I had heard of your Sarsaparilla, to try a bottle, last December, for dyspepsia and general prostration, and I have received very gratifying results from its use. I am now using this second bottle, and consider it a very valuable remedy for indigestion and its attendant troubles.
Yours truly,
F. C. CHURCHILL,
(Firm of Carter & Churchill.)

☞ A gentleman who has been suffering from the Debility and Languor peculiar to this season, says: "Hood's Sarsaparilla is putting new life right into me. I have gained ten pounds since I began to take it." Has taken two bottles.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Price $1 per bottle; six for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

THE YORK RAILROAD.

The first annual meeting of the subscribers to the stock of the York Harbor & Beach railroad was held at the town hall in York a few days since, about two hundred shares of stock being represented, and the following-named persons were unanimously chosen as directors for the ensuing year: Edward S. Marshall, John S. Staples, Jeremiah P. Simpson, Samuel W. Junkins and Dr. John C. Stewart of York, and Dr. E. B. Hammond of Nashua, N. H. From the treasurer's report it appeared that provision had been made whereby all the bills against the company were being promptly met, and assurances had been made the company that their bonds would be taken as soon as placed on the market. The directors also reported nearly one-half of the stock pledged; and the subscribers to the stock voted to prosecute the work of increasing the amount of subscriptions, and chose a committee for that purpose. At a meeting of the directors held subsequently, Edward S. Marshall was chosen president, John C. Stewart clerk, and Samuel W. Junkins treasurer.

GOSSIPS SAY

That on the 11th of December, 1883, Mr. Alfred D. Moses of this city sailed from "Little Pier wharf" in the ship Apollo, of which vessel Capt. Wm. M. Thompson was master, Wm. M. Ewing of Kennebunk mate, and David Patterson second mate.

That the election of Hon. Frank Jones director of the Eastern railroad will prove a good thing for Portsmouth.

That the railroad will possibly furnish considerable work for the new machine shop.

That the aldermanic committee on electric lights say that enquiries have resulted in establishing the fact that the cost of electric lights would be eighty per cent more than of the present combination of gas and kerosene.

That the operetta "Riding Hood's Rescue" was charmingly presented at the Methodist Episcopal church on Friday evening last by a carefully-selected corps of forty young singers of both sexes, assisted by the talented young violinist, Miss Fannie P. Hoyt of Newington.

That the audience was a very large and enthusiastic one.

That the gratifying success of this entertainment reflects great credit upon the corps of "Willing Workers" connected with the Methodist society of this city.

That the Ladies Relief Corps auxiliary to Storer Post, G. A. R., will have a supper and festival in G. A. R. hall this (Monday) evening.

That Osgood Lodge, I. O. O. F., will commence their series of social entertainments for '84 on the evening of Jan. 3d, Emerson Manning Huntley, the young and popular reader of Boston, and Miss Fannie Hoyt, the violinist, being the chief attractions.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES--LOWELL J.

New Hampshire Land Co. vs. Tilton et als. The rebutting evidence of the plaintiffs closed on Friday forenoon; when the defendants recalled their surveyors, who gave evidence as to certain lines. The testimony in the case was then closed, and the jury were excused until 3:30 o'clock P. M. on Monday, the 17th inst. Subsequently the case was taken from the jury, to be decided by the court. It was set to be argued on Tuesday, two counsel on a side to be heard.

The jury comes in for other trials on Thursday.

All friends of temperance are invited to meet in Temperance hall, Congress street, this (Monday) evening at 7:30 o'clock. Business of importance.

PER ORDER OF TEMPERANCE COM.

Hon. Frank Jones went to Canada on Friday of last week, to take a look at the barley market. He was accompanied by George F. Thompson, manager of the Rockingham house.

Col. Chas. A. Sinclair has recently returned from a trip to St. Louis.

Messrs. Charles Main and E. H. Winchester returned this week from a journey to Arkansas.

The city clock at the south end commenced to strike at seven o'clock Saturday evening, and kept on striking for half an hour, the result being a silent clock all the rest of the night.

A biting wind from the northwest beats even the nine o'clock bell for sending people to their homes; very few persons were to be seen on our streets at half-past eight o'clock Saturday evening.

According to the almanac, winter begins on Friday, Dec. 21st, but last Saturday night was cold enough for winter; the thermometers about the city on Sunday morning indicated from two to nine degrees below zero.

The unexplained redness of the skies at sunrise and sunset still continues. The display on Sunday morning, an hour before sunrise, was magnificent, the rich red extending entirely around the horizon, that in the west not seeming in the least dimmed by the light of a brilliant moon only two days past its full. This phenomenon has been noticed all over the world, the appearance in India, Australia, South America and Africa being the same as in this country and Europe. The scientists up to the present time are hopelessly at a loss to account for this new departure in celestial matters.

At St. John's church, Sunday forenoon, sixteen persons were confirmed by Bishop Niles, and fourteen at Christ church in the evening.

This evening an entertainment and supper will be given by Storer Relief Corps at G. A. R. hall, for the benefit of the fund. Tickets of admission, including supper, twenty-five cents; children half price; the public are cordially invited. An amateur minstrel show, by local talent, will be given.

William B. Leavitt, the astronomer, and author of the almanac bearing his name, has appeared in print advising farmers not to set their clocks back to correspond with "railroad time."

On Monday morning, Dec. 10th, at about nine o'clock, Miss Mary B. Furber, who will be ninety years old on the 25th of January, 1884, fell down the cellar stairs of her residence on Marlborough street, receiving very severe bruises about the head and face, and being rendered insensible for some time; no bones were broken, and she is now able to be up and walk about her room, though her face, neck and shoulder on one side are still very much discolored. Though feeble in body, Mrs. Furber's mind is still clear; and though she is poor in this world's goods, and also so nearly blind that she can no longer work at her trade as a tailoress, she is as cheerful as a cricket.

The schooner Emily A. Staples, Capt. Frank Coleman, hauled through the draw of the Noble's island bridge to lie up, on Friday; her sails were unbent in the afternoon, and stored in Drown's sail-loft until wanted again next spring. The captain, in imitation of Cincinnatus, has retired to his farm in Newington, where he will await the opening of navigation next season.

The fishing schooner Storm King has been sold to J. C. Foster of Gloucester, Mass., who will continue her in the fishing business.

It is rumored on the navy yard that the old sailing frigate Constitution is to be towed to Norfolk, Va., to serve as a receiving ship there.

It is said that the schooner Royal Arch, which was seized at this port on the 7th inst. on claims arising from the running down and sinking of the brig O. C. Clary by the schooner off Cape May, has been released, the claims having been acknowledged and paid.

The Dover Republican of last Friday said: "A bet was made on the train of the Boston & Maine railroad to-day, of $500 to $250, that the Boston & Maine and Eastern railroads will be connected, and trains for Portland run via Portsmouth & Dover branch instead of over the Portsmouth and Kittery bridge, before May 1st, 1883."

The U. S. S. Powhatan is to come to this station from Boston this week.

The schooner Hattie Lewis, Captain Brewster, has made her last trip for this season between this port and Boston with bricks, and will haul up for the winter inside of Noble's island bridge, storing her sails at Drown's sail-loft. Captain Brewster will remain with his family at York during the cold term.

Ten men are employed at Newington in adding two acres to the town cemetery, west of the church.

The second Symphony Concert by Blaisdell & Eastman's orchestra at Concord on Wednesday evening, the 12th inst., was attended by a large audience, who manifested their appreciation of the high order of the music rendered by liberal applause, generally given at the right places. The Boston Female Quartette gave three songs, but with apparently no better execution than some of the local singers we have heard in Concord. "In Memoriam," a piece composed by Harry B. Day, son of Warren K. Day, formerly of this city and for some years organist at the Universalist church, and now organist of the Unitarian church in Concord, was rendered with much credit to the young artist, who bids fair to become noted in his profession. The Concord people by their full attendance at these delightful musicales seem to appreciate most emphatically the excellent entertainments of the symphony concerts, which are given in a course of six in White's opera house, and are the occasion of the most fashionable and refined gatherings of the season at the capital.

The Government Chemist Analyzes two of the Leading Baking Powders, and what he finds them made of.

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder.'

Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Flour

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

'Royal Baking Powder."

Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Carbonate of Ammonia
Tartaric Acid
Starch

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

Note.—The Tartaric Acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.

NEW YORK, JAN'Y 17TH, 1881.

The above shows conclusively that "Cleveland's Superior" is a strictly pure Cream of Tartar Baking Powder. It has also been analyzed by Professor Johnson of Yale College; Dr. Genth of the University of Pennsylvania; President Morton of the Stevens Institute; Wm. M. Habirshaw, F. C. S., Analyst for the Chemical Trade of New York, and other eminent chemists, all of whom pronounce it absolutely pure and healthful.

THE HERITAGE OF WOE

Misery, shame and agony often bequeathed as a sole legacy to children by parents, is neglected scrofula. To cleanse the blood of this hereditary poison, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the skin of all disfiguring humors, itching tortures, humiliating eruptions, and loathsome sores caused by it, to purify and beautify the skin, and restore the hair so that no trace of the disease remains, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, diuretic and aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great skin cures and beautifiers, are infallible.

I HAD SALT RHEUM

In the most aggravating form for eight years. No kind of treatment, medicine or doctors did me any permanent good. My friends in Malden know how suffered. When I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES my limbs were so bad I could not bear my weight on them without the skin cracking and bleeding, and was obliged to go about on crutches. Used the CUTICURA REMEDIES five months, and was completely and permanently cured.

COPPER-COLORED.

I have been afflicted with troublesome skin disease, covering almost completely the upper part of my body, causing my skin to assume a copper-colored hue. It could be rubbed off like dandruff, and at times was so malignant intolerable itching and the most intense suffering. I have used blood purifiers, pills, and other advertised remedies, but experienced no relief until I commenced the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which, though used carelessly and irregularly, cured me, allaying that terrible itching, and restoring my skin to its natural color. I am willing to make affidavit to the truth of this statement. S. G. BUXTON, Marlin, Mich.

Taking All the Christmas Fun Out of His Wife.

It was coolly planned and deliberately executed in cold blood. They sat by the fire, and as he perused his paper she was busy with thoughts of Christmas. By and by he waked up and asked:

"Did any parcels for me come up to-day?"

"No, dear," she replied, as her face grew white as snow. "Have you been buying anything?"

"No, nothing much. I happened in at Blank's this afternoon, and, as he was selling out his slippers at cost, I bought me three pairs. Guess I'll be fixed for the next ten years to come."

"You—bought—slippers?" she gasped as she pressed her hands upon her heart.

"Yes, and Dash came to the door as I was going past, and asked me in to look at his stock of dressing-gowns."

"And—and—"

"And I bought me a couple. Rather handy garments you know, and these are something extra nice."

"Do you mean to tell me that you went and—"

"Why, dear, how you tremble," he interrupted. "Yes, I bought two of 'em, and when Dash happened to mention that I ought to have a smoking cap, some new shirts and a smoking set and a cane, I told him to go ahead and send 'em up. I'll order a new silk hat, wristlets, gloves, sleeve-buttons and neckties to-morrow, and then I guess I'll be provided for. Come and kiss your dear old hubby."

But she didn't. She rose up and clawed and gasped and rushed out of the room with tearful eyes and clenched teeth. All her Christmas surprise was handicapped.—Detroit Post.

They Weep No More.

Out in the Allegheny Cemetery is a grave lying due east and west; separated from it by but a narrow strip of grassy turf is a grave lying due north and south. The first is the last resting-place of a wife who was hidden from mortal sight not a year ago; the other holds the remains of a husband who walked this earth within the last eighteen months. The position of the graves is such that if "his" was extended but a few feet toward "hers" it would make a letter "T."

So much for the ground plan. Some three months ago the widow was weeping over the husband's grave, and the widower was weeping over the wife's grave. By chance they raised their eyes, and the sorrow that levels all earthly forms, the touch of nature that produces a universal kinship, were there. They spoke. He told his woes and she related her troubles. Then they wept in unison, the pearly and saline drops that trickled from their eyes and fell off the tipes of their noses splashing on the same tombstone. The next week they happened to meet there again, and once more they wept together. The third week they wept by appointment. All this could have but one ending, and so they were married. The ceremony took place recently, and those who wept now weep no more.—Pittsburg Commercial.

Del Puente.

Del Puente, the handsome baritone, is insufferably vain. He fancies that every woman that sees him falls in love with him and that they go to the opera just to look at him. He says that if Mr. Abbey should not live up to his contract there would be a great explosion in New York society. "I haf," he remarked to a reporter, "in my possession in zis momenta, at ze leest 500 lettair from ze laddi of ze Nuovo Yor', in wheech zay say: "Signor Del Puente, eet a you don' sing we don' go to ze opera!"

"Have you any of them with you?"

"Yoost wan," replied the signor.

"Do you know the writer of this?" asked the reporter.

"Ze writair! No, I don' know ze writair! I guess eet ya wan mash weech I haf' mak' when I sing ze Valentine."

A Funny Present.

One Christmas Grandma Melville sent something from the farm to be hung on the Christmas tree for Ava.

It was alive, so it couldn't really be hung, you know. It was snow-white, but it wasn't a rabbit with his winter coat on. It had feathers and a pair of bright eyes, but it wasn't one of Grandma Melville's doves—not a bit of it.

Papa made a little cage for it by nailing slats across a box; and then he put it behind the Christmas-tree.

They unloaded the Christmas-tree in the afternoon, because there were lots of little cousins who must get home before dark; but when the blinds were shut tight, and the lamps lighted, it was a good deal like night-time.

All of a sudden, breaking right through the talk and laughter, came a sharp little "Cut—cut—cut—cut—da—cut! Cut—cut—ker—da—cut—da—cut—da—cut!"

"What is it? Oh, what is it?" cried Ava.

"What do you guess?" asked papa, laughing.

"It sounds like a hen-biddy," said Ava, "but maybe it's a turkle."

Then every body laughed; and papa pulled the little cage out from behind the tree.

"It is a hen-biddy!" cried Ava.

Sure enough. There was a snow-white little hen.

And as true as you live the snow-white little hen had laid a snow-white little egg.

"Oh, oh!" cried Ava. Her's gave me a present all herself; and her name's Snowball."

And almost every day all winter, Snowball gave Ava an egg for her breakfast next morning.

Judge Haliburton relates that when once traveling in the provinces a man thus explained to him how he was in the same profession as lawyers: "I am a wrecker. I am Lloyd's agent, and live on the misfortunes of others; so do you. When a vessel is wrecked it is my business to get her off, or to save the property. When a man is entangled among the shoals or quicksands of the law, your duty is similar. We are both wreckers, and therefore members of the same profession. The only difference is, you are a lawyer and I am ——."

"While with Churchill's army, just before the battle of Vicksburg, I contracted a severe cold, which terminated in a dangerous cough. I found no relief till on our march we came to a country store, where, on asking for some remedy, I was urged to try AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

SCIPIO, N. Y., Dec. 1, 1879.

I am the Pastor of the Baptist Church here, and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in many chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

One of the richest treats to be found in the Christmas literary festival of the current season is the superb volume entitled "Red Letter Days Abroad," by John L. Stoddard, with illustrations, just published by James R. Osgood & Co. To say that it has all the spirit of Stoddard's lectures in book form, without the stereoptican, is brief, but sufficient comment, for Mr. Stoddard is too well known to require new endorsements. The thousands of friendly patrons who have travelled with him in spirit, if not in fact, during the last two or three lecture seasons, will welcome the book right royally. Everything possible has been done by the publishers to give the work appropriate mechanical setting, and in binding and illustrated effects it will stop at no secondary place upon the holiday counters. The material in the book is quite fresh, and while naturally having much of the character of Stoddard's lectures is thoroughly original, and makes one of the best and most readable of recent books of travel.

The interests of humanity seem to demand the publication of the following facts: Two months ago my attention was called to the case of a poor woman who was said to be afflicted with a cancer. I found her with an ulcer on her shoulder at least five inches in circumference, angry, painful, and giving the patient no rest day or night for six months. I obtained a supply of Swift's Specific, which I persuaded her to try. She has taken five bottles, the result of which is that the ulcer is entirely healed up, nothing remaining but a small scab, not larger than one's finger nail, and her general health is better than for five years past. She seems to be perfectly cured.

An old man of sixty-seven years has been subject to scrofulous sores five years. He had one on his cheek as large as a silver dollar, swollen, raw and constantly exuding very offensive matter. Another on his foot of the same character, and several on his hands, all of about two and a half years standing. His general health was poor, and he could scarcely get about at all. He has taken two bottles of Swift's Specific. The sores are all well, leaving scarcely a vestige of their former existance, and his general health better than it has been in ten years. I consider its effects wonderful—almost miraculous. Rev. Jesse H. Campbell, Columbus, Ga., October 17, 1882.

"The City of Success, and other poems; by Henry Abbey." New York; D. Appleton & Co.; cloth gilt, 12mo., price $1.25.

This is a volume of eleven poems by Mr. Abbey, who resides at Kingston, N. Y., and whose poems, we are told, have been received with greater favor in England than among our own people. The poems in the neatly-issued volume before us are correct in rhythm, noble in sentiment, and evince a true poetic mind. In the story of Ralph, the wounded and imprisoned soldier returning only to perish just before he reaches the arms of his widowed mother, is pictured with deep pathos the sad experience of more than one loyal mother who in sacrifice for her country, like the widow of whose contribution the scriptures tell us, gave her all.

The book is issued in an attractive form, and will be found to contain much that will gratify the refined taste for true poetry which without a soaring to lofty heights will be seen to possess the merit of tenderness of feeling, and noble-hearted appreciation of true humanity.

My Back is now Well.

This is what Mr. Clough of Lowell, Mass., was happy to say after his wife had given him a good rubbing with Perry Davis' Pain Killer, administering a dose inwardly. For four years he had been crippled with rheumatism, and suffered agony in his back. After using Pain Killer, he went to his business with comfort, and is now as well as ever he was.

Both houses of the Virginia assembly have passed a resolution, instructing the Virginia senators and requesting the representatives in Congress to use their best efforts to secure the unconditional and immediate abolition of the internal revenue system. The Virginia Bourbons believe in free whiskey.

In certain cases of sickness it is important to obtain pure Whiskey. Such is the "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon" bottled by Chester H. Graves & Sons, Boston. Ask your Druggist or Grocer for it.

Enoch Brown, a negro, who was to have been hanged at Petersburgh, Va., Saturday, for the murder of his wife, has been respited until the 27th of February.

Eminent Medical Testimony.

New York, March 15th, 1883.

I have used Allcock's Porous Plasters in my practice with remarkable success, and found them peculiarly efficacious when applied to the back for Weak Spine and Nervous Exhaustion; they afford almost instant relief in Cough, Colds and Liver Complaint. I cordially recommend them as the best and safest Plaster ever made, and would caution the public against the numerous other so-called Porous Plasters that are sought to be palmed off on a credulous public; they are worthless and oftentimes dangerous.

Naval Courts Martial.

Fearful and wonderful, and of wisdom past finding out by common people, are the decisions of naval courts martial. There have recently been held several of these courts, to try four naval officers for culpable neglect and inefficiency which resulted in the running down of two merchant vessels by two naval ships. It might have been pleaded that the United States ships have become so accustomed to running down merchantmen that it is impossible to stop them, but we do not know as this was the line of defence, as only the sentence of the court martial is ordinarily made public.

One captain, two lieutenants and an ensign were the four officers recently tried; Lieut. Uriel Sebree and Ensign Guy A. Brown, late of the U. S. S. Pinta, and Capt. A. W. Johnson and Lieut. Charles A. Stone of the U. S. S. Powhatan. The Pinta, in making the passage from this port to New York, when on Nantucket shoals at night struck the brig Tally Ho, and sent her to the bottom. Ensign Brown was in charge of the Pinta's deck at the time, and being found guilty of "culpable negligence and inefficiency" was ordered to be suspended from duty for a year, and be reprimanded in public orders. Lieut. Sebree, who was in command of the Pinta, having been found guilty on the same charges, has been sentenced to be suspended from rank and duty for the period of three years, to retain his present number in his grade during that time, and to be publicly reprimanded by the secretary of the navy. Unless one of these sentences is unduly severe, the other must be improperly lenient.

The other cases arose from the following circumstance: The U. S. S. Powhatan, in making the passage from the British provinces to Boston, of course ran down a merchant vessel, and selected the schooner Druid; smashed in her side, dismasted and otherwise demoralized her, and then towed her to Boston to be repaired at the expense of the people of the United States,—this collision taking place in the afternoon, in clear weather. Lieut. Stone, who was watch officer of the Powhatan at the time she thus rudely notified the Druid of the danger of getting near a United States naval ship, being found guilty of culpable neglect and inefficiency has been sentenced to be suspended from rank and duty for the period of two years on waiting orders pay, ($1800 a year, for doing nothing,) to retain his present number in his grade during that time, and to be publicly reprimanded by the secretary of the navy in general orders. Capt. Johnson, who was in command of the Powhatan at the time of the collision, has been found not guilty by the court which tried him.

From this it appears that while the commanding officer of the Pinta was three times as culpable as the watch officer who allowed the ship to run down another vessel at night, the commanding officer of the Powhatan was not at all to blame for allowing the watch officer of his ship to run down a merchant vessel in broad daylight.

One-thirtieth of the stock in the Amoskeag corporation, or about 115 shares, is owned in this city.—Concord Monitor.

We are glad to note this judicious investment on the part of the Concord capitalists. It is far better to put trust in Amos, than to invest in Gem or "Toledo."

Mr. Editor: Four burglaries have occurred in and around this city within a few months, all bearing the finger marks of one and the same parties. These sneak thieves and burglars appear to have "worked," during that time, around Portsmouth, Newburyport and other places, with considerable success. In every town where a burglary has been committed the same parties have been seen just before the commission of the crime. The same parties that were seen out at Mr. Yeaton's (the trotting park) just before his house was burglarized, were in to Mrs. Seavey's house the very evening previous to the entering of her chamber window and the stealing of her wrapper and pocket-book containing a large amount of money. They were seen just before George Lane's house was entered, also; and they are known to have been hovering around for several days before the house of Norman Lord was entered, a few days since.

In each and every case one of the parties has managed to disappear from the place where they were staying, just before a burglary was committed. A house on the Gosling road has been the rendezvous of the small gang suspected of "working" in this city and towns over the river. A short time ago two parties, strongly resembling those seen here so frequently of late, called on a man doing business at Newmarket junction, pretending they wanted to buy his place; his house was burglarized the next night and nearly $300 stolen. At Salmon Falls the house of a man doing business opposite the depot was entered in the same way, and a small amount of money taken from his pantaloons pocket.

When Mr. Yeaton's house, at the park, was robbed, the thieves took their return route via the Gosling road, as was shown by the money drawer being found at the western part of the park, which showed the route they must have taken. The thief who burglarized Lord's house also took the same route, and was tracked in the snow, striking a direct line for the same locality, until he discovered he was pursued, when he doubled to throw the officers off his track and led them on a different route across the fields. It must be conceded that no stranger would have done that, and it must have been one thoroughly acquainted with the lay of the land.

The parties who have lived for the past year in the house on Gosling road claim to be gamblers, and start out with their tools, open a "snap," as was the case at York beach last season, commit a burglary, and turn up missing, the dealer getting at a convenient distance in advance of the rest. There is little doubt that some of the jobs in this city were put up in a den not far from the scene of their last exploit, which they have used as temporary quarters when in the city. It is a well known fact that one of the parties during a run of hard luck prior to the last robbery, was given a bed by a friend at the south end during the temporary absence of the lady of the house. How long they will be allowed to carry on their game without being enmeshed by the law, is a question of some interest. C.

MEDICAL.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Is designed to meet the wants of a large portion of our people who are either too poor to employ a physician, or are too far removed to easily call one, and a still larger class who are not sick enough to require medical advice, and yet are out of sorts and need a medicine to build them up, give them an appetite, purify their blood, and oil up the machinery of their bodies so it will do its duty willingly. No other article takes hold of the system and hits exactly the spot like

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

It works like magic, reaching every part of the human body through the blood, giving to all renewed life and energy.

My friend, you need not take our word. Ask your neighbor, who has just taken one bottle. He will tell you that "It's the best dollar I ever invested."

LEBANON N. H., Feb. 19, 1879.
MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO., Dear Sirs—Although greatly prejudiced against patent medicines in general, I was induced, from the excellent reports I had heard of your Sarsaparilla, to try a bottle, last December, for dyspepsia and general prostration, and I have received very gratifying results from its use. I am now using the second bottle, and consider it a very valuable remedy for indigestion and its attendant troubles.
Yours truly, C. C. CHURCHILL,

GOSSIPS SAY

That cold churches and chilled congregations were the rule on Sunday last.

That the storm of Monday was much more severe in Boston than in this city.

That the inclement weather prevented a large attendance at G. A. R. hall on Monday evening, at the entertainment and supper of the Ladies' Relief Corps.

That the skating rink was lightly patronized on Monday evening owing to the storm.

That Mr. Lamprey, the dancing master, is confined to his residence in Hampton by a severe cold.

That mining stocks are a drug in the local market.

That if you don't believe it, ask—well, ask some of the navy yard people.

That the railroad trains were all behind time on Monday.

That the operetta of "Red Riding Hood" will be repeated by request at the M. E. Church to-night; admission ten cents.

ON TO WASHINGTON.

There are rumors that a tarpaulin subscription has been taken up at the navy yard for the purpose of sending a delegation to Washington. Rumor also says that two prominent officials of this city, and a well known citizen of Kittery have consented to expend the money, about $400, and will start this morning for the seat of government. Whether they will visit the secretary of the navy or not, is not known.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER, J.

MONDAY, Dec. 17th.

Charles Ward, a vagrant, was sent to Brentwood for six months, costs being taxed at $6.90.

James Thompson, for vagrancy, was also sent up for six months, costs $5.75.

James Gass and Hugh Johnson, two more "vags," had their cases continued to Tuesday, the 18th.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

George B. Wiggin of South Newmarket, aged twenty-three years, broke out of the insane asylum at the county farm on Saturday night, and reached his mother's house on Sunday night, wet through, having swam across the river from Stratham, as he said. He was placed under the guard of three men, but managed to get a razor with which he gashed his throat on both sides, inflicting serious wounds, but missing the jugular vein and windpipe.

"RAISING" ON THE RAILROADS.

The old south clock is a genius. The railroads having adopted a twenty-four o'clock, the "old south," not to be beaten by any dude railroad officials, "saw" the twenty-four and went it considerable better one day last week, originating a 414 o'clock (that was the number of times it struck) in place of nineteen o'clock "railroad time." S.

It is reported that Commodore Clark H. Wells, now commanding this navy yard, will succeed Rear-Admiral Hughes in command of the Pacific station on the 31st of March, on which date the latter officer will be retired.

Napoleon Burns, one of the three tramps who were supposed to have stolen several coats from the halls of residences in this city, last Thursday night, was on Friday ordered to Brentwood for drunkenness, his companions having escaped, and evidence as to the coat stealing not being adduced in court. It turns out that the tramp when sent up was wearing a coat stolen from Aaron Young's house in Austin street, and on Monday Aaron went up and got it. The stealing of the garment entitles Mr. Burns to the attention of the supreme court.

United States Commissioner Hackett took the deposition of Ex-Treasurer Albee of the Ashuelot savings bank of Winchester, at the state prison on Monday, to be used in the suit of the bank against Merrill Forrest of Boston. Forrest, as a creditor of Albee for a large loan, sued Albee, and levied on his real estate in Winchester, which he had conveyed in fee to the bank as security for his bondsmen. The bank now sues Forrest for possession of the land. The case has been removed to the Circuit Court of the United States, and is to be heard as a jury-waived case before Judge Lowell next month.

Kearsarge Engine Co., No. 3, with invited guests, will have a supper in the hall of the engine house on Thursday evening, Dec. 20th.

The ladies connected with the Sunday school of St. John's parish have engaged Congress hall for their Sunday school festival on Thursday evening, Dec. 27th.

The first snowstorm of this season, worthy the name, came on Sunday night, enough snow falling to justify householders in hunting up last winter's snow shovels on Monday morning, though a good deal more will have to come before there will be good sleighing. The north and south ponds were both frozen over by the cold snap of Saturday night and Sunday, but the snow spoiled whatever skating the boys might otherwise have found there.

NORTH KITTERY, ME., Dec. 15th.

Miss Ada Carter of Saco, who has been visiting friends in the vicinity of Beech Ridge and North Kittery lately, returned to her home last week. Her father was formerly a resident of this town.

George Hill, son of D. A. Hill, for some time past has been fourth officer under Capt. Redford Sargent of the steamship Indiana; on Friday, the 7th inst., he received a telegram to proceed at once to Philadelphia to go as fourth officer of the Pennsylvania, another steamship of the same line, and left on Sunday, the 9th, for that port.

The Freewill Baptist society of Kittery Point held a fair in their vestry on Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

The elite have all left Pullet hill for the winter. We are sorry that a hill which is thought to be so "Pleasant," should lose its attractions so quickly after the verdure has departed.

Old Armory hall, which has been used so long for a school room by the free high school, was lately declared unfit for further use as such, and the committee have been in a quandary as to securing a suitable room for the next session of school; last week, however, an enterprising citizen took the matter into consideration, started out to raise money to repair the old room, and succeeded in one afternoon in getting a sufficient amount to make the building comfortable. The winter term of school will commence on Monday, Dec. 17th; examination of candidates was held at the schoolroom this (Saturday) afternoon at two o'clock.

SUB ROSA.

"Dio Lewis' Monthly" for December has several long and important articles by the editor, in his peculiar style, among which "That Far-Away Look" and "Vivisection, or the Act of Dissecting Living Animals," will be read with general interest. Among the other articles are "Maria: an Every-day Story," translated from the German by a granddaughter of the famous historian, Mr. Wirt, a charming story, filled with bright surprises; "My Insane Asylum Experience," by Edward A. Bundy, the story of an unhappy victim of one of our insane asylums; "Home and School Teaching," "Tessie's Merry Christmas," "A Spirited Brooklyn Girl," etc. In the announcement for 1884 we are promised that the Monthly "will keep step with the most ambitious and vital of our large magazines. It will be illustrated whenever the subjects demand such aid, but its peculiar feature, as heretofore, will consist of an able, earnest and determined discussion of sanitary and social questions. Dr. Lewis will contribute to each issue papers on hygienic themes whose value even earnest people will find it difficult to exaggerate, while nearly a hundred writers known to the public will contribute papers on living subjects." Although among the largest and most beautiful of our magazines it is only $2.50 per year, or twenty-five cents a number. For sale by all newsdealers.

The Atlantic Monthly is an admirable magazine, and might profitably be read by every intelligent family in the United States. It keeps up well the high reputation it gained years ago for the excellence of its serial and short stories, essays, poetry and criticism.

Here is one of Senator "Zeb" Vance's stories: In North Carolina a white man was arraigned for stealing chickens from a negro. The jury was composed of seven white men and five negroes, and one of the latter was made foreman. They came into court, and the clerk demanded: "Have you agreed upon a verdict?" "Yes, sah." "What is it?" "De jury am gone democrat, sah, and de prisoner am not guilty."

A full-length and rather larger than life-sized portrait of Hon. John Wentworth, painted by Mr. G. P. A. Healey, is to be formally presented to the Calumet Club, of Chicago, on the evening of December 27th, on which occasion the club will tender Mr. Wentworth a public reception. "Larger than life" means a good deal when one is speaking of the tall ex-mayor and ex-representative, but the painted figure measures six feet eight inches in height, and overtops its original by about three inches.

William Roome of Roxbury, Mass., is under arrest for the murder of Charles H. Perry, with whom he boarded.

The Best Baking Powder.

The best baking powder is made from pure Cream of Tartar, Bicarbonate of Soda, and a small quanity of flour or starch. Frequently other ingredients are used, and serve a purpose in reducing the cost and increasing the profits of the manufacturer.

We give the Government Chemist's analyses of two of the leading baking powders:

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."

Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Flour.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."

Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Carbonate of Ammonia,
Tartaric Acid,
Starch.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

NOTE.—The Tartaric acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D

NEW YORK, Jan'y 17th, 1881.

The above analyses indicate a preference for "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," and our opinion is that it is the better preparation.—Hall's Journal of Health.

BEAUTY SOAP

TO keep the pores open, the oil glands and tortuous ducts active, and thus furnish an outlet for impurities in the perspiration and blood which cause humiliating blotches, blackheads, and minute skin blemishes especially of infants; to cleanse, whiten and beautify the skin, remove tan, freckles, sunburn, and oily matter; to keep the hands soft, white and free from chapping, roughness, prevent contagious skin and scalp diseases, and to provide an exquisite skin beautifier and toilet, bath and nursery sanative redolent with delicious flower odors and CUTICURA healing balsamic use the CUTICURA SOAP. THE HERITAGE OF WOE

Misery, shame and agony often bequeathed as a sole legacy to children by parents, in the form of scrofula. To cleanse the blood of this hereditary poison, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the skin of disfiguring humors, itching tortures, humiliating eruptions, and loathsome sores caused by it, to purify and beautify the skin, and restore the hair so that no trace of the disease remains, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, diuretic and aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great skin cures and beautifiers, are infallible.

I HAD SALT RHEUM

In the most aggravating form for eight years. No kind of treatment, medicine or doctors did me any permanent good. My friends in Malden know how I suffered. When I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES my limbs were as raw and tender that I could not bear my weight on them without the skin cracking and bleeding, and was obliged to go about on crutches. I feel the CUTICURA REMEDIES five months, and was completely and permanently cured.
MRS. S. A. BROWN, Malden, Mass.

COPPER-COLORED.

I have been afflicted with troublesome skin disease, covering almost completely the upper part of my body, causing my skin to assume a copper-colored hue. It could be rubbed off like dandruff, and at times causing intolerable itching and the most intense suffering. I have used blood purifiers, pills, and other advertised remedies, but experienced no relief until I used the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which, though used carelessly and irregularly, cured me, allaying that terrible itching, and restoring my skin to its natural color. I am willing to make affidavit to the truth of this statement.

A World of Good.
One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other Bitters, as it is not a whiskey drink. It is more like the old-fashioned home-set tea, that has done a world of good. If you dont feel just right, try Hop Bitters.—Nunda News.

An Irate Capitalist.

They had a church fair over in Oakland the other evening, which was held just opposite the residence of a boss old bachelor, the richest man on the street. As the receipts were rather thin on account of the numerous wrestling matches occurring recently, the managers secured the services of a local band to enliven up matters. The band consisted of nine pieces and a substitute, the latter to play the regular nine went out after beer. They were only half way through their first rendition of "Nelly Bly," in four flats, when a fearful outcry was heard across the way, and, on repairing to the door, the fair committee—or, to be more exact, the committee of the fair—beheld the aforementioned capitalist leaning out of his window in his nightgown, and swearing in a manner that made the Sunday-school teachers shudder to hear.

"What do you people mean by this infernal racket?" roared the exasperated man.

"Why—this—this is a fair," explained the lady who ran the grab-bag.

"Oh! is it?" sneered the disturbed party. "You call it fair to rob people of their natural rest by this pandemonium, do you? What's the admission to this shortberry strawcake outrage, anyway? How much to come in and be swindled, eh?"

"Ten tickets are two bits," said the treasuress, loftily.

"Very well, now talk quick, for I haven't got my stockings on, and this is business. Let's see if there is any way of compromising this thing. How much have you taken in so far?"

"Six dollars and six bits, and the Skowberry family haven't come yet, either," said the treasuress.

"And how much longer does your fraud on the public run?" asked the party at the window.

"Three evenings."

"Very good, that makes about forty dollars—call it fifty in round numbers. Send round in the morning and I'll give you a check for the amount. I'll make it seventy-five if you shut up shop in ten minutes. Take it or leave it! Going at seventy-five, at sey—"

After which the trombones were carefully corked up, and the congregation dispersed. But it is working up an amateur musicale to be given in the same building next week. They say they've struck a bonanza in that fussy old party and mean to work it to the bed rock.—San Francisco Post.

He Wouldn' Suppose.

The boy had come home to Christmas, and the old man felt that it was a good time to gratify his curiosity about speculation.

"Thomas," he began, "I've read a good deal about speculation in wheat. How do they work it in Chicago?"

"Well, father, suppose you had a thousand dollars."

"I won't do it! I never had that much money at one time in my life, and never expect to."

"Well, suppose you feel pretty sure that wheat will go up ten cents per bushel before next harvest."

"I won't s'pose no sich thing! I don't s'pose it'll go up over four cents."

"Then you may go on the theory that Europe has all the wheat she wants, and prices will drop seven or eight cents in the next six months."

"I sha'n't do no sich thing! I don't believe wheat will go down even two cents!"

"Well, suppose you buy a thousand bushels for June delivery."

"Thomas, you're a fool! What on airth do I want of a thousand bushels of wheat?"

"Then you can sell a thousand for July delivery."

"I can eh! I've got about forty bushels in the granary, and I can sell a thousand, can I? I did hope you'd learn something down there, but I see that you run all to red neckties and stand-up collars. You can go out and air yourself when I take a smoke."

There is a spring of water in Sheperdstown, W. Va., which is an almost unerring barometer, and predicts by the movements of its water the kind of weather that will prevail. From twenty-four to forty-eight hours before a rainfall the water in the spring will rise from three to eight inches above its usual height and when the rain has commenced it falls again. This is particularly the case in regard to settled rains, but it has also been known to rise just before a heavy thunder storm. The spring has no apparent connection with the town run or the river, as it is between one and two hundred feet above the level of the river.

"Why, Jennie, you foolish girl, come into the house. What are you doing out in the snow without wraps?"—"O, nothing much, ma. You see, Augustus has just called, and here are his footprints in the snow. I'm measuring to get the right size for those slippers, and, do you know, I don't believe I've got half cloth enough in them."

Charley wanted to give Clara a Christmas present, but he couldn't make up his mind what it should be; so the next time he called he frankly told her the difficulty under which he was laboring. "Want to make me a present, Charley!" Clara exclaimed in well-disguised astonishment. "Why, Charley, you forget yourself." Charley took the hint and offered himself on the spot.

A Freak of Nature.

"Do you want any freaks?" inquired an athletic stranger, with rumpled clothes, which didn't fit him quite quick enough. The person whom he addressed was the proprietor of a dime museum.

"Yes, we are in the market for freaks, but I don't see anything peculiar about your personal appearance. What's your deformity.

"O, I'm a sure enough freak," replied the man.

"Well, what is the peculiarity?"

"The peculiarity! Do you see those hands?"

"Yes."

"Well, I'm the only man in the world who has played base ball for nine successive years without getting a crooked little finger."—Texas Siftings.

"I wish to express my appreciation of the valuable qualities of

as a cough remedy.

"While with Churchill's army, just before the battle of Vicksburg, I contracted a severe cold, which terminated in a dangerous cough. I found no relief till on our march we came to a country store, where, on asking for some remedy, I was urged to try AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

"I did so, and was rapidly cured. Since then I have kept the PECTORAL constantly by me, for family use, and I have found it to be an invaluable remedy for throat and lung diseases. J. W. WHITLEY."

Thousands of testimonials certify to the prompt cure of all bronchial and lung affections, by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 72 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me.

HORACE FAIRBROTHER,"

Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours, MRS. EMMA GEDNEY,"

159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. A. J. CRANE,"

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSEPH WALDEN."

Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. E. BRAGDON,"

Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

SCIPIO, N. Y., Dec. 1, 1879.

I am the Pastor of the Baptist Church here, and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in many chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them.

REV. E. R. WARREN.

Miss Jane Laur, aged nineteen years and very pretty, has sued John Mattison, aged seventy, for $20,000 for breach of promise of marriage, at Springfield, Ohio. Both parties are highly connected.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

Amos Morris, ninety years old, of Danbury, Conn., has just filed an application for a pension for services during the war of 1812. He is well off, but has a young wife to whom he says it would be a great honor to draw the pension of a soldier of so many years ago.

Lokoni, Ark., October 26, 1883.—For the sake of the balance of mankind who may be suffering, I wish to give you my experience with one of your Georgia remedies. I have been afflicted with scrofula for more than twelve years—have had sores on me as large as a man's hand for that length of time, and last summer was so bad off that I could not wear any clothing. Everybody, including myself, had given me up to die, and said I would be a dead man in three months. I had taken hundreds of bottles of all kinds of medicines, had spent hundreds of dollars with physicians and had ruined my system with mercury and potash, when a friend told me of the wonderful cures made by Swift's Specific. I got it and began its use, and soon found it was just what I wanted. In a short time it cured me sound and well. Thousands of dollars could not buy from me what Swift's Specific has done for me. The county officials, and in fact everybody in the country will bear witness to what I have written, for I was a well-known case. Yours respectfully,

R. L. High.

Will O. Rogers, aged twenty-five years, employed in the car shops at Laconia, was struck by an engine and instantly killed Monday while attempting to cross the railroad bridge near the depot. He leaves a widow.

Extreme Tired Feeling.

A lady tells us "the first bottle has done my daughter a great deal of good, her food does not distress her now, nor does she suffer from that extreme tired feeling which she did before taking Hood's Sarsaparilla." A second bottle effected a cure. No other preparation contains such a concentration of vitalizing, enriching, purifying and invigorating properties as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

There was not an atom of truth in the newspaper rumor that Carl Schurz was to become editor of the "Atlantic Monthly." Mr. Aldrich has made a conspicuous success as editor of that magazine.

My Back is now Well.

This is what Mr. Clough of Lowell, Mass., was happy to say after his wife had given him a good rubbing with Perry Davis' Pain Killer, administering a dose inwardly. For four years he had been crippled with rheumatism, and suffered agony in his back. After using Pain Killer, he went to his business with comfort, and is now as well as ever he was.

A healthy body is indispensible to a vigorous mind. A bilious and dyspeptic man, whose blood drags sluggishly in his veins, can neither think clearly nor act wisely. Ayer's Pills will stir up the liver, excite the stomach and bowels to activity, open the pores of the system, renovate the blood, and restore a healthy tenement for the mind.

Patti sings in opera at the Globe theatre in Boston this week; it costs five dollars for the best single seats, others four and two dollars. Tickets come high, but Boston must have them because New York has.

I have been a severe sufferer from Catarrh for 15 years, with distressing pain over my eyes, gradually the disease worked down upon my lungs. About a year and a half ago I began using Ely's Cream Balm, with most gratifying results, and am to-day apparently cured. Z. C. Warren, Rutland, Vt.

Oh! Wasn't He Crazy?

The will of Isaac Adams, late of Sandwich, is being contested in the courts, on the ground that Mr. Adams was not of sound mind at the time it was executed. We never saw Mr. Adams, though we have seen the results of his eccentricities. But if we were a juror upon the case, the fact that Adams returned to his native heath after amassing a fortune in Boston, and as a prominent and wealthy democrat undertook to defeat our friend John Wm. Sanborn when he was the regular democratic nominee for Congress, —or some similar position which was tendered him, but which we never believed he desired, though of course he wanted the votes of his political associates, — is in our mind evidence which would have much weight in convincing us that he was of unsound mind. A democrat opposing a regular nomination, especially when Mr. Sanborn was the candidate! Well; if that is not evidence of insanity or imbecility, what constitutes such is what the court at once should ascertain.

The Land Case and the Attorneys.

Under the above heading the Concord Monitor has the following to say concerning the imposing array of counsel in the case New Hampshire Land Co. vs. Tilton and others, which has been on trial in the Circuit Court of the United States at Concord for several weeks:

The evidence seems to be approaching its close, and perhaps even the learned lawyers are becoming a little tired of the monotony of the long-drawn trial. Since its commencement Senator Pike has fallen out to begin his new Congressional career, but still the plaintiffs show a bold front. Mr. Burns has taken a prominent position, and grown daily more interested in the result. Mr. Chase and his partner, Streeter, are thoroughly up in every detail of the case, and are always posted in regard to every species of evidence offered by either side. Mr. Streeter knows it all from his thorough preparation. Mr. Mugridge is impatient to resume the duties of his other engagements. A constant stream of clients pour in to beseech him to give them a little time for their cases. Judge Ladd is the leading heavy tragedian on the plaintiffs' side, and is ready to reply to the sophistries of Geo. Bingham whenever the late candidate for Congress, towards whose election the new Reporter so generously contributed, undertakes otto much flap-doodle. Barnard, always smooth, genial, and cautious, is ready at any outbreak of legal squabble to pour his unctuous ointment upon the troubled waters, and to insist that "all that is wanted is simply what is right,"—dear, good man—and thus the plaintiffs' array of talent is to be found ever ready for action.

They are arrayed in line of battle next to the bench in the rear of the line of defence. The skirmish line on this side is under the command of Major Irving W. Drew, who with Mr. Aldrich, of Littleton, shares the work of putting in evidence. Geo. A. Bingham "has the flour" quite often. He is the executive officer of the defence, and does the technical fighting. Batchelor is always busy, while Remick, who in one respect resembles the illustrious Webster, with the same given name, has the documents docketed, filed, and all ready to touch off at a moment's notice. Marston takes notes laboriously, but is quiet save on state occasions.

When the line of the defence is formed at the beginning of each session, Harry Bingham comes in a little late, as is his custom in the state court. He slowly removes his outer clothing, reserving his hat for the last, as a token of respect, and slowly comes to his place as does the flagship of a fleet when forming in battle array.

The judge, as patient and attentive as he is learned and industrious, hears all that is to be said just as if cases involving very large sums were not awaiting his return to the Massachusetts district.

The clerk, according to Gen. Marston, is impatient because there are so few fees in these days, but the general admits that the Porismouth functionary comes to Concord, as does the distinguished "member from Exeter," purely from patriotic motives! And thus daily does the great array of legal talent sit and listen to the dry-as-dust detail of evidence in one of the longest and, in many respects, most important cases ever heard in the federal courts of the New Hampshire district.

The barque Gov. Langdon, at Liverpool from Quebec, struck a pier head on the 17th inst., knocking a bole in her bows, and sank in the dock. The Gov. Langdon was formerly a ship, and was built at this port thirty years or so ago: she was sold to go under the British flag a number of years since.

—There are three old persons in Baldwin county, Ga. Sylvis Cambert and Peter Hall are each 113 years of age, and Mary English has just passed her 110th birthday. Get those three together, talking about what they could remember, and wouldn't they make Tom Ochiltree sweat with envy.

—When Hermann was last in Texas, he did his card tricks, and then tried in vain to find somebody to play poker with. One man said to him, "If I knew as much about cards as you do, I wouldn't waste time in the show business; I would obtain a residence in the state, and run for the Texas legislature."

—A company of gentleman who were dining at an inn, inquired if the turkey which was served to them was fresh: "Fresh, is it?" said the Irish waiter, jauntily: "Faith, it's not six hours since that turkey was walking around on his own rale estate, with his hands in his pockets, never guessing what an urgent invitation he'd have to jine you gintlemen at dinner."

THE PROSTRATION which follows Diphtheria, and the persistency with which it clings to the patient, are well known to all who have had any experience with this terrible disease.

The following letter shows how the restoring and invigorating properties of Hood's Sarsaparilla overcome it, and how by vitalizing and enriching the blood it neutralizes and eradicates the poisoned matter from it, bringing to the convalescent the color, life and vigor of robust health.

LOWELL, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—My little girl had the diphtheria last April. The disease left her very weak, blood poor, with no appetite, and she could not seem to really from its effects. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA was recommended by a neighbor. After she had been taking it a few days we noticed a change for the better—she began to eat with a relish. It seemed to take out the poison the disease had left in her blood, the change being very noticeable in her face. She took it two months and fully regained her health, much to our delight. We new recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA with a great deal of pleasure. Very truly yours,

J. E. SMITH,
19 Butterfield Street.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER, J.

TUESDAY, Dec. 18th.

James Gass and Hugh Johnson, vagrants, (cases continued from the previous day,) were ordered to leave town.

Napoleon Burns, alias Thomas Currier, was charged with burglary and larceny, a coat stolen from the hall of Aaron Young's house having been found in his possession. Mr. Burns accounted for this unfortunate state of affairs by saying that he entered a freight car on the Eastern railroad, to ride out of the state; two unknown tramps were in the car, and soon the police came, upon which one of the tramps exclaimed "We're caught," threw off his coat, and the two ran; Burns picked up the coat, put it on, not knowing it was stolen, and then tried to run away himself, but was caught. When Mr. Burns was in custody of the police for vagrancy, on the night of the 15th inst., he said he bought the coat in Lowell, for $30; so he was held in $500 for the grand jury, and will lie in jail in the meantime.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

At the annual conclave De Witt Clinton Commandry of Knights Templar, held on Monday evening, officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

E. C., Andrew P. Preston;
Gen., Wallace Hackett;
Capt. Gen., Howe Call;
Prelate, John Christie;
S. W., Thomas E. O. Marvin;
J. W., Harry G. Tanton.

BENJAMIN ODIORNE.

Capt. Benjamin Odiorne, of this city, died at his residence on the Rye road about twelve o'clock last Saturday night. He has not been in good health for several years, being subject to heart disease. He was about his usual avocation all day Saturday, and did not complain of any unusual trouble when he retired. At about eleven o'clock he called his son, and was then breathing with difficulty. He died within an hour, without a struggle, as if falling asleep.

Capt. Odiorne was born in Rye, but upon his marriage, at twenty-one years of age, he settled upon the farm in Portsmouth where he spent his life. He was one of our prominent and always respected citizens. In his early manhood he was a captain of militia. He was twice a representative to the legislature, and was for years a member of the school committee, and always took much interest in public affairs. His age was seventy-nine years and three months. He leaves a son, Eben S. Odiorne, with whom he resided, and two daughters—one the wife of J. Sullivan Rand, residing on Lafayette road, and the other the wife of Wm. Benson of Biddeford, Me.—Times.

THE ODD FELLOWS.

From the published proceedings of the 40th session of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of this state, it appears that the order is in a flourishing condition.

The number of lodges is sixty-seven, with a membership of 8605, a net gain of 148 members from the previous year.

The number of brothers relieved during the year was 1082, an increase of 196; number of weeks of sickness, 7582, an increase of 793.

Paid for relief of brothers, $17,657.37; widowed families, $440.39; burial of dead, $4281.60; special assistance, $1234.25; total relief for year, $23,613.61; increase over 1882, $1339.22.

Revenue of subordinate lodges for the year, $56,996.69; loss on receipts, $6718.72. Cash and investments, $214,859.28; increase, $19,647.71.

Rebekah Degree Lodges—Number of lodges, fourteen; membership, 1725, a loss during the year of fifty-eight. Receipts, $1529.34; expenses, $740.55; paid in charities, $92.50; total assets, $3893.15; increase, $1128.81.

Piscataqua Lodge of this city has a membership of 379, New Hampshire Lodge 263, Osgood Lodge 246, Union (Rebekah Degree) Lodge 101.

The senior living ex-grand master of the Grand Lodge is George W. Towle, who was in the chair in 1847 and 1848, and the senior ex-grand treasurer is James M. Carr, who served in 1847—both members of Piscataqua Lodge of this city.

THE "STANDARD" TIME.

Mr. Editor: Can you give me any reason why our city officials should have put our time back sixteen minutes from true "time, and whether they had any legal right to thus falsify the time, without consulting the people of the town? So far as I can learn, the change in time is purely and solely for the benefit and convenience of the railroads; there is not even a pretence that it will benefit or add to the convenience of any other business, while it will seriously inconvenience by far the larger portion of the people throughout the entire country.

But I am not writing up a crusade on behalf of the people at large. If the fifty-odd millions of people in the United States are such fools as to allow a few hundred railroad kings to crowd "railroad time" upon them as being legal time, to their personal detriment, they well deserve all the annoyance that will follow. What I object to is the hastening of our city government to bow down to the railroad power,—even before they were asked,—to the palpable injury of our laboring men and women.

The putting back of the local time sixteen minutes benefits the Gas Co., and depletes the pocket-books of gas consumers, to the extent of what gas is required for sixteen minutes burning every night in the year that the gas is used; and it adds sixteen minutes each night to the night-work of every working man and woman in the city whose occupations compel them to labor after dark! This may seem a small matter, in the eyes of the railroad kings, and of those happy persons whose lengthened evenings are spent by their own fireside, and of the city government; but it is not a trifling matter to the hundreds of working people who suffer by it, of whom I am one.

TALLOW DIP.

*No, we cannot.—Ed.

There were a few sleighs on the streets Tuesday, but they looked very lonesome, and the horses drawing them wore an abashed expression.

Mr. M. C. Foye invites the attention of the ladies to the many articles suitable for holiday gifts to be found in his popular store, No. 23 Market street.

About twenty vessels were lying in the the lower harbor on Tuesday, mostly fishermen, though there was one three-master close in to the Newcastle side. Among the fleet was the new schooner Addie Winthrop, of Gloucester, under command of Capt. Thomas Jameson of this city, who reports the schooner as behaving well off Jaffrey's; also the schooner Addison G. Proctor, Capt. Ed. Jameson.

Almost anything in the line of Christmas cards, pictures, frames, sheet music and musical instruments, and a thousand and one other articles especially sought after at this season, can be found at Montgomery's music and art store, No. 9 Pleasant street (under the Chronicle office.)

The Portland Advertiser remarks that "Mr. Jackson would rather be right than to be president of the Eastern Railroad and consent to the surrender of the Maine Central to the Boston & Maine company on the terms proposed."

Mr. M. M. Collis invites all in search of holiday gifts to look over the immense and varied stock of useful and ornamental articles in the Boston 99-cent store; he thinks the conundrum "What in the world can I get?" now puzzling so many persons, will be easily solved by a visit to his place of business.

The schooner Wingaersheek has hauled up for the winter in the dock with the D. K. Ham, south of C. E. Walker & Co.'s coal pocket. The Adeliza is moored to the wharf on the north side of the pocket.

At the Knights of Pythias fair held in Charlestown, Mass., last week, Mr. Frederick Watkins of this city drew the second prize, an elegant silver service valued at $100.

The dry dock at the navy yard was pumped out on Monday, and hauled into the basin. After the Marion's new boilers are put in, she will be docked again in order to have them secured in place by about fifty bolts extending through the bottom of the ship—the first time that any ship ever had her boilers so secured at this yard.

A naval general court martial convened at the Boston yard this week, for the trial of Sergeant J. L. Brady of the marine corps, charged with drunkenness while on duty. The court was composed of Capt. R. L. Meade, Capt. I. H. Washburn and First Lieut. G. F. Elliott of the marine corps, with Lieutenant W. Winder, of the navy, as recorder.

YORK CORNER, ME., Dec. 17th.

Mr. Editor: Quiet is the word.

On Thursday night, Dec. 4th, some miserable miscreant set fire to some hay in the cellar-way of Capt. Joseph Donnell's house, near Chase's Mills. Fortunately the inmates smelled smoke in season to raise an alarm and quench the fire before much serious damage was done. The corner of the building was burned through to the ceiling as high as the eaves of the house, and if the fire had been ten minutes more headway the whole structure must have been consumed together with its contents; but by the strenuous efforts of neighbors the buildings were saved.

Mr. Donnell and wife are a quiet and peaceable couple, considerably advanced in years, and there is no known reason for any one having enmity against them; but there appears to be some person or persons who owe them a grudge. A few years ago their horse was shot, receiving a full charge of fine shot well scattered. Subsequently an ineffectual attempt was made to hang another animal belonging to them.

It is a pity that such a person or persons as commit these crimes should be allowed to run at large; the town authorities should offer a reward for the arrest and conviction of a fire bug, or any such dangerous character. Other towns do so, and why not this? Doubtless if a good, smart detective should attempt to ferret out this case he would be successful; of course no one will try "without hope of reward."

The contract for tinning the roof of the large hotel being built by Mr. John Farrell at York harbor has been awarded to Howard Staples, Esq., of South Eliot, as has also that of the house of George M. Simpson, Esq., at Cape Neddick. Mr. Staples is a capable and trusty workman, and thoroughly understands his business. Rather cold work now, Howard!

Mr. Oliver P. Jenness, of whom we wrote you some time ago as foreman at Mitchell & Freeman's blacksmith shop, is rather claiming the championship at "the Corner" in playing checkers. He is also quite adroit at Cards.

General Chamberlain's celebrated lecture on the surrender of Lee was fairly attended on Friday evening, although the weather was not very fine; the receipts were about thirty-four dollars.

Rev. Mrs. Gustine preached at the Christian church yesterday. She is a fine speaker.

Brackett's "travelling saw-mill" is to go to Sanford this week. Mr. Brackett has done an immense amount of sawing since he came into York. Yours, P.

The Government Chemist Analyzes two of the Leading Baking Powders, and what he finds them made of.

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Flour

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Carbonate of Ammonia
Tartaric Acid
Starch

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

Note.—The Tartaric Acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.

NEW YORK, JAN'Y 17TH, 1881.

The above shows conclusively that "Cleveland's Superior" is a strictly pure Cream of Tartar Baking Powder. It has also been analyzed by Professor Johnson of Yale College; Dr. Genth of the University of Pennsylvania; President Morton of the Stevens Institute; Wm. M. Habirshaw, F. C. S., Analyst for the Chemical Trade of New York, and other eminent chemists, all of whom pronounce it absolutely pure and healthful.

Santa Claus' Expedient.

BY MRS. S. M. CLARK.

'Twas a bright, frosty eve, near the last of December,
And the moon man was out, if I rightly remember.
Old Santa Claus stood in the door of his shop,
Lined with wonderful things, from a doll to a top;
With a puzzled look in his twinkling eye,
He scanned the bare earth and cloudless sky.
Dame Nature was dressed in russet brown—
She had quite forgotten her snowy gown.
The sleigh and the reindeer all seemed to say:
"We belong to the past; we have had our day."
But the jolly old saint only whistled the more,
As he buttoned his coat and stepped from the door,
While his plump little wife in a wonderful frill,
Peeped cheerily out, like the soul of good will.
"Oh, Santa!" she said, reflecting his thought,
"Is all your year's labor to go forth for naught?
"Is there no way to reach those dear girls and boys?
Must our love tokens haunt them like ghosts of lost joys?"
Then a happy thought struck the jolly old saint,
"Not one waiting youngster shall breathe a complaint."
"We can send some, my dear, by kind 'Uncle Sam;'
It will be such a joke all the mail-bags to cram.
"Then there is what they call the lightning express,
It can outrun the fleetest wild deer, I confess.
"And if we fall short of pictures and toys
(For there's scores and millions of good girls and boys),
"We can telegraph on to a town that I know,
Old Gotham by name, where they're not very slow."
Then he laughed till the tears quite blinded his sight,
And then dolls and the jumping-jacks danced with delight,
Dame Santa Claus shook her wise head in dismay,
"'Tis a pity, my dear, but there's no other way.
"I know times have changed, and the chimneys, so dear,
Are choked up with stovepipes and furnaces queer;
"And the reindeers so fleet are cast in the shade
By the great fiery steed some inventive soul made;
"While the stockings, once hung with such care,
Are not found by the mantel, or, indeed, anywhere.
"The good old-time customs are linked with the past;
We are growing old fogies, I fear, very fast."
"Now, don't take to grumbling," said Santa—"I fear
That, living away in this Northern clime here,
"We are apt to forget that the world moves along,
And old ways will follow, so let's speed them with song.
"The children will love us, progress as they will,
Their hearts cling to Christmas and Santa Claus still.
"Then three cheers for the good times, the old and the new;
Thank God for the Christ child, with love that is true.
"Ring out, merry bells, your merriest song.
Ring peace and good will to all the great throng.
"Give joy to the sorrowing, hope to the sad,
Rest to the toilworn, make every heart glad.
"This day of all others, should teem with delight—
A glimpse of the sunshine that follows life's night.
"Let charity reign in that great heart of love
Till life is illumined with peace from above.
"Chime again and again, oh glad Christmas bells;
Till the fountain of joy in every heart dwells."
Then Santa Claus mounts his fleetest reindeer,
With a pack on his back and a "Good-bye, my dear."
He flew like the wind over mountain and plain,
And scattered his gifts for the darlings like rain.
Then go and do likewise, as far as ye may,
For where there's a will there is ever a way.
Be liberal; always this lesson believe,
'Tis truly more blessed to give than receive.

A Christmas toy is an "imitation cow that gives real milk." The inventor is extremely ignorant in regard to cows. He may be a very old man, however, and in his young days saw a cow in the country that gave "real" milk. His imitation cow doesn't fit this age of progress.—Norristown Herald.

Dr. Ewer and "Mother Goose."

The late Rev. Dr. Ewer lived, during his boyhood, in Providence. His parents moved there from Nantucket. He was a bright, manly little fellow, full of life and energy, and one little incident connected with him will never be forgotten. He went one afternoon into a bookstore on Westminster street, kept by George Whitney, and wanted to buy a copy of "Mother Goose's Melodies." The next morning he came in and gave the book back to Mr. Whitney, saying his mother was not willing he should have it: "You do not seem to mind giving it up," Mr. Whitney said. "Well, you see," was the answer, "when I found I could not keep the book I went to work and learned most of the pieces."

The Fifth avenue society woman who was driven into a frenzy because a young man-servant refused to say to a caller that she was not at home when she was at home, afterwards remarked: "Ah, these things are not so in Europe, where I was educated, but being raised in this country really seems to spoil the young people. They won't lie for anything—not even a lady!"

Disappointing Character of Holiday Gifts.

One thing that ought to discourage the holiday gift business is the fatality with which everybody gets exactly what they don't want. One doesn't score a bull's-eye once out of a possible hundred. Just as sure as a man's wife sets her heart upon a depot roof hat, or a velvet dress with keybugle trimmings, just so certain is he to come grinning home with some new kind of rosewood clotheswringer, or a pair of nickelplated parlor stakes. A married woman over in Oakland worried for a long time to hit upon some acceptable gift for her husband. He was a great card player, so last week she presented him with three of a kind—triplets. She imagined that would about fill the bill, but the man lit out for Alaska in disguise. He left a note to the effect that he preferred a climate that didn't prevent a poor man from laying up a cent.

Judging from the steadily increasing number of immigrants landing on the Pacific coast from Japan a California paper predicts that the government will in a few years be called upon to deal with the Japanese as it has with the Chinese.

AYER'S

Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 65 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me.

HORACE FAIRBROTHER."

Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,

MRS. EMMA GENNEY."

159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried.

A. J. CRANE."

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSEPH WALDEN."

Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. E. BRADDOX."

Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

Human Blood.—On the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system. Disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause. A remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it as Hood's Sarsaparilla undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use. Sold by dealers.

Found Dead.

Last evening a person giving the name of G. R. Thompson registered at Hunt's Hotel and desired to be called in season to take the 12 p. m. train for Chicago, being unable to awaken him, the room was entered by means of the ventilator over the door, when the gentleman was found to be dead. He was advertising agent for Sulpnur Bitters, which has an extensive sale. The coronor returned a verdict of death from heart disease. His body will be sent east immediately.—

SCIPIO, N. Y., Dec. 1, 1879.

I am the Pastor of the Baptist Church here, and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in many chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

Two sailors arrived in Thomaston, Me., Dec. 16th, and report that they were formerly of the crew of the schooner William Penn, Capt. Dexter, of St. George, Me., previously reported missing from Vineyard Haven, on the way to Saco. They say the schooner was run down Nov. 17th by an inland-bound steamer, and they were picked up and carried to New York. The fate of the captain and other sailors of the Wm. Penn is unknown.

Athens, Ga., Nov. 6, 1883.—I am averse on general principals to saying anything commendatory of proprietary articles, but there are a few on the market that force those of the profession who come in contact with the diseased and suffering to acknowledge their superiority. Among those I find Swift's Specific to rank high. One poor unfortunate request me to tell you that he had long been a sufferer with terrible blood taint, and securing little if any relief from other treatment, finally resorted to Swift's Specific. He claims now that it has afforded him relief, that he feels that his blood is pure again and wishes me to express his deep obligations, with which I cheerfully comply. Yours respectfully,

JOSEPH JACOBS, Druggist.

"To Leeward," by F. Marion Crawford, author of "Mr. Isaac," "Dr. Crawford," etc. Boston; Houghton, Mifflin & Co.,

We have received the advanced sheets of this book from the publishers. The story begins at Rome. Its principal characters are Marcantenio, an Italian, who marries after a very commonplace and unsentimental betrothal, Lenora Canethy, who is ushered into the tale as suffering from philosophical despair, and goes off the stage as a fool.

The wickedness of the plot is committed by Mr. Julius Batiscombe, a man of thirty-five summers, concerning whose attributes the opinion of society at Rome was divided. "He was eternally falling in love, everlastingly throwing himself at the feet of some woman and making mischief which he afterward bitterly regretted." Shortly after Leonora's marriage, while the honeymoon was passing at Sorrento, Batiscombe falls in love with the bride. An elopement is the result, and the frenzied wronged husband finds the guilty pair near Turin. Stealing upon them in a garden he fires upon his wife's seducer, but the woman shields his body and is killed, while the lover lives, though wounded at the second fire of the infuriated man.

The novel is well written, the interest is kept up throughout, and the characters are sketched with marked ability. Indeed, its naughty narrative is the only unpleasant feature of the book, which in spite of its unfortunate cast will be widely read. The author suggests that the readers shall ask of themselves what is the moral of the tale; as they contemplate the condition of the survivors of this domestic tragedy.

Recitations for Holiday Entertainments.

It is sometimes difficult for teachers in public and private schools, Sunday schools, charity institutions, etc., to find and select appropriate poems for their pupils for recitation at the Christmas festival. We give below some original poems which may aid the teacher in his or her work.

Short narrative poems are usually pleasing to an audience. Here are two for young speakers:

WAITING FOR PAPA.

The day before Christmas was stormy,
And the night fell cold and gray,
With a wind that is full of frost flakes,
As I went my homeward way.
Down by a rock in the roadside,
Riding away from the storm,
I came on two little children
Muffled in garments warm.

"What are you waiting for, children?"
I asked as they smiled at me,
For that they were waiting for something
In their eager eyes I could see.
I wanted to hug and kiss them,
The roguish little elves,
As sweet,—why! there's nothing sweeter
Than their little laughing selves.

"We're waiting for papa," they answered:
"It's time for him to come;
We always come here to meet him
And kiss him a welcome home.
And you know that papa would miss us
If he didn't find us here,
For you can't tell how he loves us!
He don't know, does he, dear?"

Then the motherly little woman,
Who may have been eight year's old,
Pulled her brother's cap down closer
To keep out the wind and cold.
"No, he doesn't know," he answered,
And laughed at the wind's wild glee,
"But daughter see how much taller Sinks o' Dolly an' me!"

—Eben E. Rexford.

MOTHER'S STORY.

Just as happy as he could be,
All day long in his innocent glee,
Over knife and top and bagle horn,
Found in his stocking at early morn,
This Christmas day, of all he had passed,
Had never in happiness been surpassed.
And then toward even, the sun sinking low
Over hills and valleys covered with snow,
Casting a light so rosy and clear
That the far distant mountains seemed very near,
He came to me with a light in his eyes
Which was brighter far than those evening skies,
And his low, sweet voice, all full of cheer,
Fell softly upon my listening ear.
"Oh, tell me, mamma, if it is not true
That Christmas is kept up in heaven, too."
"Yes," I replied, "I think it is so.
In heaven above as on earth below,
For the gift of God to His children given
Is eternal life, and Christ is in heaven."

S. A. S.

The joy of the Christmas-tide arises from self-sacrifice and charity. Men, following the example of the Master, forget themselves and live in others. The following poem aptly illustrates this thought:

THE MISER'S CHRISTMAS EVE.

Hae ye heard o' the auld Scotch miser,
Who'd skimped and saved sae lang,
His heart had grown cauld as his siller,
Till he ken'd nae ane's sorrow nor wrang?

But a' tha' his hoard could gi' him
Was a care, not a restfu' thought,
Carking care, lest a thief should rob him,
Till frae life he sought release.

In despair he gaed himsel' to drown
One Christmas eve, i' the burn;
Wa's a-wadin' bajrn he tossed some gold,
Scarce stopping his head to turn.

"For I can need it nae mair," he groaned,
"When gane frae this waesome world."
But a sudden joy shot up i' his heart,
An' the flame round the embers curled.

Till a' his being grew bright an' warm
Wi' the thocht that came sae light:
That life was worth living,—an' gold was good,
Did he but use it aright.

Then he hied him hame to his attic
An' frae bag an' box an' chest,
Took ank-notes an' gold an' siller,—
In a-ste, for he could na' rest,

Till wi' lavish hand, he had given
To a' the puir folk around,
They scarce could thank him for wonder,
Till joyful, he said, "I hae found

"Mair happiness comes frae free givin',
Than ains' the gittie be,
Twa frae all the hoarded treasure
Ye keep for yourse' to see."

Take Off Your Hat to a Savage Dog.

The Hon. Phil Hoyne, of Chicago, is responsible for the following:

"I was going along the other evening, when a savage dog flew out at me, evidently ready to rend me in pieces. Now what d'ye suppose I did?"

"Whipped out your pistol, I presume, and let fly at him."

"Not a bit of it. I simply lifted my hat. Don't laugh. The dog stopped, looked at me, growled, and finally crouched back to the doorstep and began wagging his tail. I have done the same thing over and over again with the same result."

"How do you account for the result?"

"This is how I figure it out," said Mr. Hoyne. "Dogs, in my opinion, think—in a crude way. They see a man, such as I, walking along, say with a plug hat on his head, and so forth. To him I present a complete picture, just as a dog with flapping ears, swishing tail and four legs presents one equally complete. Now, mark! The four footed picture cannot, so to speak, disintegrate. No dog ever saw another dog take off his trail, or lay down his ears, or throw away one of his hind legs. This human apparition suddenly begins to take himself to pieces. He lifts off his hat. The dog doesn't know what is coming next, perhaps. He begins to think. He is overawed. He meets with a power which is beyond his comprehension, and he succumbs. Mind you, this is only my theory, but I have tried it on several times, and I always found it to succeed.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Give It Up.

How is it that the English when they leave their own country, as a rule, take an inferior position? How is it, that while in England they take the lead over all other nations, directly they leave it they become followers instead of leaders? It is the case in the United States and it is the case in every British colony. There is not a single prominent Englishman in Canada today who owes his prominence to his brains and his own ability and talents. Not one. They are nowhere as statesmen, nowhere as self-made men, nowhere as successful merchants. They achieve respectability in their respective professions and pursuits, but they never seem to get beyond the point of respectable mediocrity. Brought into competition with the native Canadians, Scotch, Irish, Germans or Americans, and they go to the wall every time. The only class in Canada they can get ahead of in the race are the French Canadians, and this is pretty small praise. There must be a reason for this, what is it?—Winnipeg Siftings.

My Back is now Well.

This is what Mr. Clough of Lowell, Mass., was happy to say after his wife had given him a good rubbing with Perry Davis' Pain Killer, administering a dose inwardly. For four years he had been crippled with rheumatism, and suffered agony in his back. After using Pain Killer, he went to his business with comfort, and is now as well as ever he was.

—The cost of stopping a train of cars is said to be from forty to sixty cents. When the train is stopped by another train, these prices become somewhat inflated.

A SAD RECORD.

Memorial services were held in the Independent Christian (Universalist) church at Gloucester, Mass., Rev. Mr. Rider pastor, on Sunday morning, Dec. 16th, for the fishermen recently lost from that port. The record of life lost in the Gloucester fisheries this year is a terrible one, twelve schooners having gone down with all on board, the names of the hapless vessels being as follows:

John McDonough, (on her first trip,) sixteen men; Hattie Chester, fourteen men; Ruth Groves, twelve men; Maud F. Leighton, twelve men; Sultana, fourteen men; Rutherford B. Hayes, twelve men; Witchcraft, eleven men; George H. Pierson, twelve men; Helen M. Dennis, twelve men. All these are supposed to have gone down in the heavy gale which swept the fishing grounds on the 12th and 13th of November. The Helen M. Dennis carried fourteen men, but two of them, Wesley Brown and Maynard Hiltz, got astray from the vessel in a dory before the gale, and were picked up by another schooner. The schooners Charles H. Hildreth, James Bliss and Alaska make up the twelve missing vessels, the united crews of which comprised 149 men; and the lives lost in dories since the year commenced swells the total to about 200.

The insurance on the property lost was $59,010, all in the Gloucester offices, except $9,000 in the Boston Marine company, on the John McDonough.

In County Cavan, Ireland, Dec. 17th, a man named McGavin was murdered, the crime being due to agrarianism.

Deputy Sheriff Hoovey with his posse has returned to Clinton, Arizona, with "Red" and "Texan." The entire population turned out to meet them. The prisoners were strongly guarded and heavily ironed. "Red" is wounded in the back. The capture of these two completes the number of those who were engaged in the Gage Station train robbery and the Bisbee (Arizona) raid and murders. Yankee Kelley and John Heath are under arrest at Tombstone, while the remainder of the gang, Delancy and Dowd, have gone to Sonora.

WM. CONN,

WHO WOULD IT HELP?

YORK, ME., Dec. 17th.

Mr. Editor: The proposed narrow-gauge railroad from the Kittery depot of the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth railroad to York harbor and along York beach, is still talked about, and a first annual meeting of stockholders has been held, and a board of directors chosen, who in turn have elected a president and other officers of the board. At some time it is likely this road will be built, though the rush to build it is not so great as at one time seemed probable.

It is doubtful if the road would be of much real benefit to the farmers of York. At present they find a ready market at the beach hotels, boarding-houses and summer cottages, during the season, for such of their productions as are suited for their use; but this railroad would put the beach within easy reach of the Boston market, from which the hotels would then draw their supplies. As to enabling the farmers to reach more distant markets with their produce, the road would be of no value, if, as intended, it is to be worked only during the summer months. Hence the only advantage would be to the proprietors of beach property.

And it is by no means certain that all owners of beach property would be benefitted by this railroad. It is as a "city of cottages" that our sea front is becoming famous, and the cottagers do not desire a "popular" means of reaching the place, if it is to result as it has elsewhere, in destroying the privacy and quietude of the retreat through the medium of cheap excursions on week-days and Sundays. The very fact that York beach, with all its natural beauty, is out of the way of general rush, is what has made it popular with the cottagers; and the building of this railroad would militate greatly against the further erection of cottages, and of course against the selling of land as sites for the same.

The railroad will not benefit the farmers or the summer cottagers, or those who have cottage sites to sell; it will benefit the hotel keepers, and they are the ones who should build it, if it is done.

DIPHTHERIA!

THE PROSTRATION which follows Diphtheria, and the persistency with which it clings to the patient, are well known to all who have had any experience with this terrible disease.

The following letter shows how the restoring and invigorating properties of

Hood's Sarsaparilla

overcome it, and how by vitalizing and enriching the blood it neutralizes and eradicates the poisoned matter from it, bringing to the convalescent the color, life and vigor of robust health.

LOWELL, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—My little girl had the diphtheria last April. The disease left her very weak, blood poor, with no appetite, and she could not seem to rally from its effects. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA was recommended by a neighbor. After she had been taking it a few days we noticed a change for the better—she began to eat with a relish. It seemed to take out the poison the disease had left in her blood, the change being very noticeable in her face. She took it two months and fully regained her health, much to our delight. We now recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA with a great deal of pleasure. Very truly yours,

J. E. SMITH,
19 Butterfield Street.

A CARD.

Having made large additions to our stock of standard goods, we shall sell the same at greatly reduced prices. Having done for eight years a liberal credit business, we now propose to do a liberal cash business. To our regular customers we shall give thirty days, which is all we get, and all that we can afford to give. For our transient customers we have no books. Our store is large and expenses small, and we shall sell our goods at a small margin for cash. The high quality of our goods will be maintained and guaranteed as represented. We do this to protect ourselves from those who expect the grocers to furnish them with the necessaries of life and take their chances for the pay, and in a great many cases, the grocer "gets left." We do not think our customers can find any fault with this way of doing business, which will not only benefit us, but them also. Thanking the public for their generous patronage in the past, we would ask for a continuance of the same.

Respectfully, H. W. OXFORD.

MAINE CENTRAL RAILROAD.

The annual meeting of the Maine Central railroad was held in Augusta on the 18th inst. All the directors of the road, except Willard P. Phillips and Jonas H. French, were in Augusta on the 17th, and a brief meeting was held and the business year closed up. It was stated that three of the old board of directors, Stephen J. Young, L. Strickland and Jonas H. French, would be dropped from the direction in the voting on the 18th, and their places be filled by Samuel C. Lawrence and Richard Olney of Boston and Frank Jones of Portsmouth, all three of the new men being Eastern railroad directors under the recent election of that road, and reported as favoring the lease of the Eastern to the Boston & Maine.

At the voting on the 18th the total number of shares voted on was 32,649, making 16,325 votes necessary for a choice. The result was as follows:

Abner Coburn had	32,649
Darius Alden	32,649
William G. Davis	32,649
George E. B. Jackson	32,649
Arthur Sewall	32,649
Thomas W. Hyde	32,649
Willard P. Phillips	32,649
William B. Bacon	32,649
Horatio N. Jose	31,731
George S. Morrison	29,564
Frank Jones	26,451
Samuel C. Lawrence	26,451
Richard Olney	25,543
Stephen J. Young	7,106
Jonas H. French	7,106
Lysander Strickland	6,188

And the gentlemen named, with the exception of the last three, were declared elected.

STORER POST MEETING.

The following letter from Hon. H. W. Blair was read before Storer Post, G. A. R., at the annual meeting held on the evening of the 19th inst. in G. A. R. hall;

UNITED STATES SENATE,
Washington, D. C., Dec. 18th.

My Dear Sir: Yours communicating the resolutions of Storer Post, No. 1, Grand Army of the Republic, relative to the Records of the War of the Rebellion, is received.

Please express to these gallant defenders of the Nation, who were ready to give their own lives to preserve the heritage of freedom, that I gratefully appreciate their recognition of the slight courtesy which I have been able to show them in this regard.

Soldiers who have made this glorious history have the best right to read it; and I trust that these books may tell the story of patriotism and valor to their sons and the citizens of Portsmouth for generations to come.

Truly yours, H. W. BLAIR.

The following officers of the post were elected for the ensuing year:

Chas. H. Besselievre, senior vice commander;

William Y. Evans, junior vice commander;

Daniel W. Jones, surgeon;

Meshach H. Bell, chaplain;

John H. Locke, quartermaster;

Abel Jackson, officer of the day;

Lorenzo T. Burnham, officer of the guard;

Department delegates, James E. Ford, Charles H. Osgood, Oliver M. Knight, John P. Tibbetts, Joseph R. Curtis, Thomas Entwistle, John W. Parsons; Alternates, Charles H. Shannon, John H. Hutchinson, Martin Garrity, Meshach H. Bell, Simon R. Marston, Charles L. Hoyt, William Critchley.

Commander Marcus M. Collis was elected for the fourth consecutive term, but positively declined, owing to his length of service, and lack of time to perform the duties of the position; and this office was left to be filled at an adjourned meeting to be held on Friday, Jan. 4th.

A ball was given in the south ward room on the evening of the 18th inst. under the management of Mr. J. T. Adams; it was well attended, considering the unfavorable weather, and the participants apparently enjoyed themselves well.

The schooner James B. Pace, Thrasher master, from Newport News with 1021 tons of coal to J. Albert Walker, arrived on the 19th inst., the first arrival of any note for some days.

The new president of the Eastern railroad, Mr. Arthur Sewall, advises the heads of departments of that road that Mr. Payson Tucker will continue to act as general manager of the main line and all its branches.

First Lieut. John S. Perry has been commissioned captain of the Portsmouth Cavalry, vice Edward D. Coffin, resigned.

A correspondent of the Manchester Mirror, writing from Washington, says the great majority of the new democratic congressmen are "pretty cheap fellows," judging from their looks, and goes on to remark that "our lower branch of the legislature, where so many are elected because it's their turn to go to Concord, is a body of representative men beside them; and if any of the first term democrats can discount Trow of Mount Vernon or Urch of Portsmouth as statesmen, their looks belie them." Mr. Israel Kimball, Jr., who has been clerk of Senator Blair's committee for two years, still continues in that position.

KITTERY, Dec. 17th.

Milton Badger and mother, of Haverhill, Mass., formerly of this town, are visiting friends here. Upon his return to Haverhill he is to engage in the hack business there.

Miss Haley, the evangelist, is in town again, and has held enthusiastic meetings at the Second Christian church during the past week, commencing Tuesday evening, the 11th inst.

Detective Wood, of Boston, was in town nearly all of last week, in connection with the recent murder case.

Calvin Lewis last week killed an eighteen-months-old hog that weighed 599 lbs.

We shall anxiously wait for the proposed race between Capt. S. H. Pilsbury's yacht "Nemo," and Albert Norwood's yacht "Amphitrite" of Biddeford Pool. The captain is "true blue" and will not back out. We shall bet on the "Nemo" every time.

Rev. Charles Andrews, who lately died at Old Orchard at the advanced age of seventy-two years, was pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Kittery in the year 1870, and has many friends in this vicinity to mourn his death.

Miss Annie Lewis, daughter of Jefferson T. Lewis, is to teach the winter term of the intermediate school in district nine.

The "Jug Breaking" at the Second Methodist Episcopal church was successfully carried out Sunday afternoon and evening, the 16th inst.

The first Tuesday in January, the time appointed for the commencement of the January term of court, falls on New Years day; therefore, we understand, the court will not sit until the day following.

We are informed that Mr. Blaney has received a permit to visit his son, Oscar E. Blaney, in Alfred jail, at any time he chooses. SUB ROSA.

James W. Bartlett of Eliot lives on the farm that has been in the family name for five generations. The house was built in 1740, much of the timber being oak, and all of it of the most substantial kind.

The Salmon Falls bank and post-office were broken into on the night of Dec. 18th; in the bank nothing of value was taken, as the thieves could not open the vault; the post-office was robbed of about $50 in cash and stamps.

The State Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, began its annual session at Manchester on the 18th inst. There was a large attendance, fifty out of sixty-four granges in the state being represented.

The Best Baking Powder.

The best baking powder is made from pure Cream of Tartar, Bicarbonate of Soda, and a small quanity of flour or starch. Frequently other ingredients are used, and serve a purpose in reducing the cost and increasing the profits of the manufacturer.

We give the Government Chemist's analyses of two of the leading baking powders:

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Flour.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Carbonate of Ammonia,
Tartaric Acid,
Starch.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

NOTE.—The Tartaric acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D

NEW YORK, Jan'y 17th, 1881.

The above analyses indicate a preference for "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," and our opinion is that it is the better preparation.—Hall's Journal of Health.

THE HERITAGE OF WOE

Misery, shame and agony often bequeathed as a sole legacy to children by parents in neglected scrofula. To cleanse the blood of this hereditary poison, and thus remove the root and foundation of human suffering, to clear the skin of disfiguring humors, itchings tortures, humiliating eruptions, and loathsome sores caused by it, to purify and beautify the skin, and restore the hair so that no trace of the disease remains, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, diuretic and aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great skin cures and beautifiers, are infallible.

I HAD SALT RHEUM

In the most aggravating form for eight years. No kind of treatment, medicine or doctors did me any permanent good. My friends in Malden know how I suffered. When I heard of the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES my limbs were so raw and tender that I could not bear my weight on them without the skin cracking, and yielding blood, I was obliged to go about on crutches. Used the CUTICURA REMEDIES five months, and was completely and permanently cured.

COPPER-COLORED,

I have been afflicted with troublesome skin disease, covering almost completely the upper part of my body, causing my skin to assume a copper-colored tint. It could be relieved by warm baths, and at times causing intolerable itching and the most intense suffering. I have used blood purifiers, pills and other advertised remedies, but experienced no relief until I procured the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which, though used carelessly and irregularly, cured me, allaying the intense itching, and restoring my skin to its natural color. I am willing to make affidavit to the truth of this statement. S. G. BUXTON, Mt an, Mich.

"The Principles and Practice of Bookkeeping," by Calvin G. Hutchinson and Walter S. Parker, is a practical, sensibly arranged manual, which tells the story of accounts in such a way that any intelligent person can master the subject without laborious memorizing. Hon. James Gillfillan, late treasurer of the United States, says:

"I find it more comprehensive, practical, and complete than any work I have seen. The arrangement is excellent, the system admirable." William Ware & Co., publishers, 47 Franklin street, Boston. Price $1.50.

The Hewitt resolution urging the president to interfere in O'Donnell's behalf, on ground that he was an American citizen, went through the democratic house of representatives with a rush only a day or two ago; but a resolution couched in similar language asking for an investigation of the Danville riot was buried under a heap of objections, almost before it was read through. If the Danville incident was all the fault of the negroes, as the democrats have asserted from the first, why not authorize an investigation to take the truth clearer than noonday? The negroes who were killed at Danville were American citizens as well as O'Donnell. Has the color of the voter to be influenced anything to do with the action of the house?—Tribune.

"Truth has a quiet breast" says Avon's bard, but when the breast is racked with a cough it can not be quiet. Try a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. The cough it will stay, the soreness allay, and you'll bless Dr. Bull for many a day.

—Did you ever notice how suddenly a timid woman who is humming an operatic air will switch off on to a religious hymn when a store comes up and she hears the first clap of thunder.

My Wife Said
to me last night: How much do you suppose we have paid out for doctors and medicine in the last year. I told her I did not know. To doctors I have paid nothing, and five dollars worth of Sulphur Bitters has kept health in our family. L. Andrews, 12 Bowdoin St., Boston.

—Grace church, New York, is to have a new marble spire, 219 feet high, costing $50,000. A $56,000 spire ought to relieve a great deal of distress among the poor and bring many souls to repentance.

Your health depends on the purity of your blood. People who realize this are taking Hood's Sarsaparilla with the best results.

—Scene, a popular Boston glove store. Enter a policeman. "I want a pair of gloves, miss, to wear to a wedding." "Kids, sir?" "Yes, miss." "What size, sir?" I don't know, miss." "Well, what's your number?" Displaying his badge, "Ninety-four, miss."

A World of Good.
One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other Bitters, as it is not a whiskey drink. It is more like the old-fashioned bone-set tea, that has done a world of good. If you dont feel just right, try Hop Bitters.—Nunda News.

Positive Cure for Piles.
To the people of this County we would say we have been given the agency of Dr. Marchisi's Italian Pile Ointment—emphatically guaranteed to Cure or money refunded—internal, external, blind, bleeding or itching piles. Price 50c. a Box. No cure, no pay. For sale by Andrew P. Preston, Druggist.

—"Pa," inquired an up-town boy, "what is a monarch?" "A monarch?" replied the father sadly, "a monarch is a man who never marries."

The Fat Boy in Pickwick
probably had good teeth, seeing that he so speedily demolished the most substantial provender on the shortest notice. Nothing excepting a good appetite so conduces to the pleasure of eating, as a good set of grinders. To possess them, use Sozodont, the great dental invigorant and beautifying agents. Yellow, tartar covered teeth grow pearly white, and the gums acquire ruddiness and form a pleasing contrast to the snowy hue of the teeth when it is used.

Holiday Pastimes.

PROVERBS IN ACTION.

Proverbs can be played in impromptu style with pleasure and profit, and can also be dramatized so as to amuse crowded audiences of cultivated people. But they are, perhaps, funnier when done in the former manner, and the costumes are caught up from the entry and the properties from the kitchen.

In this case the most eccentric turn can be given to the sentiment and pronunciation of the words used, and the alternate scenes may be represented in tableau, pantomime or charade. A few specimens of each will be given here from which even the youngest reader can gain ideas enough to enable him to choose his proverbs and arrange the action for himself.

A ROLLING STONE GATHERS NO MOSS.

Scene 1.—A cottage interior represented by any room, with wash-tub, churn, spinning-wheel, or any articles of domestic use. The old dame sits in a high-backed chair, and seems intent on convincing her family of the importance of keeping busily employed at home. Each one of her daughters is at work at some domestic labor.

Her son enters, dressed in a walking costume, with a plaid shawl over his arm and a bundle in his hand.

"Now, my dear boy," says the old lady, "I hope you will think better of your foolish plan of going out to service, and be content to help your father in carrying on his farm, which will be yours some day if you attend to it well."

"But, mother," says the boy, "I want to see the world."

"The world is a poor place, my dear boy, and full of trouble."

"Never mind, mother; you will rejoice to see me back again when I have made my fortune."

"Fortune will come to you, my son, if you work hard at home."

"I hate farm-work, mother, and have made up my mind to go. So good-by all."

The son gaily marches off, and the mother follows him to the door and looks earnestly after him, waves her handkerchief a few times, then totters to her chair and cries bitterly. The girls all cry in concert, and then dry their eyes and continue busily at work until the curtain falls.

Scene 2.—The same room with much better furniture and adornments. The old lady and her daughters in evening dress are engaged with fancy-work and books, and one young lady plays a cheerful tune on the piano. The door opens and a gust of snow is blown into the room by means of a pair of bellows and a large quantity of very small scraps of writing paper. A terrific wind howls without, the sound being produced by blowing into a glass bottle.

The son enters with rags and tatters hanging from his clothes. His cheeks are chalked at the sides, so that he looks very much emaciated. He holds out his right hand as if asking alms, and leans heavily on a rough cane with his left. No one recognizes him at first, until he says—

"Don't you know me, mother? I have come home destitute."

The mother rushes into his arms, and the girls welcome him eagerly. One runs out for provisions, another spreads the table, and all try to show their welcome and sympathy. He sits at the table and eats ravenously, and then says—

"O mother, it is a blessed thing to have a home to go to, and I have learned the lesson that steady labor is far better than a wandering life."

Another pretty entertainment is this:

FINE FEATHERS MAKE FINE BIRDS.

A fop enters and struts about with eye-glasses and cane, seeming too proud to speak to common people. A negro girl enters carrying a basket of clothes on her head, and the fop eyes her with disgust as she passes him and knocks off his hat accidentally with her basket. He is very angry and shakes his fist at her as she goes out of sight.

But his manner suddenly changes as he sees a lady with showy bonnet, thick veil and elegant cloak, and he makes the lowest bow he can for she advances. The lady, however, pays him no attention, being very much annoyed at his rudeness, but passes out of sight rapidly.

The fop still lingers sucking the head of his cane and putting on airs, when he again beholds the same costume approaching. Gaining courage, he sidles up and offers his arm to the lady, who accepts it to his delight, and they walk up and down together. He tries in vain to get a view of her face, which she keeps averted; but finally he lifts her veil, when he beholds the same colored woman that he met at first, who has put on the bonnet and cloak of her mistress. The mistress enters also now, and both the women laugh at the discomfited fop, who hides away in disgust as the curtain falls.

Another proverb which affords an opportunity for action is the following:

ALL IS NOT GOLD THAT GLITTERS.

A pair of country people are taking a walk. They gaze into the shop-windows, and seem to be surprised at the novel sights which they see on every side. They walk arm-in-arm and often look tenderly at each other.

Soon they are met by a Jew peddler who has a tray full of fancy goods. He stops and calls their attention to his wares. They seem to be delighted with the articles which he holds up for their inspection, and at last fix upon a large bracelet, which is made of a band of sheet iron covered with gold paper. They spend much time in discussing the price, and the man says,—

"Is it gold?"

"It certainly's cold," says the Jew, rubbing his ear with one hand.

"If you are sure it is gold," says the bumpkin, "I will give you, six dollars for it."

"Ten is the lowest," says the Jew, and after much chaffering the bracelet is purchased for six dollars and a half, and the man proudly clasps it on the arm of his friend, rejoicing that he has outwitted the peddler.

The couple continue their walk, and the lady, after constantly looking at her new bracelet, rubs it with her handkerchief to brighten it. What is her horror to see the gold rub off and the iron slowly come to light under the process. The woman cries, and the man sets out with uplifted stick in eager but fruitless pursuit of the deceitful Jew.

The above examples, it will readily be seen, can be easily enlarged into little dramas by writing in longer dialogues, which will prove an excellent exercise in composition. But if the actors have confidence and wit enough to make up the conversation as they act, it will sound more real than if written and committed to memory.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1837 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my health. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me. HORACE FAIRBROTHER."

Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours, MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."

159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. A. J. CRANE."

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSEPH WALDEN."

Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. E. BRAGDON."

Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

SCIPIO, N. Y., Dec. 1, 1879.

I am the Pastor of the Baptist Church here, and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in many chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them.

REV. E. R. WARREN.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

W. J. Pearson, postmaster at Batesville, Arkansas, was found dead in his room in the hotel Barnum at St. Louis, Mo., on the night of the 17th inst. It is supposed that he committed suicide. The post-office authorities say that he was some $4,000 short in his accounts, and that his whereabouts had not been known for a week prior to finding him dead in St. Louis.

Poisoned.

Thousands of persons are poisoned in America by the continued use of mercury, Iodide of Potassium and other minerals, for various diseases. The mercury works its way into the tissues, producing rheumatism and decay of the bones. The Iodide of Potassium eats away the coating of the stomach, and dries up the gastric juices which digest the food, and the patient lingers along in agony or is glad to die to get away from misery, Swift's Specific is a complete antidote to all this poison. It eliminates mercury from the system, removes the evil effects and of Iodide of Potassium, and brings back health and happiness. Send your address for a copy of Treatise on Blood and Skin diseases. The Swift Specific Company, Drawer 3, Atlanta, Ga.

At Jersey City, N. J., the jury rendered a verdict of guilty in the case of Captain Gordon, on trial for the abduction and betrayal of Addie Bresnan, thirteen years old, the daughter of Patrick Bresnan of Astoria. Under the laws of New Jersey the penalty for his offence is a fine of $1000 or imprisonment not exceeding twelve years, or both.

Catarrh.

The remarkable results in a disease so universal and with such a variety of characteristics as catarrh, prove how effectually Hood's Sarsaparilla, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the human system. A medicine, like anything else, can be fairly judged only by its results. We point with pride to the glorious record Hood's Sarsaparilla has entered upon the hearts of thousands of people it has cured of catarrh.

Patrick Shea of Holyoke, Mass., drank a wine-glassful of undertakers' embalming fluid, supposing it to be whisky, and died soon after.

Now is the time to treat Catarrh of long standing. Ely's Cream Balm reaches obstinate cases, where other remedies fail. In it lies the relief you seek. Price 50 cents.

Apply into nostrils the finger.

A gentleman from Orwell, Pa., called my attention to Ely's Cream Balm as a remedy for Catarrh, Hay Fever &c. He was so earnest in asserting it to be a positive cure (himself having been cured by it) that I purchased a stock. The Balm has already effected cures. P. F. Hyatt, M. D., Bordentown, N. J.

I have been a severe sufferer from Catarrh for 15 years, with distressing pain over my eyes, gradually the disease worked down upon my lungs. About a year and a half ago I began using Ely's Cream Balm, with most gratifying results, and am to-day apparently cured. Z. C. Warren, Rutland, Vt.

A despatch from Huntington, Baker county, Oregon, reports a number of highway robberies at that place, by a gang of seven men. At the point of the pistol they robbed a merchant named J. Tyler of cash and drafts to the amount of $15,000. The paymaster of the railroad construction company was robbed of $12,000. Other persons were relieved of sums ranging in amount from $200 to $500. As there is no constabulary force in the county, it is thought that the highwaymen will escape with their booty.

My Back is now Well.

This is what Mr. Clough of Lowell, Mass., was happy to say after his wife had given him a good rubbing with Perry Davis' Pain Killer, administering a dose inwardly. For four years he had been crippled with rheumatism, and suffered agony in his back. After using Pain Killer, he went to his business with comfort, and is now as well as ever he was.

Letter from a Well-known New York Auctioneer.

New York, May 18th, 1883.

I have been troubled with an Irritation of the Throat and a Cough for some time. I am also a martyr to Dyspepsia. By the advice of a very learned physician I applied two Allcock's Porous Plasters to my chest, and on the pit of my stomach. In three days my cough was cured and my throat was well. I have now worn the Plasters two weeks, and my appetite and digestion have much improved. I am confident that in another week my Dyspepsia will be entirely removed. I have never used so pleasant and agreeable a remedy in my life.

It has transpired that O'Donnell, the murderer of Carey, on reaching Dartmouth to embark for the Cape exhibited a ticket by the Orient line for Australia. On being informed of his mistake, O'Donnell, who could not read, was much embarrassed, and fumbling in his pockets produced a ticket by the Cape line to Natal. This fact is construed in support of the government theory that O'Donnell was in the service of the "invincibles." The impression first prevailed in England that Carey was to be sent to New South Wales, and it is supposed that O'Donnell was furnished with a ticket by the Australian line in order to follow him there, but that on it being learned that the government had decided to send the informer to Natal a ticket was hastily procured for O'Donnell by the Cape line, and that he had both tickets in his possession when starting on his journey.

John Joseph Ryan, an Irishman of New York, has sent a note to the court which issued his naturalization papers, saying that "seeing how American citizens are strung up unmercifully on the gallows in England, I wish to have my name erased from the American citizenship roll of your court and America at large." The United States will probably now proceed to burst up as quickly as possible.

The January number of the "Eclectic," the first number of the new volume, is at hand, and is of unusual interest. It contains a beautiful steel engraving of "The Titian Family," one of the finest that has ever appeared in the magazine. The first article is a striking one on "The Poetry of the Early Mysteries," by F. M. Capes, which gives a description of the wonderful old miracle play of the Middle Ages. The celebrated Orientalist, W. R. S. Ralston, contributes a paper on the folk-lore and myths of India, under the name of "Some Indian Stories." Other important articles are: "The Emperor Julian's View of Christianity," from Macmillan's Magazine, and a very able study of "The Second part of Faust," by M. Betham Edwards, from the British Quarterly Review. This being the first number of the volume it is a favorable time to subscribe for the year. Published by E. R. Pelton, 25 Bond street, New York. Terms, $5 per year; single copy, forty-five cents. For sale by all newsdealers.

The government will send another expedition to search for the Greeley party, as soon as practicable next year. The expedition will consist of one Newfoundland whaler or sealer, similar to the Proteus, and a government vessel. Better devote the money such an expedition would cost, to offering such a reward for the rescue as would start the old whalemen on the search; being untrammelled by either army or navy officers, the whalemen would succeed if success was possible.

A despatch from Ocalo, Fla., says: Major Couper, chief engineer of the Florida Southern railroad, quarrelled with a contractor named Burchfield at Leesburg Tuesday night, the 18th inst., and the latter stabbed Couper fatally.

Hong Kong advices of Dec. 20th report the capture of five villages near Sontay by the French, who had 215 men killed or wounded during the fight. The Chinese still hold Sontay.

The steamer St. Augustin, from Manilla for Liverpool, was burned in the bay of Biscay on the 16th inst. She had eighty persons on board, of whom fifty are supposed to have perished.

Vincent Matthews, aged fifty years, janitor of Grace Church, Salem, Mass., committed suicide by hanging on the 19th inst., from despondency.

"Hard All!"

Last Tuesday, while five of the Pioneer Club six-oar crew were sitting in their shell and swearing vigorously at the non-appearance of the sixth man, who was half an hour late, a well dressed and modest young stranger strolled into the boathouse and began inspecting the equipments with great interest.

"I'll tell you what we'll do, fellows," said the stroke. "As No. 4 isn't coming, suppose we coax that dude there to take a row, and bust him all up?"

The perpetration of this time-honored joke upon a "softy" was received with approbation, and the newcomer was, with a grand show of hospitality, invited to take the vacant oar.

"Well, I don't know, gentleman," said the young man, looking at his watch doubtfully. "I am a stranger here. I do need a little exercise, though."

"Oh, get in," said No. 2, winking at his companions; "a little spin will do you good," and they finally persuaded the victim of their kindly scheme to take off his coat and assume a club cap.

"Now keep your eye on me, and try to keep time," said the captain. "You'll never, never make an oarsman unless you watch the stroke."

"I'll do the best I can, gentlemen," said the guest, meekly. "I'm always willing to improve."

The boat went down towards Hunters' point a couple of miles at an easy, three-quarter stroke, the newcomer pulling away manfully with the rest, and when they eased off to turn back they were surprised to observe that the stranger did not appear to be quite so much blown as they expected.

"Now, then, young fellew," said the stroke, with a grin, "try to keep up with the procession. Hit her up, boys. Hard all!"

But, somehow, the stranger scratched along with the rest, and, though the pace was something like forty-six as they passed Butchertown, the victim serenely sawed away, and the bowman even imagined that he splashed less than any oar in the boat. When they finally drew up to the float, and while the crew were panting for wind, spitting cotton and wiping their dripping faces, the "passenger" looked around, with a childlike smile upon his unflushed face, and softly remarked:

"Why didn't you spurt her?"

"Spurt h——l!" panted the stroke; "why——er——what the——ez——I say, young feller, where did you come from?"

"From New York, gentlemen," replied the stranger, modestly, as he slipped on his coat and started up the wharf. "My name is Hanlan—Edward Hanlan—and I hope to see you all at Vallejo on Thursday. Good morning!"

And since then all you have to do to get fourteen stretchers fired at you, is to stick your head into the Pioneer Club house and yell, "Hard All!"—San Francisco Post.

A CARD.

Having made large additions to our stock of standard goods, we shall sell the same at greatly reduced prices. Having done for eight years a liberal credit business, we now propose to do a liberal cash business. To our regular customers we shall give thirty days, which is all we get, and all that we can afford to give. For our transient customers we have no books. Our store is large and expenses small, and we shall sell our goods at a small margin for cash. The high quality of our goods will be maintained and guaranteed as represented. We do this to protect ourselves from those who expect the grocers to furnish them with the necessaries of life and take their chances for the pay, and in a great many cases, the grocer "gets left." We do not think our customers can find any fault with this way of doing business, which will not only benefit us, but them also. Thanking the public for their generous patronage in the past, we would ask for a continuance of the same.

Respectfully, H. W. OXFORD.

MEDICAL.

DIPHTHERIA!

THE PROSTRATION which follows Diphtheria, and the persistency with which it clings to the patient, are well known to all who have had any experience with this terrible disease.

The following letter shows how the restoring and invigorating properties of

Hood's Sarsaparilla

overcome it, and how by vitalizing and enriching the blood it neutralizes and eradicates the poisoned matter from it, bringing to the convalescent the color, life and vigor of robust health.

LOWELL, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—My little girl had the diphtheria last April. The disease left her very weak, blood poor, with no appetite, and she could not seem to rally from its effects. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA was recommended by a neighbor. After she had been taking it a few days we noticed a change for the better—she began to eat with a relish. It seemed to take out the poison the disease had left in her blood, the change being very noticeable in her face. She took it two months and fully regained her health, much to our delight. We now recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA with a great deal of pleasure. Very truly yours,

J. R. SMITH,
19 Butterfield Street.

"That Extreme Tired Feeling."

"The first bottle has done my daughter a great deal of good; her food does not distress her now, nor does she suffer from that extreme tired feeling which she did before taking HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA."

REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS, MARRIAGES AND DEATHS.

A law passed by the legislature at its late session aims to secure what we have never yet had in this state, namely, a full and reliable registration of births, marriages and deaths; and this end will be attained without difficulty, if only the law is enforced.

Years ago in this paper we pointed out and illustrated the unreliable character, in fact, the utter worthlessness, of the record of births, marriages and deaths, as kept in this city, and showed that no record worthy the name could ever be secured except by the prompt registration of the incidents immediately on their occurrence, instead of waiting until the end of the year—births to be registered by whoever was in attendance, whether physician, midwife or volunteer nurse; marriages to be registered by whoever solemnized them; and deaths to be registered before the issuing of a burial permit, no person being allowed to inter a body without a permit. On and after the first day of January, 1884, this is to be done, six days being the limit allowed in which to register, with a generous penalty for any neglect of duty. We give below several extracts from the new law:

SEC. 2. The attending physician, accoucheur, midwife, or other person in charge, who shall attend, assist, or advise at the birth of any child, living or stillborn, within the limits of any town or city in this state, shall report to the clerk of such town, within six days thereafter, all the facts regarding such birth, as is required in section one of this act.

SEC. 3. Every person authorized to unite persons in marriage shall make a record of every marriage solemnized before him, in conformity with the requisitions prescribed for blank records of marriages in section one of this act, and shall within six days thereafter deliver or forward to the clerk of the town in which the marriage intention was recorded a copy of such record of marriage.

Sections four and five provide for the report of any death to the town clerk, by the physician in attendance, or the relatives of the deceased if no physician was employed; and for the issuing by the town clerk of a burial permit. Section six is as follows:

SEC. 6. No interment or disinterment of the dead body of any human being, or disposition thereof in any tomb, vault, or cemetery, shall be made without a writ as aforesaid, nor otherwise than in accordance with such permit. No undertaker or other person shall assist in, assent to, or allow any such interment or disinterment to be made until such permit has been given as aforesaid; and it shall be the duty of every undertaker or other person having charge of any burial-place as aforesaid, who shall receive such permit, to preserve and return the same to the clerk of the town within six days after the day of burial.

* * * * * * *

SEC. 11. If any person shall wilfully neglect or refuse to perform any duty imposed upon him by the provisions of this act, he shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars for each offence, for the use of the town in which the offence occurred.

Stated in brief, under the new law the person who solemnizes a marriage must register it within six days, or be liable to a fine of $100; the physician or other person officiating at a birth must register such birth within six days, under a similar penalty; and the physician in attendance at a death who shall fail to make the return on which a burial permit shall issue, and the undertaker or other person who shall bury a body without a permit, will each be liable to $100 fine for each offence of the kind.

The law is simple in its provisions, well considered, and if enforced will make the registration of births, marriages and deaths a matter of great value, instead of the ridiculous farce it always has been in nearly all the cities and towns in New Hampshire, our own city included.

Meagher's family clam chowder today.

Mr. Conn announces for the Christmas season, at his store No. 68 State street, the finest lot of turkeys and geese he has ever offered—which is saying a great deal, as he never keeps anything but first class goods, whether butter, cheese, pork, lard, poultry, or any other farm produce.

Engineer Morrison, of the Eastern railroad, who was struck over the eye by a missile while passing through Beverly, Mass., with the Flying Yankee train some weeks ago, has left the Salem hospital. He will lose the sight of one eye.

It was reported on Thursday that a man named Snow, a boiler maker on the navy yard, fell on Islington street; near the jail, that morning, and it was feared fractured his skull.

The residuum of the gasoline which came down through the gates of the north millpond on Thursday seemed like so much soapsuds, only it was not quite so pleasant to smell of.

Referring to the election of Frank Jones, George C. Lawrence and Richard Olney as directors of the Maine Central railroad in place of Stephen J. Young, Lysander Strickland and Jonas H. French, the Portland Advertiser says: "These changes are all favorable to a practical consolidation of the Eastern, the Boston & Maine and the Maine Central roads, but it may be doubted whether they ensure the co-operation of the board in that scheme. Most of the directory, as now constituted, would probably prefer a union of the Eastern and Maine Central."

While at work in a shop at the navy yard on the 19th inst. Mr. E. Washington Brown of this city met with a singular and painful accident. A chisel handle having become partially split, Mr. Brown screwed the tool in a vise, intending to saw out the defect and insert a wedge-shaped piece of wood; but at the first stroke of the saw the chisel sprang out of the vise, its edge striking the under part of his right arm, cutting a gash two inches long and three-quarters of an inch deep, and severing three veins. Mr. Brown was quite weak from loss of blood when he arrived at the hospital, where the veins were taken up by Dr. Cleborne.

The Government Chemist Analyzes two of the Leading Baking Powders, and what he finds them made of.

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Flour

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Carbonate of Ammonia
Tartaric Acid
Starch

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

Note.—The Tartaric Acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.

NEW YORK, JAN'Y 17TH, 1881.

The above shows conclusively that "Cleveland's Superior" is a strictly pure Cream of Tartar Baking Powder. It has also been analyzed by Professor Johnson of Yale College; Dr. Genth of the University of Pennsylvania; President Morton of the Stevens Institute; Wm. M. Habirshaw, P. C. S., Analyst for the Chemical Trade of New York, and other eminent chemists, all of whom pronounce it absolutely pure and healthful.

THE PEACEMAKER.

A Real Baby From a Christmas Tree.

BY INEZ IRVING.

The church was full to overflowing, the exuberant gladness of the season bubbling over in merry speech, repartee and laughter.

All ages were there, from Andrew Highland, of eighty, on his crutches, to poor Mrs. Carpenter's six-months old baby. Blue and garnet and crimson "Tam O'Shanters" glanced across the aisles, or bobbed around in the pews beside more staid, but scarcely less expectant Derby pokes and Gainsboroughs, as all eyes were turned to the flaring Christmas tree.

A tall, dark-bearded man, with rather stately bearing, and a fair-faced old lady with silvery hair, walked up the aisle to one of the front side pews, followed by the glances of a score of bright eyes.

"That's Mr. Foster, the jeweler," Elvira Baker whispered to her cousin from Seaview.

"He looks terribly stern. What a sweet old lady. Is she his mother?"

"No; that is Mrs. Moonlight. He boards with her."

"Mr. Foster will have lots of presents, I reckon," said stout, twelve-year-old Tom Buxton, in a stage whisper, to his chum beside him. "I know of a dreadful handsome pair of slippers that were worked for him. I tried to match some of the worsted and got my ears boxed for making a mistake."

His sister Della, the other side of him, looked as if her fingers ached to repeat the operation.

"Don't Mr. Foster look handsome tonight?" Hetty Draper said to Nellie Ford.

"He's handsome enough, but he's altogether too haughty looking to suit my taste," Nellie returned.

Hetty's heart beat more quickly as she thought of the dainty watch-case she had fashioned for him, which, wrapped in a pink tissue paper, was now reposing among the fragrant boughs of the Christmas tree.

The observed of girlish observers sat unconscious of criticism.

He had yielded reluctantly to Mrs. Moonlight's invitation to accompany her. His face was not in harmony with the scene. He was grave and preoccupied. The merry Christmas greetings sounded to him like mockery.

He had come, a stranger, to Norwood about a year ago and opened a jeweler's store. The young ladies became interested in him speedily. Bright eyes met his with soft, speaking glances as they lingered over the cases of jewels. But he was cold and unapproachable. He refused all invitations out to formal tea-drinkings and evening parties. Most of the aspirants for his favor grew discouraged and called him a cross old bachelor, though he looked little over thirty.

Squire Blair called the noisy groups to order as soon as he could hear his own voice in the confusion. After some preliminaries the Santa Claus of the occasion began to drawl the names which labelled the various presents.

"Mr. Wallace Foster!"

That gentleman arose and received the pink parcel, which he unrolled and passed over to Mrs. Moonlight for inspection.

The unlading of the tree went on. Bright faces grew brighter as their names were called, while small boys and girls in gay clothing, capped by the inevitable "Tam O'Shanter," glanced along the aisles like humming birds, their hands full of treasures.

"Mr. Wallace Foster!" was again called out.

He looked a trifle annoyed as he stepped again to the tree.

"The slippers this time," Della thought, leaning forward breathlessly. But Santa Claus lifted a long wicker basket, with a blue covering, from a bough and gave it to him.

"Handle with care!" he said, gruffly, as Mr. Foster took the basket with some hesitation and went back to Mrs. Moonlight.

"What have you got now?" she asked, bending forward with smiling face.

"Something precious, I should think," he said, as he lifted one corner of the dainty silk covering.

In his astonishment he almost dropped the basket, for the face of a sleeping baby, framed in delicate lace, met his eyes.

"Why, the darling!" said Mrs. Moonlight, as she drew down the quilted silk and soft flannel, and disclosed the little hands clasped over the spotless embroidered robe.

Those nearest peeped, and in two minutes the contents of the basket was telegraphed to the remotest pews.

Mr. Foster was uneasy. Who had played this practical joke upon him? He felt himself the focus of all eyes. The warm blood mantled his face. Mrs. Moonlight pitied his embarrassment.

Santa Claus proceeded more lively than ever, but the interest was divided. "Funny present to a bachelor and woman-hater," said Mrs. Roberts, the milliner, the bill of the robin perched upon her bonnet pointing directly to Mr. Foster.

"Somebody wants to plague him—he's so queer and distant," whispered Stropel, the merchant, to his wife, whose attention was divided between Mr. Foster's present and her own, a silver basket heaped with grapes, frosted cake and oranges in wax work.

"Yes, the child belongs to some one in the church, probably, who will soon claim it," she returned.

"Moses in the bullrushes!" shouted little Seth Bumstead, making a haphazard application of his Sunday-school lesson, as he craned his neck for a view, and subsided with a shamed face as a sly shake by his mother.

Mrs. Moonlight drew the basket under the shelter of her wings. Mr. Foster looked disturbed. He did not even unroll the slippers when they were handed to him.

The tree was empty; the crowd began to move towards the door. But no one claimed the baby.

Foster stood looking helplessly at Mrs. Moonlight.

"I will take care of it to-night; tomorrow we shall see what can be done," she said.

They waited until the last of the crowd were near the door, then passed out and walked down the street. Foster carried the basket, over which Mrs. Moonlight had thrown a warm shawl.

He looked at the sweet little face with a softened, regretful expression, then said good-night and retired from Mrs. Moonlight's sitting-room to his chamber, where a coal fire glowed invitingly in the grate and a soft, shaded lamp-light showed the bright, warm carpet and crimson window drapery.

In dressing-gown and slippers, before the fire, he fell into a reverie. He recalled the happy Christmas night, two years ago, richly freighted with joy and love and hope, when a warm, passionate heart beat close to his and white arms encircled his neck. He would have laughed then at the prophecy of his present desolation. He had been deprived of love, home, happiness. And who was to blame?

There was a low rap at the door. "Mrs. Moonlight about the baby," he thought uneasily, as he opened it.

A tall, stately woman stood there. The light showed a proud, pale, beautiful face, with dark, luminous eyes, now misty with some strong emotion.

"Louise!"

"Wallace!"

She reached both hands towards him. He drew her into the warmth and brightness and shut the door.

The two stood looking into each other's faces. Hers was irresistible in its tenderness—in such contrast to the pride and haughty defiance which had marred its loveliness when he had last seen her a year ago.

"I have come, Wallace, to ask your forgiveness for the past," she said, brokenly.

Another rap interrupted his answer, and Mrs. Moonlight beamed upon them with [illegible] in her arms, his blue eyes open in baby wonder.

"I had not the courage to face you alone," she continued, taking the child in her arms while he stood in speechless wonder, and Mrs. Moonlight retired silently; "so I sent our baby as a Christmas present to prepare the way for his mother."

"Our baby!" he repeated.

"Yes, Wallace. He has your eyes. Look at him now, the darling. I thought of you every time I looked into their innocent depths. Will you not forgive for his sake?"

The frozen fountains of affection in his nature began to melt. His eyes grew misty and tender. He had vowed once he would never forgive her; but who resist that repentant face suffused with the tenderness of motherhood?

He drew both within the shelter of his arms.

"I was willful and unreasonable," she murmured, her head against his breast.

"I was exacting and unforgiving," he answered. "Forgive me, my wife, my only love."

"Does Mrs. Moonlight know all?" he asked, when they were seated side by side before the fire.

"Yes. I came and told her how I had left you in anger and I wanted to return. She urged me try this experiment. I gave baby a harmless sleeping draught to ensure quiet. I was in the church with my face veiled, watching every movement of yours."

"I was hungering for your presence before you came," he confessed; "but I am afraid I should never have taken the first step toward reconciliation."

"Nor should I but for this little peacemaker," she returned, kissing the small mouth.

"It was not the same home I had left, a bride, when I returned to it," she continued; "I missed you, though at first I would not own it to myself. I wanted your love and sympathy."

So on this Christmas night, freighted with so much of joy and hidden sorrow, two out of the many hearts, divided by cruel pride and, misunderstanding, were united by the strongest of human ties, the mutual love for a little child.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs; none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me.

HORACE FAIRBROTHER."

Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,

MRS. EMMA GENNEY."

159 West 128th St., New York, May 26, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried.

A. J. CRANE."

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

JOSEPH WALDEN."

Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles.

E. BRAGDON."

Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

Byron never uttered truer words than when he said, "Physicians mend or end us." But while doctors disagree, all the world has agreed that there is no remedy equal to Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Robert P. Hubbard of Cableskill, N. Y., last Thursday afternoon went into a hardware store in Springfield, Mass., bought a pistol, and immediately shot himself, inflicting a fatal wound. Rum did it.

Ex-Governor English, of Connecticut, who started out in life as a carpenter, is now worth $6,000,000, and is the richest man in his state.

SCIPIO, N. Y., Dec. 1, 1879.

I am the Pastor of the Baptist Church here, and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in many chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them.

REV. E. R. WARREN.

Nellie B. Allen, a Lawrence, Mass., factory girl, says she sent $5.40 to Herbert J. Banton, of Bangor, Me., to see what she could draw in his lottery. She drew one broken collar button, one cheap lead pencil, one tin thimble, an autograph of Mr. Banton, and one copy of the Eastern Argus. She thinks Banton beats Swan, of corn-sheller fame, out of sight.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

Sergeant J. L. Brady, of the marine corps, recently tried by court martial at the Boston navy yard for being drunk while on duty, was acquitted, and has returned to duty.

No other medicine has won for itself such universal approbation in its own city, state, and country, and among all people as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It is the best combination of vegetable blood purifiers, with the Iodide of Potassium and Iron, ever offered to the public.

A Washington correspondent speaks as follows of the congressmen from the first Maine district: "Fat, good-natured 'Tom' Reed, of Maine, is the parliamentary leader of the house. You wouldn't think to look at his three hundred pounds of adipose matter that he could be savage, but on occasions he can worry the democrats more than any one on the republican side. For real aggravation he has a faculty given to few men."

Found Dead.

Last evening a person giving the name of G. R. Thompson registered at Hunt's Hotel and desired to be called in season to take the 12 p. m. train for Chicago, being unable to awaken him, the room was entered by means of the ventilator over the door, when the gentleman was found to be dead. He was advertising agent for Sulphur Bitters, which has an extensive sale. The coroner returned a verdict of death from heart disease. His body will be sent east immediately.—

Sarah Bernhardt on the 18th inst. went to the house of her former friend, Marie Colombier, and gave her a savage beating with a whip, the two women smashing lots of furniture as they pranced around the rooms, one trying to escape and the other pursuing. At the same time the male friends of the two women were indulging in a free fight. The rumpus grew out of a book, "Sarah Barnum," writen by Colombier, in which Miss Bernhardt's reputation is assailed! Any person who would wantonly injure the Bernhardt's character deserves mauling.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is designed to meet the wants of those who need a medicine to build them up, give them an appetite, purify their blood, and oil up the machinery of their bodies. No other article takes hold of the system and hits exactly the spot like Hood's Sarsaparilla. It works like magic, reaching every part of the human body through the blood, giving to all renewed life and energy. $1 a bottle; six for $5.

—Probably the meanest thing that a man ever said was uttered by Fogg. Being asked his idea of the best remedy for polygamy, he promptly replied, "Mrs. Fogg."

—An exchange has an article on the mysteries of vegetable life; but it doesn't tell us how it is that the largest specimens always get on top of the measure that is filled by the licensed vender.

—A few Sundays ago, in a church which had recently been repaired, a venerable clergyman prayed "that this building may stand eternally for many generations to come." Another reverend gentleman wound up a glowing peroration with, "Oh! my dear brethren, the bridge was gulfed—ah—that is, the gulf was bridged!" the pronoun, hurried tones of the explanation completely robbing the climax of its intended effect. Again, a clergyman solemnly enunciated the following pregnant truth: "If these men had been born Hottentots, they'd have been Hottentots still."

The interests of humanity seem to demand the publication of the following facts: Two months ago my attention was called to the case of a poor woman who was said to be afflicted with a cancer. I found her with an ulcer on her shoulder at least five inches in circumference, angry, painful, and giving the patient no rest day or night for six months. I obtained a supply of Swift's Specific, which I persuaded her to try. She has taken five bottles, the result of which is that the ulcer is entirely healed up, nothing remaining but a small scab, not larger than one's finger nail, and her general health is better than for five years past. She seems to be perfectly cured.

An old man of sixty-seven years has been subject to scrofulous sores five years. He had one on his cheek as large as a silver dollar, swollen, raw and constantly exuding very offensive matter. Another on his foot of the same character, and several on his hands, all of about two and a half years standing. His general health was poor, and he could scarcely get about at all. He has taken two bottles of Swift's Specific. The sores are all well, leaving scarcely a vestige of their former existance, and his general health better than it has been in ten years. I consider its effects wonderful—almost miraculous. Rev. Jesse H. Campbell, Columbus, Ga., October 17, 1882.

—An Indiana farmer was visiting a dry goods store in Chicago with his daughter, when she espied the elevator. Turning to him she asked: "What's that, paw?—that thing going up and down, with sofys in it?" The old man gave the elevator a long, calm, deliberate, scrutinizing stare, and exclaimed with joy: "By gosh! it's a telephone! the first I ever see!"

—At a Hebron (Ct.) prayer meeting the pastor became indignant at the apathy of the attendants, called them blockheads, and told them there was no more expression in their faces than in so many wooden heads. They were apathetic no longer, and the expression on their faces got so lively in a few minutes that the preacher had all he could do to bring the exercises to a close.

My Back is now Well.

This is what Mr. Clough of Lowell, Mass., was happy to say after his wife had given him a good rubbing with Perry Davis' Pain Killer, administering a dose inwardly. For four years he had been crippled with rheumatism, and suffered agony in his back. After using Pain Killer, he went to his business with comfort, and is now as well as ever he was.

The dead body of Mr. John F. Rowe of Salisbury was found frozen in a barn on Wednesday afternoon, the 19th inst. For some years he has been in destitute circumstances, and the coroner's jury rendered a verdict that he died from exposure due to his personal neglect.

A healthy body is indispensible to a vigorous mind. A bilious and dyspeptic man, whose blood drags sluggishly in his veins, can neither think clearly nor act wisely. Ayer's Pills will stir up the liver, excite the stomach and bowels to activity, open the pores of the system, renovate the blood, and restore a healthy tenement for the mind.

In the Great Falls police court last Thursday, Peter Morgan of Dover was arraigned for complicity in the stealing of the team of Charles Pray of Rollinsford, recently. He pleaded not guilty, but admitted being in company with Cassidy and Brehany, who are held for trial for the offence. Morgan was committed to the county jail in default of $500 bonds, for trial in the supreme court.

More Murder in Ireland.

The assassin is still busy in Ireland. Patrick Moylan, who recently returned to Ireland from America and rented a vacant farm near Galway from which the tenant had been ejected, was shot dead on the 19th inst. by an unknown assassin. The assassin confronted Moylan with a gun, and shot him in the chest. Moylan fell, when the murderer again aimed at him. Moylan's wife threw herself upon the prostrate form of her husband, when the assassin dragged her off, threatening to kill her. He then fired at the wounded man while he lay upon the ground, killing him. There is no clue to the murderer.

Kerrigan, an "informer," was killed Dec. 19th in Cong, County Mayo, Ireland, during a disturbance.

Our New York Fashion Letter.

BUNCHINGS AND PUFFINGS.

The complexion taken on by newly imported cloaks gives a broad hint of the way we are travelling; a way of puffing and bunching. Dresses are puffed and bunched, and cloaks to be worn over them must take character therefrom. Many are fitted in to the waist, apparently to show off increasing complications below, while skirt-like plaitings and combinations, not only of material but colors, render these new garments dress-like in the extreme. In dresses the chosen field for bunchings and puffings is the upper half of the skirt, and here such fantastic tricks are played as might put the Heathen Chinee to the blush. For slender belies a seasonable refuge, but for the plump causing horrid complications. Bunching in the first degree is an affair of magnitude. The catching up of four or five breadths of train in a single or double pouf at the back is a feature, yet a train is by no means necessary for a bunch. Far from it; and numerous short costumes show puffings on the upper half of skirts, that to say the least result in curiosities of contour. Our sole consolation is that the adoption of these styles is not obligatory. Even the sober-minded, however, are beginning to wonder if their drapery stands out enough in the back, and call in bustles to their aid; the newest and best invention being the Novelty Flexible bustle, which is the most graceful of its kind, and one that does not get out of shape. Ordinary mortals must roast, that the half-clad fashionable may be comfortable. There especially one sees lovely brocaded dolmans, where white or delicate colors vie with red or flaunting yellow. Beauty when divested of them shows occasionally bare shoulders, while bare arms, or arms covered only by kid, are common sights. Flowers are extremely popular, from a glowing bouquet of a dozen or more roses to a delicate spray or bud, while in the manner of wearing there is an equal liberty; some being set high on the shoulders, others at the waist, at the throat, or elsewhere. Heads are in equal diversity. The high coiffure is gaining on the low, but the low is still in high vogue, and shows not the least sign of "going." Yet the high is not very high, characterized rather by moderation; a small coil, a few puffings, etc., set well back from the forehead, while two or three occasional curls may dangle. Only occasional, however, and always short. In a very Tower of Babel diversity reigns. Belles peep forth like Skye terriers, or calmly gaze from serpentine surroundings of croeve coeur locks; the bushiest of bushes stand upright over the foreheads of others, while a few straggling frizzes may form a sole adornment. On a moist day one's own hair may be bound down by an invisible net, or if one has bought a front piece of genuine curled hair, she may fling it to the breeze, assured it will curl all the tighter. At the opera one notices in jewelry that the lace pin is as Babel-like in design as the front piece, and used with an equal lack of rule. It catches the lace which covers a dowager's otherwise bare neck; with the same facility holds in position her granddaughter's shoulder-knot, or draws together the folds of a thousand-dollar shawl. Brooches, though not popular, are placed with the same abandon, while the medallion of yore can be utilized if provided with a pin. Bracelets jingle over long gloves, and gloves are as long as ever. No more can be said, since reaching to the shoulder they can go no higher. But one sees a determination to show a pretty arm, and though one must have a certain stretch of kid, ten or twelve button length, yet beyond that, sufficient expanse is visible to show what might have been but that wrinkled mousquetaire, contrasting illy with a delicate toilette or a rounded arm.

AT THE OPERA

FRONT PIECES

DECEMBER NOTES.

Lace trimmed scarfs of white or pale colored silk muslin are thrown over the head when leaving the opera. Square, full fichus have bands covered with lace and straps of very narrow ribbon tied across the front. Christmas and New Year cards are in as great vogue as ever, and form fine displays in book store windows. Broadway from Fourteenth street to the culminating point of Lord & Taylor's famous bow window at Twentieth, is a blaze of holiday light and beauty. Mme. Judic's costume of Nonpareil velveteen has a basque with pointed plastron of broche; the front of the skirt also of broche velveteen, with panier plaits crossing the sides, and joining a full train caught in a puff at the top.

LUCY CARTER.

—One of the New York critics solemnly says that Ellen Terry's acting is chiefly characterized by a thrilling quality of unexpectedness. Something akin to this has been remarked, we believe, concerning the operation of the business portion of a mule.

—Chewing tobacco is not a good habit, but it has its uses. A prominent physician remarks that he never attends a smallpox patient without putting tobacco in his mouth as a protection against catching the disease. Suppose the tobacco is so much worse than the disease that it bluffs it off.

—A Michigan girl told her young man that she would never marry him until he was worth $10,000. So he started out with a brave heart to make it. "How are you getting on, George?" she asked at the expiration of a couple of months. "Well," George said hopefully, "I have saved $22." The girl dropped her eyelashes and blushingly remarked: "I reckon that's near enough, George."

A CARD.

Having made large additions to our stock of standard goods, we shall sell the same at greatly reduced prices. Having done for eight years a liberal credit business, we now propose to do a liberal cash business. To our regular customers we shall give thirty days, which is all we get, and all that we can afford to give. For our transient customers we have no books. Our store is large and expenses small, and we shall sell our goods at a small margin for cash. The high quality of our goods will be maintained and guaranteed as represented. We do this to protect ourselves from those who expect the grocers to furnish them with the necessaries of life and take their chances for the pay, and in a great many cases, the grocer "gets left." We do not think our customers can find any fault with this way of doing business, which will not only benefit us, but them also. Thanking the public for their generous patronage in the past, we would ask for a continuance of the same.

Respectfully, H. W. OXFORD.

"One Thousand and One Riddles." We have received a handsome little book with the above title, which contains the material for much fun and home amusement in the way of riddles, conundrums, enigmas, and hints for acting charades. If parents desire to have their children amused, and also amuse themselves, they cannot do better than to send for this book. It contains 128 pages, with enameled paper cover, and will be sent by mail, post-paid, to any address, upon receipt of fifteen cents, by J. S. Ogilvie & Co., publishers, No. 31 Rose street, New York.

—The Princeton (Minn.) Union says: "Did it ever occur to the sizzled-souled, investigating whiffler who edits the Duluth News that he is an egregious ass?"

—Exactness may sometimes be carried to excess. We fancy it was so in a recent case, where a disconsolate widower wrote to announce the death of his wife thus; "Her wearied spirit sank to rest at twenty minutes to three—railway time."

—A man makes an awful row if his wife takes his razor to sharpen a lead pencil; but he thinks it is all right, and scoffs at her, if she shrieks her feeble protests when he takes her little embroidery scissors to cut a copper telephone wire. "Don't hurt the scissors at all," he says.

MEDICAL.

WE DO NOT CLAIM

that HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA will cure everything, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we reasonably lead to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

From the annual report of Robert E. Rich, Esq., librarian of the public library, submitted to the board of mayor and aldermen at their meeting on the 20th inst., it appears that the whole number of books in the library on January 1st, 1883, was 2517; added during the year, 2212, making a total of 4729 volumes; lost during the year, five; worn out, eighteen; total now in the library, 4706. Whole number of books taken out during the year, 24,193; largest number given out in one day, 423; average weekly issue at present, 760; number of cards issued since the library was opened, 2536. It will be seen by the above that the usefulness of the library constantly increases, and the public are cordially invited to visit the rooms and see what a need has been supplied by this enterprise.

The treasurer's report shows that during the year a legacy of $1000 and interest has been received from the estate of H. Louise Penhallow, and $100 from the estate of Ellen T. Pickett, the income from both to be used in the purchase of books for the library. These sums are invested as follows: $1000 in seven per cent bonds of the consolidated debt of Erie, Pa., and $100 in six per cent school bonds of Bradford, Pa.

OVERBOARD.

Mr. Patrick Roach tumbled overboard at Sise's wharf, Friday forenoon, but got out with no other injury than a thorough soaking.

Mr. Samuel Webber, a navy yard workman, was in a hurry to land from the steamer James Sampson when she neared the navy landing at the foot of Daniel street on her workmen's trip Friday evening, but stepped either too soon or too short, or both, and disappeared under the water between the steamer and the floating stage, but was soon fished out, fortunately escaping a squeeze between the boat and the stage. He must have had a cold ride to his home, two or three miles out on the Lafayette road.

FIREMEN'S SUPPER.

Kearsarge Engine Co., No. 3, with invited guests, had a supper in the hall of the engine house on Thursday evening last; and after the edibles had been properly attended to, Mr. William S. Hazel, who has for ten years been clerk of the company, was presented with a gold watch and chain, Alderman Sampson, who is foreman of the company, making the presentation speech. The watch is suitably inscribed, and with the chain and attachments is valued at $150. Soon after the close of this pleasant ceremony, Mr. Hazel on behalf of the company presented to Chief Engineer Willard Sears, of the fire department, a fire hat and belt, Mr Sears briefly and suitably responding. A handsome cake, presented to the company by Mrs. W. J. Sampson, not having been broached was presented to the Times reporter. Short speeches and story telling followed, until a late hour.

SHOOTING IN SEABROOK.

On Sunday, the 16th inst., Edwin D. Dow of Seabrook was arrested by Calvin Eaton, a constable of the town, for disturbing the peace while drunk. On Thursday evening, the 20th, there was a dance at Reese Owen's, and Eaton, being a member of the Seabrook band, attended it. On the way home after the dance, about midnight, Eaton met Dow and spoke to him; Dow returned the salute, but as soon as he had passed Eaton, turned and shot him, the bullet entering the left side of his back and lodging in his right lung. Eaton turned and struck Dow with his billy, when Dow fired a second bullet through Eaton's left wrist, and was then knocked down by a second blow from the billy, but regained his feet and ran away, Eaton being too weak to detain him. The wounded man reached the house of George Osburn, where he remained till Friday morning, when he was taken to his home, his injuries being considered fatal.

About half-past twelve o'clock Dow called at the house of Alfred N. Dow, who lives near the scene of the shooting, and asked to be let in, saying he had shot Eaton; being refused admission he went away, saying he would shoot himself rather than go to prison. He had not been arrested up to a late hour on Friday. He is a native of Seabrook, about twenty-eight years old, a shoemaker by trade, and has borne a fair reputation, aside from his drinking habits; he had been on a spree for a week at the time of the shooting. The pistol he used was a five-barrelled revolver, caliber thirty-two, which he sold to Frank Gynan some months ago, and borrowed of Gynan on Thursday evening, saying he wished to shoot a dog.

DAMON LODGE, NO. 9, K. OF P.

Brothers:—You are requested to meet at Pythian Hall, Sunday, Dec. 23d, at 12:30 sharp, to attend the funeral of our late Brother George H. Clark. Dark clothes, white gloves; full attendance requested. Per order, C. C.

Mr. Lewis E. Staples invites ladies and gentlemen who are at a loss what to select for holiday presents, to call at No. 7 Market street.

Samuel E. Allen of Charlestown, Mass., son of Joseph Allen of Newburyport, was killed at Charlestown on the morning of the 19th inst. He was an employe of the Eastern railroad, and had his head crushed by a passing train while looking from the side of a hay car in the freight yard. The car was attached to a locomotive, and was running rapidly at the time. The accident was not discovered until Mr. Allen's body was found lying on the track. The deceased was twenty-three years of age, and was married only two weeks ago; he leaves a widow only eighteen years old. He had been employed on the railroad but a few months, but had been the victim of several accidents during that time.

The Mr. Snow who was on Thursday reported to have fractured his skull by a fall at the junction of Islington and Brewster streets, was James A. Snow, who lives at No. 7 Cornwall street; in falling he struck the kerbstone, and had his head cut above one ear, but was not seriously injured.

Messrs. C. Dwight Hanscom & Co., No. 45 Congress street, (Franklin block,) make a splended display of fancy China, crockery and silver-plated ware, lamps, dinner and tea sets, toilet sets, and similar articles, many of them especially suitable for holiday presents as well as for every-day service. It is a hard-hearted lady who can leave this store without purchasing something, after once getting inside the door.

The barge Guard, which left this port for New London, Conn., on Wednesday, the 12th inst., in tow of the tug Storm King, made a harbor in Vineyard Haven on the 13th, and remained there until the 19th, when she continued her voyage, in tow. The Storm King in the meantime had several good jobs at towing disabled or distressed vessels, and pulled one schooner off a shoal near the Vineyard.

The venerable Increase Sumner Kimball, of Sanford, now rising eighty years of age, and the oldest member of the York County bar, with the exception of Hon. Hiram H. Hobbs of South Berwick, is still in active practice. Mr. Kimball is the only surviving member of Gov. Kent's council of 1841. He is the father of Hon. Sumner I. Kimball, superintendent of the United States life-saving service, to whose well-directed energy it is largely due that that service is the best in the world, and acknowledged to be the most efficient.

Mr. William Bowman of Kittery Point, while at work one day this week on the new hotel in course of construction at York beach, had a narrow escape from serious injury if not from death. He was at work clapboarding, standing on a staging sixty feet from the ground, when the staging gave way and let him down, but he fortunately managed to catch his fingers in a crack of the boarding, and held on until a ladder was reached to him.

At a meeting of the Portsmouth Cavalry, Friday evening, Edward F. Swasey was elected first lieutenant, vice Lieut. John S. Perry, promoted to captain; and Corporal Horace D. Whidden was elected second lieutenant.

The Best Baking Powder.

The best baking powder is made from pure Cream of Tartar, Bicarbonate of Soda, and a small quanity of flour or starch. Frequently other ingredients are used, and serve a purpose in reducing the cost and increasing the profits of the manufacturer.

We give the Government Chemist's analyses of two of the leading baking powders:

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Flour.
Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Carbonate of Ammonia,
Tartaric Acid,
Starch.
Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.
Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

NOTE.—The Tartaric acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.
NEW YORK, Jan'y 17th, 1881.

The above analyses indicate a preference for "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," and our opinion is that it is the better preparation.—Hall's Journal of Health.

BEAUTY SOAP

TO keep the pores open, the oil glands and tubes active, and thus furnish an outlet for impurities in the perspiration and blood which cause humiliating blotches, blackheads, and minor skin blemishes, especially of infants; to cleanse, whiten and beautify the skin, remove tan, freckles, sunburn, and oily matter; to keep the hands soft, white and free from cusps and roughness, prevent contagious skin and scalp diseases, and to provide an exquisite skin beautifier and toilet, bath and nursery sanative redolent with delicious flower odors and CUTICURA healing balsam, use the CUTICURA SOAP. Indorsed by physicians and chemists as absolutely pure and highly medicinal. Sales 1881-2 1,000,000 cakes.

THE HERITAGE OF WOE

Misery, shame and agony often bequeathed as a sole legacy to children by parents, is neither scrofula. To cleanse the blood of this hereditary poison, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the skin of disfiguring humors, itching tortures, humiliating eruptions, and to restore the vigor impaired by it, to purify and beautify the skin, and restore the hair so that no trace of the disease remains, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, diuretic and aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great skin cures and beautifiers, are infallible.

I HAD SALT RHEUM

In the most aggravating form for eight years. No kind of treatment, medicine or doctors did me any permanent good. My friends in Malden know how suffered. When I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES my limbs were so badly bitten under that I could not bear my weight on them with the skin cracking and bleeding, and was obliged to go about on crutches. Used the CUTICURA REMEDIES five months, and was completely and permanently cured.

COPPER-COLORED.

I have been afflicted with troublesome skin disease, covering almost completely the upper part of my body, causing my skin to assume a copper-colored hue. It could be rubbed off like dandruff, and at times became intolerable itching and the most intense suffering. I have used blood purifiers, pills, and other advertised remedies, but experienced no relief until I procured CUTICURA REMEDIES, which, though used carelessly and irregularly, cured me, allaying that terrible itching, and restoring my skin to its natural color. I am willing to make affidavit to the truth of this statement. S. G. BUXTON, Mt'an, Mich.

The libel case of Alivilda Poland vs. George W. Poland of Friendship, Me., for alleged defamation of character, on trial at Rockland, resulted last Thursday in a verdict in favor of the defendant upon all counts. Action was brought by Mrs. Poland against the defendant, her brother-in-law, because of a letter written to her husband charging her with undue intimacy with one Hallett Hamblin. The damages claimed were $5,000. The testimony was of a sensational character, and large crowds were in attendance.

"Mrs. Partington, what do you use for a very bad cold?" asked Mrs. Dull. "Handkerchiefs, ma'am," answered the aged dame, looking over her spectacles. Handkerchiefs are a desideratum in the event of a cold, but a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is a necessity, because it not only relieves, but cures the worst cold or cough.

James Dyer, of Middletown, Ind., has been indicted for burning his two children to death on the night of Feb. 17th. Both were cripples. There are threats of lynching.

A clear head is indicative of good health and regular habits. When the body feels heavy and languid, and the mind works sluggishly, Ayer's Cathartic Pills will wonderfully assist to a recovery of physical buoyancy and mental vigor. The constipated should use them.

Mrs. Henry Hogedorn and her youngest daughter were killed by escaping coal gas at Cleveland, Ohio, on the night of Dec. 18th, and Mr. Hogedorn and two others of his children were nearly asphyxiated.

My Wife Said
to me last night: How much do you suppose we have paid out for doctors and medicine in the last year. I told her I did not know. To doctors I have paid nothing, and five dollars worth of Sulphur Bitters has kept health in our family.—L. Andrews, 12 Bowdoin St., Boston.

A German family named Gall, and six of their boarders, at Bloomington, Ill., are suffering from trichinosis, the effect of eating raw sausage. The condition of three is quite serious.*

Pure blood helps to make a clear conscience. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood. Enough said. Send us a big bottle.

George Freestone, a boarder at the Auburn house, Joliet, Ill., on Wednesday night, the 19th inst., feloniously assaulted Mrs. Jane Haycock, the head cook, and then cut her throat. There are prospects of her recovery. Lynching is threatened.

A World of Good.
One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other Bitters, as it is not a whiskey drink. It is more like the old-fashioned bone-set tea, that has done a world of good. If you dont feel just right, try Hop Bitters.—Nunda News.

Fifty thousand dollars' worth of dimes and $20,000 of nickels are to be coined in San Francisco for distribution throughout California.

Quick, complete cure, all annoying kidney, bladder and urinary diseases. $1. Druggists.

Sherman Mason, a lad aged fifteen years, of Coal Run, Ohio, attempted to blow in his gun on the 19th inst., when it went off, killing him instantly.

Positive Cure for Piles.
To the people of this County we would say we have been given the agency of Dr. Marchisi's Italian Pile Ointment—emphatically guaranteed to Cure or money refunded—internal, external, blind, bleeding or itching piles. Price 50c. a Box. No cure, no pay. For sale by Andrew P. Preston, Druggist.

A son of Congressman Whiting has been fined $57 and costs at Northampton, Mass., for breaking the nose of a young fellow named Osgood; the two young men are students at the Williston seminary at Easthampton.

The Fat Boy in Pickwick
probably had good teeth, seeing that he so speedily demolished the most substantial provender on the shortest notice. Nothing excepting a good appetite so conduces to the pleasure of eating, as a good set of grinders. To possess them, use Sozodont, the great dental invigorator and beautifying agents Yellow, tartar covered teeth grow pearly white, and the gums acquire ruddiness and form a pleasing contrast to the snowy hue of the teeth when it is used.

The Troubles of a Boy.
Poor boy! Down to his grave he is self-willed, disobedient, foolish, slow to learn, hard to manage, born to evil and full of corrections as a proof sheet. He reaches in the fence corner for a blackberry and picks up a "pizen" vine, and so he learns too late that the mine he bought was "salted." He is spanked in the cradle, flogged at school, and scourged all the rest of his life, and still it seems to do him no good. He lives under an unchangeable law of pains and penalties. Incessantly his ears are boxed, to ever "thou shalt not" is appended a threatening "and if you do," and every thundering "thou shalt" is seconded by the terrifying "or you'll wish you had." Inexorable is the master of the school. He can appeal to no board of pardons. No tender-hearted governor, figuring for re-election, overlooks his misdeeds. The administration has no need of him or his influence. Do not keep such late hours, and do not eat hot suppers at midnight. But all the same he does keep late hours and have good times on the sly; poor boy, thinking that if he gets in at roll-call it will never be known. But as he answers to his name the order is entered: "Dock that man's life ten years." Take care of your teeth is a regulation of the school. But, while nobody is looking, the foolish boy lets his teeth take care of themselves. So he is sentenced to lose half his teeth and fined $150, to be paid over to the nearest dentist having jurisdiction. "Do not bite on that broken tooth," comes the command from the head of the table. But the boy tries it just to see what the master will do about it, and instantly he gets such a blow on the jaw that makes him think he has bit on a thunderbolt. It is not a bailable offense, and execution of sentence cannot be postponed until next term of court. "Do not run through that wet grass in your slippers," is shouted to him from the up-stairs window. The instant the window is closed he skips across the lawn, knowing no one can see him, and for this he is collared and led into the house, doubled up with rheumatism for ten years, or perhaps tortured all the rest of his life. He plays lawn-tennis until he steams from every pore. Then he hastens to refresh himself with a glass of clear cold ice water. "If you drink that ice water," says his watchful master, "I will kill you." He believes no one could be so cruel as that, and drinks the ice water. Often the conditions are ripe for the judgment, and the sentence is carried into execution. Sometimes the execution of this sentence is preceded by hours or days of fearful agony, to teach him that these laws are not to be trifled with.—Burdette, in the Enquirer.

No Fits There.
A middle-aged man with one shoulder an inch higher than the other, and having the worst pair of bowlegs seen to pass the City Hall since the corner-stone was laid, entered a clothing store on Michigan avenue yesterday forenoon in search of a fit. After he had tried on parts of thirty or forty different suits, he grew somewhat discouraged and said:

"Do you think you can fit me with anything in stock?"

"Well, I'll keep trying."

"I have already been here over two hours. Before visiting any more time let me say to you that if I had found a fit I was intending to ask you to trust me."

"And I was intending," replied the dealer, "to make you pay cash even before tying up the bundle."

"Then we hadn't better waste further time."

"I think not."

"Very well, sir. If there is anything I despise it is the dealer who consumes my valuable time. I didn't care to buy, anyhow, until the doctors could jack up my shoulder and take a half-twist on these legs."—Detroit Free Press.

The Disadvantages of Extracts.
The chief objection to our system of cookery is the hygienic tendency of the essence-mania, the concentration of nutritive elements. Ours is an age of extracts. We have moral extracts in the shape of Bible-House pamphlets; language extracts in the form of compendious grammars; exercise extracts under the name of gymnastic curriculums; air extracts in the shape of oxygen-bladders, and a vast deal of such food concentrations as Liebig's soup, fruit-jellies, condensed milk, flavoring extracts and branless flour. But, somehow or other, the old plan seems, after all, the best. In the homes of our forefathers morals were taught by example, and with very respectable results. Six years of grammar-drill in a dead language do not further a student as much as six months of conversation in a living tongue—the concrete beats the abstract. Boat-racing, wood-chopping and mountain-climbing, are healthier, as well as more pleasant, than gymnastic crank work; the diverting incidents of out-door sports which the movement cure doctor tries to eliminate are the very things that give interest and life to exercise. And, for some reasons (not so easy to define without the help of such analogies), concentrated nourishment does not agree with the nature of the human organism. The lungs find it easier to get oxygen from woodland air than from a ready-made extract and the stomach, on the whole, prefers to get its nourishment in the form for which its organism was originally adapted. Want of bulk makes our food so indigestible. In fruits and berries—probably the staple diet of our instinct-taught ancestors—the percentage of nutritive elements is rather small, but the residue should not be called worthless, since it serves to make the whole more digestible. A large, ripe watermelon contains about three ounces of saccharine elements, which in that combination have a mildly aperient effect, while in the form of glucose candy they would produce constipation, heart burn and flatulence. The coarsest bran bread is the most digestible, and to the palate of an unprejudiced child also far more attractive than the smooth but chalky and insipid starchy preparations called baker's bread.—Popular Science Monthly.

"What a way to spell fish," said Pat, when he saw the name Psyche on a ship. But a more wonderful spell will be exercised over that coughing child of yours that keeps itself and you awake, if you will try Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

—Neighbors are very considerate in Norway. When a baby is born a placard is nailed up on the door informing the community of the fact. Those who wish to move out of the vicinity are thus enabled to do so in good season.

SCIPIO, N. Y., Dec. 1, 1879.

I am the Pastor of the Baptist Church here, and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in many chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them.

REV. E. R. WARREN.

—"Mary," said a mother to her daughter, "has Henry proposed yet?" "Not yet, ma, but I think he will before many days." "What makes you think so?" "Because he asked me if you expected to live with me if I married, and I told him no."

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

—A young man violently in love with a pretty seamstress, being asked what business he was in, sighed deeply and said, "I am developing a sewing-machine attachment."

Could Not Keep

Shop without them. I consider your Sulphur Bitters a remarkable blood purifier. I know of several people, whose cases were considered hopeless, that have been entirely cured by your medicine. The sale of Sulphur Bitters is so large here that I could not keep shop without them. E. S. Yates, Pharmacist, 99 Essex street, Lawrence, Mass.

—"Wish your hair cut like mine, sir?" glibly asked the red-headed Phenix barber of an innocent-looking customer. "No, I thank you; not that color," was the slowly spoken reply.

Decline of Man.

Nervous weakness, dyspepsia, impotence, sexual debility, cured by "Wells' Health Renewer." $1.

—It seems to be fashionable for young ladies to change their religion to wed the young man of their choice. If your creed is the same as your girl's you'll have to change before you're married, so as to give her a chance to change too. Fashion is king, dear boy.

I would recommend Ely's Cream Balm to anyone having Catarrh or Catarrhal Asthma. I have suffered for the last five years so I could not lie down for weeks at a time. Since I have been using the Balm I can lie down and rest nicely. I thank God that you ever invented such a medicine. Frank P. Burleigh, Farmington, N. H.

For 25 years I have been afflicted with Catarrh so that I have been confined to my room for two months at a time. I have tried all the humbugs in hopes of relief, but with no success until I met with an old friend who had used Ely's Cream Balm and advised me to try it. I procured a bottle and from the first application I found relief. It is the best remedy I have ever tried. W. C. Mathews, Justice of the Peace, Shenandoah, Iowa.

—A real estate dealer at Spirit Lake, Iowa, has given up the business, saying that a man cannot be a successful land speculator and a Christian at the same time. His conclusion was a wise one, but the surprise is that he chose to give up the real estate business.

A GOOD INVESTMENT. — One of our prominent business men said to us the other day: "In the spring my wife got all run down and could not eat anything; passing your store I saw a pile of Hood's Sarsaparilla in the window, and I got a bottle. After she had taken it a week she had a rousing appetite, and did her everything. She took three bottles, and it was the best three dollars I ever invested." C. L. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

—A young man out of Wanpun, Wis., organized an accordian corps. At last accounts he was still half a mile ahead of the inhabitants, but things looked quite encouraging, as he was very much out of breath.

Athens, Ga., Nov. 6, 1883.—I am averse on general principals to saying anything commendatory of proprietary articles, but there are a few on the market that force those of the profession who come in contact with the diseased and suffering to acknowledge their superiority. Among those I find Swift's Specific to rank high. One poor unfortunate requests me to tell you that he had long been a sufferer with terrible blood taint, and securing little if any relief from other treatment, finally resorted to Swift's Specific. He claims now that it has afforded him relief, that he feels that his blood is pure again and wishes me to express his deep obligations, with which I cheerfully comply. Yours respectfully, Joseph Jocobs, Druggist.

Aaron Tibbets, a farmer of Berwick, after dinner on Saturday last went to his barn, procured a rope from the basement, and hanged himself from a beam. He had been dead about an hour when found. He had been suffering from a brain trouble some time. He was formerly a Methodist minister, and leaves a widow and three children.

The West Shore railroad company discharged 600 men at Buffalo, N. Y., on Thursday, and between 1,000 and 1,200 more near Syracuse on the western division. The Night After Christmas.

'Twas the night after Christmas; the boys were awake,
After stuffing with turkey, and pudding, and cake,
And doughnuts, and oysters, and plums, and mince pies,
There were moanings and groanings and piteous cries:
"O my stomach!" "O Moses!" "O help!" "I shall die!"
"How I wish that I hadn't had half as much pie!"
"O mother!" "Come, hurry!" "O what shall I do?"
"Bring something to cure me!" "Boo-hoo!" said "Boo-hoo!"
And mother, alarmed by the racket and noise,
Ran in to see what she could do for the boys.
Perry Davis's Pain Killer she brought for relief,
And soon made an end of their noise and their grief;
And then there was quiet and joy in the house,
And each of the lads was as still as a mouse.

Letter from a Well-known New York Auctioneer.

New York, May 18th, 1883.

I have been troubled with an Irritation of the Throat and a Cough for some time. I am also a martyr to Dyspepsia. By the advice of a very learned physician I applied two Allcock's Porous Plasters to my chest, and on the pit of my stomach. In three days my cough was cured and my throat was well. I have now worn the Plasters two weeks, and my appetite and digestion have much improved. I am confident that in another week my Dyspepsia will be entirely removed. I have never used so pleasant and agreeable a remedy in my life.

THOS. MATHEWS.

"Allcock's" is the only genuine Porous Plaster; all other so-called Porous Plasters are imitations.

If the democratic statesmen at Washington have such protracted trouble in properly dividing the committee positions and distributing the patronage incident to a majority in the house of representatives, what agonizing throes the country would have to endure if a democratic president should be chosen in 1884, the civil service law utterly ignored, and the long-deferred scramble for the spoils which the grand old party is impatient to see, become inaugurated.

Receiver Price has filed a bill in equity against the directors of the Pacific bank in Boston, the allegations going to show that that rotton institution was one of the most outrageous swindles that ever existed. Frederick J. Chick, at one time the cashier, was a defaulter to the amount of $100,000 previous to 1881, but the fact was concealed by Abner I. Benyon, the president; the next cashier took his place without giving bonds, and he aided Benyon's schemes right along. Hundreds of thousands of dollars were loaned to Theodore C. Weeks, Stewart & Horne, and others, on securities of little or no value, and most of it was lost. It is a sickening story of fraud and swindling, from first to last.

The Light of the Future.

It will not be electrical illumination, say the scientists. That involves too much cost. Electricity is developed by violence; that is, by waste and disturbance of atoms of matter, which is necessarily expensive. For sensational uses, for spectacles, for the lighting of city squares, streets and parks, where expense is a minor consideration, the electrical light will, of course, be employed; but the great mass of the community will never be able to use this costly illuminator to banish the darkness from their humble dwellings. Nature has been searched to find how light can be generated under the cheapest conditions, and the glow-worm has been hit upon as furnishing a hint for the cheap but effective domestic light of the future. The various insects which emit flashes of light, in the dark, do so with an exceedingly small expenditure of mechanical force. It has been suggested that curtains, wall paper, and the coverings of furniture could be so prepared, that, by a slight disturbance of the air, they would emit a steady but mellow light at a cos tof far less than a candle or kerosene lamp. Scientific men are now at work on this problem, and if it should be successfully solved, it would be a very great benefit to the poor of all nations.—Democrat's.

Are Rejected Girls.

A writer in Harper's Magazine says: No one will dispute the assertion that any given girl may some day have herself and her family to support, and yet our schemes of education for girls are framed precisely as if this was not and could not be true. As a rule, no provision is made for such a contingency in the education of girls; and no recognition is given to the fact that the chance exists. We shut our eyes to the danger; we hope that it will never come, and we put the thought of it away from us. In brief, we trust to luck, and that is a most unwise—I was about to say idiotic—thing to do.

Each one of us has known women to whom the mischance has happened, and each one of us knows that it might happen to the daughter whom we tenderly cherish, yet we put no arms in her hands with which to fight this danger; we equip her for every need except the sorest of all needs; we leave her at the mercy of chance, knowing that the time may come when she whom we have never taught to do any bread-winning work will have need of bread, and will know no way in which to get it except through dependency, beggary or worse. She can teach? Yes, if she can find some politician to secure an appointment for her. She can prick back poverty with the point of a needle? Yes, at the rate of 75 cents a week, or, if she is a skillful needlewoman, at twice or thrice that pittance.

No Mystery to Him.

A stabbed farmer, who had come to market with a load of potatoes, entered a restaurant near the Central Market and called for a dozen oysters on the half-shell. A couple of jokers happened to be in the place, and while one attracted the farmer's attention for a moment, the other dropped a bullet into one of the oyster shells. The man gulped down one after another until he got the one with the bullet in his mouth. Calmly and quietly he bit at the lead with his teeth—calmly and quietly he removed it from his mouth and turned to the light.

"By George! but it's a bullet!" cried one of the men.

"Probably shot into the oyster to kill him," added the other.

"Well, that is a mystery!" said the man behind the counter.

"Gentlemen, that is no mystery to me," replied the farmer, as he deposited the ball in his vest pocket. "At the battle of Fair Oaks, over twenty years ago, I was hit in the leg by that very bullet. It's been a long time working up, but she's here at last, and I'll have it hung to my watch chain if it costs $5."—Detroit Free Press.

In a recent speech at Liverpool a member of Parliament, advocating the emigration of pauper children, said that 95 per cent. of those sent to Canada by the Sheltering Home were known to be doing well. The sending them had cost $75 a head, while the cost of pauper children at home was $600 a head.

"Twenty Poems from Longfellow, illustrated from paintings by his son, Ernest W. Longfellow." Boston; Houghton, Mifflin & Co.; price $4.00.

This is one of the most elegantly-produced publications of the season. The portrait of the poet is from an oil painting by his son. The illustrations are engraved by leading artists from paintings, the whole, with its rare text, making one of the most attractive gifts for this happy season.

Sold by all booksellers, and sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of price by the publishers.

A CARD.

Having made large additions to our stock of standard goods, we shall sell the same at greatly reduced prices. Having done for eight years a liberal credit business, we now propose to do a liberal cash business. To our regular customers we shall give thirty days, which is all we get, and all that we can afford to give. For our transient customers we have no books. Our store is large and expenses small, and we shall sell our goods at a small margin for cash. The high quality of our goods will be maintained and guaranteed as represented. We do this to protect ourselves from those who expect the grocers to furnish them with the necessaries of life and take their chances for the pay, and in a great many cases, the grocer "gets left." We do not think our customers can find any fault with this way of doing business, which will not only benefit us, but them also. Thanking the public for their generous patronage in the past, we would ask for a continuance of the same.

Respectfully, H. W. OXFORD.

MEDICAL.

SCROFULA.

A remedy that can destroy the germs of scrofula, and so cure settled has the power to root it out, must be appreciated by those afflicted. The remarkable cures of young children and the more wonderful cures of those of middle age and late in life, as illustrated by our printed testimonials, prove HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA to be a reliable remedy, containing remedial agents which do positively cure scrofula and eradicate it from the blood.

WARNER, N. H., Jan. 21, 1879.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.: Gentlemen—For ten years previous to the early part of 1877 I had been a constant sufferer from scrofulous ulcers or sores, which had finally reduced me to a helpless condition, as described in my letter to you in September of that year. The continued excellent health which enables me to keep house for my aged father and to enjoy life, keeps alive my intense personal interest in HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, and I cannot refrain from expressing my gratitude for the permanent cure this wonderful medicine effected in my case nearly two years ago, while living in Lowell, when all my physicians gave me up as being in an incurable condition. One thing before I retire. I have recommended your Sarsaparilla to hundreds, and I think more than a thousand cases, and my faith in it is brilliant. I cannot refrain from expressing my gratitude for the permanent cure this wonderful medicine effected in my case nearly two years ago, while living in Lowell, when all my physicians gave me up as being in an incurable condition. One thing before I retire. I have recommended your Sarsaparilla to hundreds, and I think more than a thousand cases, and my faith in it is brilliant. I cannot refrain from expressing my gratitude for the wonderful cures it has effected aside from my own. I trust you will not fail to keep making the fame of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA known everywhere, for it is a duty you owe to mankind. With best wishes I remain very truly yours,

SARAH C. WHITTIEF

THE WEATHER.

U. S. SIGNAL OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
December 24, 12:00 A. M.

Probabilities for New England:—Warmer cloudy weather with snow, variable winds, falling barometer followed Monday night by rising barometer and northwesterly winds.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 8 degrees above zero.

Snowing.

A COLD SNAP.

There was no nonsense about the weather on Sunday morning. It was cold. After the whirlwind of Saturday there came "a still, small voice." It was the words of the Frost King, saying to housekeepers "I shall be there in the morning, and you had better see to your hydraulics, and turn off what little water the Aqueduct company may dribble out, at my arrival."

In the morning air of Sunday there was nothing close or confined. It was as pure and sparkling as champagne,—we mean, of course, a pure article of the latter. In fact, the mercury was at ten or fifteen below zero. The bakers' horses made the best time of the season as they coursed through the streets. The milkmen drove 'round rather as venders of ice-cream than of pure milk. Their horses were white with frost, and exhaled clouds of visible breath. An occasional morning imbiber went forth for his brandy and soda, or a householder sallied forth in quest of beans and brown bread, but there was a general disposition to enjoy the morning nap.

As the day grew apace the demands of appetite overcame the inclination to repose, and people came down stairs with the remark that it was a "cold morning." Literature was hunted up, and many staid at home from church. Not even the drummers at the hotels were seen at places of public worship. Ladies who had plenty of fine clothing came out with a peach bloom on their cheeks, of an unmistakably genuine hue; but the streets were not crowded with worshippers. Indeed, in spite of the sunny skies, the approach of Christmas, the fine air, and the sacred day, there was an inclination to worship at private altars, to witness incense burned in parlor grates, to sit beside one's fireside or furnace-flue as the case may have been, and to be devoutly thankful rather that coal was six dollars per ton net weight, without the driver sitting on the cart, than for the bright, clear, sparkling weather of the day, which was so free from malaria and unwholesome plagues.

As the sun arose higher in the heavens thermometers were watched, and we congratulated ourselves how much warmer it was by the salt sea than in the valley of the Merrimack or in the frigid regions of Franconia, and were inclined to pity our neighbors at Concord almost as much as we do during a heated term in midsummer.

THE WEEK OF PRAYER.

The following are the topics suggested by the Evangelical Alliance for the week of prayer, which commences on Monday, Jan. 7th, 1884, and ends on Saturday, Jan. 12th:

Monday, 7th, "Praise and Thanksgiving." Ps. ciii: 1-5; Joshua xxiii: 14.

Tuesday, 8th, "Humiliation and Confession." Neh. i: 6, 7; Luke xviii: 13, 14.

Wednesday, 9th, "Prayer for Families and Instructors of Youth (including Christian Associations and Sunday Schools.)" II Tim. i: 5; iii: 17; Gen. xviii: 17-19.

Thursday, 10th, "Prayer for the Church of Christ (including the Ministry and Candidates for the office.)" John xvii: 20, 21; Gal. iii: 26-28.

Friday, 11th, "Prayer for the Nations." Isa. ii: 2-4; Zech. viii: 20-23; Eph. ii: 11-22.

Saturday, 12th, "Prayer for Missions, Home and Foreign." Matt. xxviii: 16-20; Acts xiii: 1-3; Gal. i: 1-3, 15-17, 22-24.

A GOOD LOAD.

The British schooner Glenera, Gilchrist master, which arrived at this port on Friday of last week from St. John, N. B., brought 721 thousand cedar shingles, five thousand feet of pine boards, 100,000 laths, and 19,840 feet of spruce boards, planks and scantling to T. E. Call & Son. This lumber is from Maine forests, and exported as such from St. John under the laws of the United States, which admits it free from duty under the regulations prescribed by the secretary of the treasury. The cargo is valued at about twenty thousand dollars.

NEW G. A. R. POST.

Post No. 99, G. A. R., Department of Maine, was instituted at Kittery on Friday evening, Dec. 21st, by Department Commander E. M. Shaw, assisted by Thomas Tyrie, past post commander, D. Horace Holman, assistant adjutant general, and Benjamin F. Beals, assistant quartermaster general. The following are the officers of the new post:

Charles Chickering, commander;
Moses D. Moore, senior vice commander;
Henry W. Taylor, surgeon;
Rev. Perry Chandler, chaplain;
Calvin L. Hayes, adjutant;
Wm. M. Otis, quartermaster;
Nicholas E. Spinney, officer of the day;
William K. Stiles, officer of the guard;
L. L. Goodrich, sergeant major;
Samuel Taylor, quartermaster sergeant.

Thirty-four comrades were mustered in, and about thirty others await the next meeting.

The adoption of a name for the post was laid over, as that selected, "Chamberlain," in honor of Gen. J. L. Chamberlain, had been previously taken by another post in the state.

The office of junior vice commander will be filled by Capt. Amos G. Goodwin, as soon as his transfer papers from Sheridan Post of Biddeford can be procured.

THE "WHITE SLAVE."

Tickets for the "White Slave," to be performed at Music hall on Thursday evening by the Boston Theatre Co., are now on sale at Goodrich's. Messrs. Tompkins & Hill always have good audiences here, because they always fulfill the promise of their advertisements. This play, which is of the sensational spectacle order, was given here by this company last season, to the great satisfaction of a big house.

GOSSIPS SAY

That a countryman came near losing his hand by fooling with a planing machine at Mason's mill one day last week.

That as it was his glove was torn from his hand, and his fingers badly lacerated.

That there are nearly fifty cases of measles in the city.

That the first stage line in America was started one hundred years ago this month.

That in 1779 there was a complete line from this city to Savannah, Georgia, Portsmouth at that time being the eastern terminus.

That a white bonnet at the opera now marks the wearer as a country cousin.

That there are less Christmas window displays in our stores this year than formerly, but purchasers seem numerous as ever.

That the collections in this customs district for the last fiscal year amounted to $63,000.

That a coal merchant of this city is contemplating the building of an elegant residence.

That Lamprey's dancing school closed on Friday evening last.

That the mail bags to and from this city last week were teeming with packages of remembrances of Christmas.

That the sunset of Thursday last was the most luminous of all the brilliant sunsets we have had during the past six weeks.

That a new organ has just been put in Rev. Mr. DeNormandie's church at Roxbury, Mass.

Saturday, Dec. 22d, was Forefather's Day, the anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth, Mass., Dec. 22d, 1620.

Sunday morning was really cold. The thermometer indicated nine degrees below zero at the CHRONICLE office, and ten degrees below at Mr. Priest's place of business on Market square, just before sunrise; fifteen degrees below was reported from the vicinity of the south millbridge, and nineteen degrees below at the Creek.

A skating rink is to be run in J. B. Trefethen's hall at Kittery Foreside every Tuesday and Friday evening during the winter; the opening takes place on Tuesday afternoon of this week, (Christmas,) the rink being also open in the evening on that date.

The man who predicted an open winter bought a first-class ulster of Myers & Co. on Saturday, and as he passed into church Sunday morning wearing his new garment, he was heard to remark, "Quite seasonable weather for the time of year we're having."

The huge three-masted schooner Emma F. Angell, lying at the "cowpens," was coppered on her light waterline on Saturday last, under the supervision of Mr. Jesse N. Wilson.

Read O. M. Knight's advertisement, "silk-fringed Christmas cards given away," in this morning's paper.

A milkman from Newington on Sunday morning reported the thermometer to have been standing at twenty degrees below zero when he started on his route.

In the United States circuit court at Boston, Saturday morning, in the case of Marcus P. Norton and others vs. city of Boston, to recover $400,000 for alleged infringement on the alleged Knibbs patent valve for steam engines, the jury brought in a verdict for the city. This was exactly the same case that was tried in Portsmouth some months ago, when all the New Hampshire cities combined to defend the case Norton vs. city of Dover, and the jury brought in a verdict for that city, which was followed by Norton's counsel withdrawing his suits and his claims against the other cities in this state. It would seem to the non-professional mind that when the case had had an exhaustive trial, which resulted in the overthrow of Norton's pretensions, that this should have ended the matter; but it seems that such is not the case. Great is the law, and past all understanding. And the greatest puzzle is, where does Norton's profit come in?

The department of construction and repair at this navy yard shut down on Saturday for three days, owing to lack of funds.

The Government Chemist Analyzes two of the Leading Baking Powders, and what he finds them made of.

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Flour

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Carbonate of Ammonia
Tartaric Acid
Starch

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

Note.—The Tartaric Acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.

NEW YORK, JAN'Y 17TH, 1881.

The above shows conclusively that "Cleveland's Superior" is a strictly pure Cream of Tartar Baking Powder. It has also been analyzed by Professor Johnson of Yale College; Dr. Genth of the University of Pennsylvania; President Morton of the Stevens Institute; Wm. M. Habirshaw, F. C. S., Analyst for the Chemical Trade of New York, and other eminent chemists, all of whom pronounce it absolutely pure and healthful.

THE HERITAGE OF WOE

Misery, shame and agony often bequeathed as a fatal legacy to children by parents in neglected scrofula. To cleanse the blood of this hereditary poison, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the skin of all disfiguring humors, itching tortures, humiliating eruptions, and loathesome sores caused by it, to purify and beautify the skin, and restore the hair and that no trace of the disease remains, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, diuretic and aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great skin cures and beautifiers, are infallible.

I HAD SALT RHEUM

In the most aggravating form for eight years. No kind of treatment, medicine or doctors did me any permanent good. My friends in Malden know how I suffered. When I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES my limbs were covered the upper part of my body, causing my skin to assume a copper-colored hue. It could be rubbed off like dandruff, and at times causing intolerable itching and the most intense suffering. I have used blood purifiers, pills, and other advertised remedies, but experienced no relief until I commenced using CUTICURA REMEDIES, which, though used carelessly and irregularly, cured me, allaying that terrible itching, and restoring my skin to its natural color. I am willing to make affidavit to the truth of this statement. S. G. BUXTON, Mayor, Mich.

One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. How She Reformed Him.

A well-known Santa Fe business man had a fine business and was making money rapidly, but was an inveterate gambler. Every night would find him away from his wife at the faro table. The quick-witted woman saw where the trouble was, and one night after supper she asked her husband to go with her into another room. There was a faro table, a layout, and stacks of chips.

"Now," said she, "I have $10,000 belonging to me in my own right. When you want to gamble come here."

He was thunderstruck, and swore he would never gamble again.

"No," said she, "I don't want that promise. You can afford to lose very little money. What I have you can win. I want you to promise me that you will never play faro except here."

He promised; and that faro layout has been used for the last five months. With what she has won from him, dealing herself, she has paid $450 for a buggy and built a pretty little cottage which cost a little over $1,000.

"I told her to put the whole arrangement in her trunk last week," said the reclaimed gambler, "that I was tired of gambling. I shall never touch another card."

The correspondent happened to look into a gambling room the other night, a few hours after he had heard this story. There was a big game of faro going on, and at one corner of the table, his face flushed with the gambling excitement, betting his chips and losing steadily, sat the man whom his wife thought he had reformed.—Albuquerque Journal.

Close Senators.

Indeed very few congressmen "entertain" in the sense in which the term is used. David Davis, who was six years in the senate and fifteen years on the supreme bench, always lived at a second-class hotel and saved money on his salary. He is several times a millionaire, and for many years before he left Washington he had no family. He was beyond doubt considering his great wealth, the closest man ever in public life. He would dispute with the woman at the pie-stand in the hall of the senate over the price of an apple. During the last session of his presidency of the senate, however, he branched out a little, and every Saturday night had a big dinner at Welcker's. How he must have groaned in secret over this great expenditure! Another very close man in the senate was poor, great big, baby-natured, sweet-tempered McCreary, of Kentucky, now dead. He lived in the cheapest place he could find in Georgetown, three or four miles distant from the capitol, and had a pass on the street-cars. On the occasion of a late session of the senate, when the street-cars had stopped, he would walk the five distance in any time between 12 o'clock to daybreak, no matter how the weather was, rather than pay 50 cents for a carriage. For luncheon he would eat a stick of candy, unless some one asked him to join in something more substantial in the senate restaurant. At such time his appetite was most healthy.—Washington Cor. Philadelphia Press.

Our Young Hero.

Some years ago a gentleman from White county, Illinois, was returning from New York city to his home.

While on an Ohio river steamer one evening quite a number of the passengers were seated around the cabin stove as it was in the winter time. They were, as is usually the custom on such occasions, telling of personal adventures with the Indians and elsewhere. Among the number was a young man who had been almost impatiently waiting his "turn" to tell his exploits. The eventful time had come and he began thus:

"Iwas down in Florida some years ago during the time when the Indians were so troublesome and scalped and killed so many of the settlers. We were getting tired of it. So we formed a company of about fifty men, some of us quite young, however. We made an attack on a band of Indians about twice our number near the head waters of the Kissinee river. After considerable bushwhacking they began to get the best of our men, and one by one they fell till I seeing no possible hope, turned and ran, and after some difficulty made good my escape. When I got back to the settlement I found that I was the only man that had lived to tell the dreadful story, all else being killed."

At this period the passengers expressed considerable surprise. To strengthen it the narrator said:

"That was one of the times you read about, too."

One of the listeners, a man perhaps fifty years of age, was sitting opposite the hero, with his hat pulled down over his eyes. After the young man had finished the old man gave a yawn, and remarked:

"Yes, this is solid truth. I know it to be a fact, for I was there myself."

"Well," said an attentive listener, "but he says every man was killed but himself. So how can that be?"

"Oh! that is easy enough. Why, I was killed, myself," replied the old man.

Upon this unexpected remark the young narrator sprang to his feet very much excited, at the same time eyeing the intruder sternly and saying:

"I hope you don't think I am lying?"

"Oh, no, certainly not," replied the aged man, "and I hope you don't think I am."

This remark settled our young hero: he left the cabin to be heard no more in exploits.

In his recently-published book on "Farm Fences," Professor Scott estimates that $5 is invested in fences for every acre of enclosed land in Great Britain and Ireland, and that the annual maintenance of fences costs about 65 cents an acre. The total capital thus invested in the United Kingdom must be, at this rate, nearly $250,000,000, and the annual outlay about $32,000,000. Professor Scott believes that a great deal of fencing might be dispensed with to the positive advantage of agriculture, and that the general introduction of wire instead of wood would effect a great additional saving.

A GREAT SUCCESS

☞ The best family pill made—Hawley's Stomach and Liver Pills. 25c. Pleasant in action and easy to take.

AYER'S PILLS.

A large proportion of the diseases which cause human suffering result from derangement of the stomach, bowels, and liver. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS act directly upon these organs, and are especially designed to cure the diseases caused by their derangement, including Constipation, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, Dysentery, and a host of other ailments, for all of which they are a safe, sure, prompt, and pleasant remedy. The extensive use of these PILLS by eminent physicians in regular practice, shows unmistakably the estimation in which they are held by the medical profession.

These PILLS are compounded of vegetable substances only, and are absolutely free from calomel or any other injurious ingredient.

A Sufferer from Headache writes:

"AYER'S PILLS are invaluable to me, and are my constant companion. I have been a severe sufferer from Headache, and your PILLS are the only thing I could look for relief. One dose will quickly move my bowels and free my head from pain. They are the most effective and the easiest physic I have ever found. It is a pleasure to me to speak in their praise, and I always do so when occasion offers.

W. L. PAGE, of W. L. Page & Bro.," Franklin St., Richmond, Va., June 3, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S PILLS in numberless instances as recommended by you, and have never known them to fail to accomplish the desired result. We constantly keep them on hand at our home, and prize them as a pleasant, safe, and reliable family medicine. FOR DYSPEPSIA they are invaluable.

J. T. HAYES."

Mexia, Texas, June 17, 1882.

The REV. FRANCIS B. HARLOWE, writing from Atlanta, Ga., says: "For some years past I have been subject to constipation, from which, in spite of the use of medicines of various kinds, I suffered increasing inconvenience, until some months ago I began taking AYER'S PILLS. They have entirely corrected the costive habit, and have vastly improved my general health."

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS correct irregularities of the bowels, stimulate the appetite and digestion, and by their prompt and thorough action give tone and vigor to the whole physical economy.

"Can you tell me what sort of weather we may expect next month?" wrote a farmer to the editor of his country paper, and the editor replied as follows: "It is my belief that the weather next month will be very like your subscription bill." The farmer wondered for an hour what the editor was driving at, when he happened to think of the word "unsettled." He sent a postal note.

"Why, what are you putting that on my feet for," asked a man with a heavy cold. "Why, to draw the cold out of your head," answered the nurse. "The deuce you say. I would rather have it stay where it is than be drawn the whole length of my body." At any rate there is a more pleasant method than that, go and get me a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

SCIPIO, N. Y., Dec. 1, 1879.

I am the Pastor of the Baptist Church here, and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in many chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them.

REV. E. R. WARREN.

Mlle. Colombier, whom Sarah Bernhardt has just horsewhipped, is the pudgy person who played in Bernhardt's company during the American tour, and who stood sponsor for a book on America which was understood to have been written by a smart Frenchman, probably Miss Colombier's "friend," M. Soudan, who accompanied the Bernhardt expedition.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

The Jewish school and synagogue in Galata, a suburb of Constantinople, were destroyed by fire Sunday; fifteen students were burned to death.

Decline of Man.

Nervous weakness, dyspepsia, impotence, sexual debility, cured by "Wells' Health Renewer." $1.

William J. Hutchings, of Meriden, Conn., butcher, has been missing since Dec. 20th, when he started for New Haven on business. His wife fears foul play. His creditors, to whom are due between $5,000 and $10,000, say that he has ran away with his pockets lined with money fraudulently obtained, to avoid paying debts.

Humor in the Stomach.

Much of the distress and sickness attributed to dyspepsia, chronic diarrhœa and other causes is occasioned by humor in the stomach. Several cases, with all the characteristics of these complaints, have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Other cures effected by this medicine are so wonderful that the simplest statement of them affords the best proof that it combines rare curative agents and when once used secures the confidence of the people.

Henry Probst shot and seriously wounded Mary Hammer at the Wilderman station coal mines, on the Cairo Short Line road, near Belleville, Ill., Thursday, because she refused to marry him. Then he fled to Belleville, where he was arrested. While in the grasp of and struggling with a deputy sheriff he attempted to shoot the officer over his shoulder, but the ball entered his own neck, killing him almost instantly.

"Words fail to express my gratitude," says Mr. Selby Carter, Nashville, Tenn., "for the benefits derived from Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Having been afflicted all my life with scrofula, my system seemed saturated with it. It came out in blotches, ulcers, and mattery sores, all over my body." Mr. Carter states that he was entirely cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and since discontinuing its use, eight months ago, has had no return of the scrofulous symptoms.

The negro "Big Ike" who while attempting to rob the bank at Durango, Colorado, shot dead Bruce Hunt, son of Ex-Gov. Hunt, died in the jail at that place from injuries received in jumping headlong from a forty-foot embankment to avoid being captured. Just before he died he made a confession implicating four others, who are all under arrest.

Mother Swan's Worm Syrup.

Entrance to Warerooms 48 Canal Street, opposite Maine Depot, Boston.

The next term of the supreme judicial court of Maine for York county will commence at Saco on Wednesday, Jan. 2d, at which time resolutions will be presented expressive of the feelings of the court and bar on the death of Hon. Caleb R. Ayer, long one of its distinguished members; and addresses appropriate to the occasion will be made by Hon. Ira T. Drew, Judge Rufus P. Tapley, Hon. John M. Goodwin, Hon. Joseph Dane of Kennebunk, and others. The cases of Oscar E. Blaney and Mrs. Barrows will be presented to the grand jury by County Attorney F. M. Higgins of Limerick; and if they are indicted, and stand trial, the intense interest felt in the case will cause the attendance of many people from Kittery, and quite a number from Portsmouth. There is expectation in some quarters that Blaney will plead guilty, but it is thought Mrs. Barrows will contend to the end.

The Night After Christmas.

'Twas the night after Christmas; the boys were awake,
After stuffing with turkey, and pudding, and cake,
And doughnuts, and oysters, and plums, and mince pies,
There were moanings and groanings and piteous cries:
"O my stomach!" "O Moses!" "O help!" "I shall die!"
"How I wish that I hadn't had half as much pie!"
"O mother!" "Come, hurry!" "O what shall I do?"
"Bring something to cure me!" "Boo-hoo" and "Boo-hoo!"
And mother, alarmed by the racket and noise,
Ran in to see what she could do for the boys.
Perry Davis's Pain Killer she brought for relief,
And soon made an end of their noise and their grief;
And then there was quiet and joy in the house,
And each of the lads was as still as a mouse.

Sontay was captured by the French on the 17th inst., the citadel having been evacuated by the Black Flags, Anamese and Chinese during the previous night. The French were engaged in attacking the place all day on the 16th, and at six o'clock in the evening stormed and captured the outworks. The French loss was one officer and fourteen men killed, and five officers and sixty men wounded.

The untidy, dirty appearance of a grizzly beard should never be allowed. Buckingham's Dye for the Whiskers will readily change their color to a brown or black, at discretion, and thus keep up your reputation for neatness and good looks.

An order has been issued putting all of the coast survey vessels out of commission after Jan. 1st, with the exception of four on the Atlantic coast and two on the Pacific. This is done on account of the lack of funds.

The Finest and Best

Whiskey which can be produced is the "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon." It has maintained its reputation for years. All Druggists and Grocers sell it.

Humbug and Civil Service Reform.

In view of the "clean sweep" made by the republican United States senate, the Boston Advertiser, republican, advises its republican friends to "shut up" trying to make excuses for their inconsistency, so far as civil service reform is concerned. The republican advocacy of such reform, as Senator Beck said, is "humbug."—Times.

How about the democratic "advocacy of such reform?" When Mr. Palmer was a candidate for mayor of Boston he was a tearing old civil service reformer; as soon as he became mayor of Boston he bent his energies to the turning out of every republican official that could be reached, to make room for democratic partisans. And even before the "republican United States senate" had turned out the old democratic officials, the "democratic house" had made a "clean sweep" of their premises, and left only democrats in office there.

There is certainly some humbug in the republican advocacy of civil service reform; there is much more of humbug in the democratic advocacy of such reform; and there is a vast amount of humbug among the simon pure civil service reformers themselves. "All that glisters is not gold."

Don't Like Secret Societies.

A convention of anti-secret society men met in Philadelphia last week. One of the speakers, Rev. J. P. Stoddard, complained that the power of secret societies was fast becoming greater than that of the Christian church. There were 542,072 Freemasons in the United States, and 867 degrees. He said that it was well understood that in the army the soldiers who were Masons were granted all the favors; and he charged that Andrew Johnson, being a Freemason, permitted Jefferson Davis to go free because he was a Mason. Since then, the speaker said, Davis came within one vote of receiving a pension. Johnson trampled upon the oath he had sworn to the Republic, and obeyed the oath he had taken in Masonry.

Another anti-society brother, Rev. Mr. Stevenson, from the convention's committee on resolutions, reported a series from which we take the following:

Resolved, That all secret organizations are links of one and the same chain; that the Masonic lodge is the parent source from which all similar modern organizations have emanated, and that that lodge is now in active operation in every city and considerable village in the country, swaying our parties and churches, filling our offices, secular and divine, with its partisans, shaping our political destinies, and teaching a spurious and corrupting morality subversive both of the Christian religion and free institutions.

Resolved, That in the so-called Grand Army of the Republic we recognize an insidious, dangerous and useless form of secret organization, which is better fitted for keeping alive and glorifying the memories of war than for advancing those interests of peace on which all just war is based.

We are willing to bet that the Revs. Stoddard and Stevenson, and the other participants in the convention, do not know enough of Masonry to enable them to pass the most careless tyler; and that were they to attempt entering a Grand Army post meeting, they would be rushed down stairs at the point of the bayonet by the sentinel. Also that the wicked Freemasons and Odd Fellows and Grand Army men will keep right on with their nefarious practices, in spite of the thunders of the anti-secret-society convention, or any other ignorant opposition.

A late letter from England says: "The taking by the Prince of Wales of the degree of grand mark-master has resulted in giving an impetus to the mark-master Mason lodges throughout the country. Efforts will be made to reconcile the differences between the grand chapter of Quebec and the grand mark lodge of England. English Freemasons consider that the recent excommunication issued by the Quebec chapter was ill-advised; that the Quebec chapter has nothing to do with the mark grade, and that the system prevailing in Ireland, Scotland, the United States and Canada in regard to mark masonry is unsound. A number of provincial Masons assembled to witness the cremation in Dorsetshire. This was a new departure in Masonry. There was an elaborate and sensational cremony, in which it was recognized that cremation is the proper ritual of the brotherhood."

YORK CORNER, ME., Dec 22d.

The next term of our supreme judicial court for York county opens at Saco Jan. 1st, 1884. Orin Trafton is grand juror, drawn in September for one year. The two traverse jurors for this term, drawn last Saturday, are Joseph L. Grant and Appleton H. Talpey.

The supper at the Christian parsonage on Tuesday evening was a very pleasant affair; receipts $25.15.

A temperance meeting was holden at the Methodist church edifice on the same evening; quite a number of names were added to the pledge. The meeting was addressed by Rev. Mrs. Ellen G. Gustin, Mrs. Prescott of North Berwick, and by a Mrs. Tuttle, who is a great temperance worker. By reason of the close atmosphere, after speaking about fifteen minutes Mrs. Tuttle fainted, causing some delay; otherwise the meeting was a very pleasant and profitable one.

Rev. Mrs. Gustin delivered a lecture on "Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress" at the Christian church on Thursday evening to an appreciative audience. The lecture was profusely illustrated by the stereopticon, with dissolving views illuminated with a calcium light; but when about two-thirds through, the gas arrangement failed, thus preventing a full evening's entertainment. Mrs. Gustin is a very pleasant and interesting speaker, always drawing a full house, and the accident caused the regret of every one present.

On Wednesday, the 19th, at the village, Capt. Frank P. Emerson was thrown violently to the ground by a horse driven by Mr. John E. Bridges, whose attention at that moment was called in another direction. No serious damage was done, but the captain was somewhat surprised.

On Friday, the 21st, Mr. John H. Plaisted slaughtered a pig which was produced in April last, and which dressed 429 lbs. The pig was purchased about 205 days ago, and then weighed nineteen pounds, thus showing an actual gain of two pounds per day, which we consider hard to beat. P.

Esreff H. Banks has been confirmed as postmaster at Biddeford. The newspapers had a terrible struggle with his name, when it was sent to the senate by President Arthur, one Boston paper making it Ezra Babo and another Essex Barbo, while a New York paper called it Ezra Bates. He is postmaster, however, "all the same."

Wm. P. Titcomb, keeper of the York town farm, who with an ox team and hay press went through Sewall's bridge in York some two months ago and was badly injured thereby, has made demand on the town officers for $8,000 as personal damages, and other expenses amounting to one or two hundred dollars.

Mr. William F. Lord, an old and respected resident of Kennebunk, died on Thursday last, aged sixty-three years. Mr. Lord was engaged in the insurance business many years, and acted as agent for various companies. He was regarded as a reliable man of business. In his disposition he was quiet and retiring, and in the circle of his acquaintances he was highly esteemed for his high character and pleasant disposition.

One of the Yale college buildings was damaged $2000 by fire Dec. 23d.

A Noble Charity.

While partaking of the Christmas dinner let us seek to relieve the misery of earth's unfortunate ones. No better form to do this can be found than to support the world-famed Charity Hospital at New Orleans, La., and invest $5 or $1 in the 164th Grand Monthly Distribution of The Louisiana State Lottery, on the 15th of January, 1884, under the sole care and supervision of Gen'ls G. T. Beauregard, of La., and Jubal A. Early, of Va., when over $265,000 will be scattered broadcast in sums of $75,000 down to $22. The full details of which can be had from M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La.

A CARD.

Having made large additions to our stock of standard goods, we shall sell the same at greatly reduced prices. Having done for eight years a liberal credit business, we now propose to do a liberal cash business. To our regular customers we shall give thirty days, which is all we get, and all that we can afford to give. For our transient customers we have no books. Our store is large and expenses small, and we shall sell our goods at a small margin for cash. The high quality of our goods will be maintained and guaranteed as represented. We do this to protect ourselves from those who expect the grocers to furnish them with the necessaries of life and take their chances for the pay, and in a great many cases, the grocer "gets left." We do not think our customers can find any fault with this way of doing business, which will not only benefit us, but them also. Thanking the public for their generous patronage in the past, we would ask for a continuance of the same.

Respectfully, H. W. OXFORD.

The Boston Sunday Globe says "Miss Mollie Mack and Master Willie Kraft will give concerts at Great Falls, Dover and Newburyport the present week."

The Kennebunk Star of last week says: "In the town of Wells, ninety-five snakes were dug from under a large boulder on the Thadeus Littlefield farm. The reptiles were of various species." This vividly illustrates the quality of the beverages used in Wells.

SCROFULA.

A remedy that can destroy the germs of scrofula, and when once settled has the power to root it out, must be appreciated by those afflicted. The remarkable cures of young children and the more wonderful cures of those of middle age and late in life, as illustrated in the printed testimonials, prove Hoon's SARSAPARILLA to be a reliable remedy, containing remedial agents which do positively cure scrofula and eradicate it from the blood.

GARNER, N. H., Jan. 21, 1879.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.: Gentlemen—For ten years previous to the early part of 1877 I had been a constant sufferer from scrofulous ulcers or sores, which had finally reduced me to a helpless condition, as described in my letter to you in September of that year. The continued excellent health which enables me to keep house for my aged father and to enjoy life, keeps alive my intense personal interest in Hoon's SARSAPARILLA, and I cannot refrain from expressing my gratitude for the wonderful cures it has effected aside from my own. I trust you will not be slow in making the merits of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA known everywhere, for it is a duty you owe to mankind. With best wishes I remain very truly yours,

CHRISTMAS.

Again the happy season of Christmas has come. We hardly have done thinking of our last Christmas enjoyments before 1883, as it nears the end of its term, insists that here is Christmas again to be observed, as merry as ever.

Mr. Dickens, when a very young man, wrote of Christmas time "That man must be a misanthrope indeed, in whose breast something like a jovial feeling is not roused—in whose mind some pleasant associations are not awakened—by the recurrence of Christmas." It does not follow because the young receive most of the presents at Christmas, that the season is any less enjoyed with increasing years. Indeed, we are of the belief that the zest with which Christmas is anticipated, spent and remembered, grows with age, because it is more and more appreciated for the good cheer it brings us, the kindly feelings it developes, and the occasions it presents to so many to convey their love and good will to friends and to exercise their benefactions in so many ways.

Let us then cherish Christmas, with its rich memories, its pleasant surroundings, its bright hopes, with its re-unions, its feasts and its festivities. As a holiday, it brings the enjoyment of the home circle, the expressions of friendliness and tender regard; and as an anniversary, it revives our faith in the goodness of God to his creatures, a reminder so much needed in this busy world where, despite all the sins that mar its beauty, there is always so much of good to be thankful for; and with what delight we recall the chant of the heavenly host on the first Christmas morn—

"Glory to God in the highest,
And on earth peace among men."

THE SKATING RINK

In Franklin hall will be open this (Christmas) afternoon from two o'clock to five, and this evening from seven to ten; and this being the close of the season, the managers have secured the services of Prof. J. D. Canary, the phenomenal bicycle rider whose previous exhibitions here have been received with so much favor, and he will perform his seemingly impossible feats on the wheel, including many new ones, at four o'clock and nine. Admission to either entertainment, twenty cents; skate checks ten cents.

THE "WHITE SLAVE."

The sensational spectacular drama, the "White Slave," will be put on the stage of Music hall on Thursday evening with the fidelity to promise and the disregard of expense characteristic o the Boston Theatre Co. There are some powerful situations in the play, and opportunities for good acting which are all utilized by the performers; and the explosion of the "Belle Creole," the floating down river on a blazing spar, and other features, are triumphs for the scene painter and mechanical director. Tickets now on sale at Goodrich's bookstore.

WASHINGTON REMEMBERED.

Agreeably to the order of President Arthur, a salute of twenty-one guns was fired from the navy yard battery on Monday at noon, railroad time, "in commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of the surrender by George Washington at Annapolis of his commission as commander-in-chief of the patriot forces of America." Gen. Washington surrenderd his commission on the 23d of December, 1783, but the 23d coming on Sunday this year, the salutes commemorative of the event were ordered for noon on the 24th at the several forts and naval stations of the United States.

GEO. H. CLARK'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of the late George H. Clark on Sunday last was attended by Damon Lodge, Knights of Pythias, Osgood Lodge, I. O. O. F., and Storer Post, G. A. R., of this city, (of which organizations the deceased was a member,) and by Sawyer's band of Dover. The funeral cortege marched from the residence of the deceased to Christ church, where the beautiful services of the Episcopal church, and also those of the Knights of Pythias and Odd Fellows, were read. The procession was then continued to Harmony Grove cemetery, where the last ceremonies over the deceased were performed by the comrades of Storer Post, who turned out forty strong on this most inclement day of the year to render the last service to their departed comrade. Sawyer's band were unable to play a single selection, owing to their instruments being rendered unserviceable by the intense cold.

THE SEABROOK SHOOTING CASE.

Calvin Eaton, the victim of the Seabrook murderous assault, was reported as being still alive on Monday evening, though in a critical condition, his recovery being regarded as hardly possible. Col. Kent informed us that he had received no tidings of Dow, the assailant, and believed that either he was under concealment by some of his friends, or had carried out his threat to kill himself, as it was impossible he could have lived in the woods during the severe weather of Saturday and Sunday.

VESSEL IN DISTRESS.

By telephone from the cable station at Rye beach, Monday evening, we were informed that the schooner Rockaway, of Bath, Me., left Portsmouth lower harbor Sunday noon and tried to make Cape Ann harbor that night, but being unable to do so on account of the weather, attempted to return, and early Monday morning came to anchor off Concord point, Rye, and made signals of distress. The crew of the life-saving station attempted to launch their surf-boat, but were driven back after breaking the steering-oar; the boat was then hauled on a sled to Rye harbor, a mile distant, and the men pulled from there to the schooner against wind and tide and a heavy sea, and took off the crew, with the captain's wife and child, landed them at Rye harbor, and took them to the station, where they were kindly cared for. The people on the schooner suffered greatly from cold, the vessel being badly iced up; she was leaking some when abandoned, but was riding at anchor on Monday evening apparently in fair condition, and the chances were considered to be in favor of her being saved. Our informant speaks highly of the behavior of the life-saving men, who were prompt and daring in attempting the rescue, and though several times baffled in their efforts to get clear of the shore, did not for a moment relax their exertions until the distressed crew were safely lodged in the station.

A later report, by telegraph, says the schooner was bound from York for Boston with bricks, her crew consisting of Capt. Kingsbury, and his wife and son.

DEATH OF A WAR VETERAN.

Mr. George Odiorne Leavitt, only son of Alfred J. Leavitt, died at his home in Hampton on Saturday. Mr. Leavitt was a member of Co. B, First Regiment New Hampshire Heavy Artillery, in the late war, and incurred heart disease, for which disability he drew a small pension. He was greatly beloved by his associates in the regiment, and was a dutiful son and a firm friend. He had been for some time past first assistant keeper of Boon island light-station.

GOSSIPS SAY

That the holidays added a thousand persons to the city's population.

That the Christmas dinner will be less expensive than that of Thanksgiving, for the goose is tougher than the turkey, and goes further.

That your dinner will be better relished if you remember your poorer neighbor, whom Santa Claus has somehow overlooked.

That the good people of Newington will hold a festival in their town hall this evening.

That a steam-pipe bursted in the sole-leather room at the shoe factory on Monday, and the workmen were obliged to be idle for the day in consequence.

That Christ church was the coldest house of worship in the city on Sunday last, free seats and free colds being afforded those who attended its services.

TAKE A CHANCE!

The following items are taken from the Boston Post of Monday:

Col. R. F. Pickert of the Importers' Tea company was presented by the clerks in his employ Saturday with an elegant silver snuff-box, gold-lined, beautifully chased and appropriately engraved.

The governor has decided to wait a few days before granting the requisition of the governor of Missouri, for the return to St. Louis of Roger F. Pickert, who it is claimed has at some time carried on a lottery business there.

The Importers' Tea Co. is a concern which advertises to send out prize packages of tea on receipt of money, the prizes including watches, silver services, and other valuable articles. A young man of this city drew a "silver service," which proved to be a plated pickle dish; another whom we know of sent on a dollar, and would be glad to get even a pickle dish, not having received any answer whatever to his communication.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

The Pullman train due in this city from Boston at 8:50 on Monday did not arrive at all, and the passengers did not reach here until two o'clock Tuesday morning. The delay was caused by an accident near the Greenland station, one account of which, given us by a passenger on the train, was that the engine and two baggage cars were capsized by a misplaced switch, the contents of one baggage car, consisting mostly of Christmas presents, being reduced to hash. Another account was that the Pullman and an extra freight train collided, the freight engine, two freight cars and two baggage cars being upset, the head brakeman of the freight train having his hip hurt, and one of the firemen being slightly injured. A train consisting of a locomotive, wrecking car, and four passenger cars, with a gang of wreckers, started from this city at 11:15 o'clock in charge of Conductor Silsbee of the Dover branch, and arrived back at two with the passengers, who with their baggage were transferred from the Pullman train.

As the printers will be celebrating, today, we shall issue no CHRONICLE tomorrow.

The Christian society and Sunday school will have a festival and supper in Congress hall on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Charles Main and wife left this city for San Francisco on Monday.

A train which left Boston at five o'clock last Friday afternoon over the Eastern railroad was delayed for over an hour at Revere, owing to the snow blowing in and around the firebox of the engine to such an extent that the fires were almost extinguished, causing the steam to give out; the train was switched off on a side-track until enough steam could be generated to proceed. The same trouble occurred at Beverly by the time the train arrived there.

The Best Baking Powder.

The best baking powder is made from pure Cream of Tartar, Bicarbonate of Soda, and a small quanity of flour or starch. Frequently other ingredients are used, and serve a purpose in reducing the cost and increasing the profits of the manufacturer.

We give the Government Chemist's analyses of two of the leading baking powders:

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Flour.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Carbonate of Ammonia,
Tartaric Acid,
Starch.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

NOTE.—The Tartaric acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.

NEW YORK, Jan'y 17th, 1881.

The above analyses indicate a preference for "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," and our opinion is that it is the better preparation.—Hall's Journal of Health.

THE HERITAGE OF WOE

Misery, shame and agony often bequeathed as a sole legacy to children by parents, is neglected scrofula. To cleanse the blood of this hereditary poison, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the skin of disfiguring humors, itching tortures, humiliating eruptions, and loathsome sores caused by it, to purify and beautify the skin, and restore the hair so that no trace of the disease remains, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, diuretic and aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great skin cures and beautifiers, are infallible.

I HAD SALT RHEUM

In the most aggravating form for eight years. No kind of treatment, medicine or doctors did me any permanent good. My friends wished me to try CUTICURA. When I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES my limbs were so raw and tender that I could not bear my weight on them without the skin cracking and bleeding, and was obliged to go about on crutches. Used the CUTICURA REMEDIES five months, and was completely and permanently cured.

COPPER-COLORED.

I have been afflicted with troublesome skin disease, covering almost completely the upper part of my body, causing me to assume a copper-colored hue. It could be rubbed off like dandruff, and at times causing intolerable itching and the most intense suffering. I have used blood purifiers, pills, and other advertised remedies, but experienced no relief until I procured the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which, though used carelessly and irregularly, cured me, allaying that terrible itching, and restoring my skin to its natural color. I am willing to make affidavit to the truth of this statement.

A World of Good.

One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other Bitters, as it is not a whiskey drink. It is more like the old-fashioned home-set tea, that has done a world of good. If you dont feel just right, try Hop Bitters.—Nunda News.

Food That is Poisoned

by unclean teeth breeds dyspepsia. Such, at least, is the decived opinion of medical men. Remedy the evil with purifying, aromatic Sozodont, which clears away corrosive particles which lodge in the teeth and produce an acid ferment, that in time destroyes their enamel and ruins them. It prevents the unspeakable annoyance caused by defective teeth, if it is used while they can yet be saved from the destructive effects of tartar and other impurities.

At the average price of thirty-three cents per fish, this catch realized $260,135.

WHERE HE CAME TO GRIEF.

Story of Gettysburg by a Man Who Talked too Much.

"Here's where I came to grief," said a twelfth regiment man, as he stood upon Seminary Ridge. "How did it happen?" was asked. "Well," said he, "if you wish, I'll tell you, but I fear I may be wearisome. I always had the unenviable reputation of talking too much, and on that 1st day of July, 1863, my propensity to be too loquacious came very near ending my career. You see they brought us to the brow of this hill on the double quick, and we found we had a beautiful chance to get a cross-fire on a brigade of 'Johnnies' that lay down in an open field. We peppered them a while, and then our boys began to shout 'Forward!' and 'Charge!' I don't think the order came through the regularly constituted channels. It was a sort of spontaneous and voluntary movement on the part of the men who were on this occasion. The Colonel and Adjutant both tried to find out 'Who gave that order?' but all that we knew was that everybody in the regiment was shouting 'Forward!' The advance was inevitable, and so our officers placed themselves in our front and away we went like a whirlwind. We had captured and driven in all but about twenty or thirty of the rebs, after a slight resistance, and my propensity to talk was so strong upon me that I couldn't help telling the 'Johnnies' that were hanging behind all about our good treatment of prisoners, etc., and thus I didn't notice that the regiment went back to its old position. When I came to my senses I found I was alone. I concluded to go back and so informed them, but they very emphatically ordered me to stay. Now something had to be done, so I quickly determined to take my chances of instant death rather than perish by the slower methods of disease and starvation, and I so informed them in not very elegant terms, modes of expression that I do not now use. Then I ran, and the faster the bullets came the faster I ran until after a while a shot came from off to my right and and down I went. O, you needn't laugh: the bullet struck me in front, I'm happy to say, and I never regretted the decision I made in such a hurry." "What became of you afterwards?" was asked. "Well, I lay there unable to move, until nearly dark, and had a good chance to review the rebel army as most of it swept over me. Artillery wheels and horses' feet came uncomfortably near, but I escaped death—providentially, it always seemed to me. About sunset the 'Johnnies' carried me back to Pennsylvania College, but it would make too long a story to tell you all my experience there. I will only say that very emphatically, lying near an open door, I could see many of the movements of the rebel army, including the formation and advance of Pickett's division, and could hear the yell of the rebels as they swept forward, and then the glad hurrahs of our boys when the charge was repulsed. There were fifteen of us wounded men at the college—the other 700 were rebels—and we cheered, too, when our boys did, until the rebels threatened to kill us if we didn't stop. I shall never forget the four terrible days I passed there—days of alternate hope and fear—nor the joy I felt on the morning when gray coats went away and blue coats appeared. But I'm getting back into my old habit of talking too much. Please excuse me. I am apt to forget myself when talking of those days."—Boston Journal.

BRIM FULL OF FIGHT

STRUCK ME IN THE LEFT GROIN,

A Smoke in Italy.

The Italian Government has entered into a very laudable undertaking. It has resolved to suppress tobacco smoking. As you enter Italy the customs officers take from you all the tobacco you have, and then turn you over to the government, which completes the work of reformation by selling to you at exorbitant prices the most villainous compounds ever concocted under the name of tobacco. To emphasize the good work and make reformation a certainty the government, which has a monopoly of the tobacco traffic, gets up packages that sell for thirty cents upwards, with the portraits of popular American brands of tobacco, so as to entrap foreigners into purchasing. The different names, spelled wrong, pertaining to American, all inclose the same kind of stuff. The only difference in Italian tobacco is the labels. The tobacco seems to be made by some secret process out of a kind of vegetable mixed with old paper scraps, which help it to burn. The victim who puts this into his pipe and smokes it—if he recovers—has to learn the whole art of smoking again.

Yet the Italian Government partly undoes its good work by presenting a cigar which is not at all bad for the price. The price is threequarters of a penny, and they make a reduction if you take a quantity. The cigars are the most popular in Italy and are called the "Cavour," in honor of that great Italian. Thus doth fame end in smoke! The cigar is long and about the same size at both ends. Another popular, but very high-priced cigar, for it costs a whole penny, is one with a straw through the centre of it. It is long and pointed. I used to smoke it with the straw in it, but I found that they pulled the straw out, and so I adopted that plan too, although in so doing I missed the burning straw-stack sort of delicate flavor.

A cigar is served up more elaborately in Italy than in any other country. When you order a cigar the waiter brings you a wax candle with a wire arrangement stretching out from it like two arms. The waiter slowly lights the candle and places the cigar in one end of the wire arms with its end in the flame. There it stays until the end is about burned off, when it is ready for smoking. Whether this cumbrous method is necessary because the average Italian is too lazy to light his own cigar, or whether it is because the government doesn't put paper into the cigar as into the tobacco packets, I do not know. Anyhow, that is the way you get a cigar when you are in Rome doing as the Romans do.—Luke Sharp in Detroit Free Press.

I procured a bottle and from the first application I found relief. It is the best remedy I have ever tried. W. C. Mathews, Justice of the Peace, Shenandoah, Iowa.

In Massachusetts recently a man fell on the ice while walking on Sunday, and sued the city of Worcester for damages for his serious injuries. To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

The Night After Christmas.

'Twas the night after Christmas; the boys were awake,
After stuffing with turkey, and pudding, and cake,
And doughnuts, and oysters, and plums, and mince pies,
There were moanings and groanings and piteous cries:
"O my stomach!" "O Moses!" "O help!" "I shall die!"
"How I wish that I hadn't had half as much pie!"
"O mother!" "Come, hurry!" "O what shall I do?"
"Bring something to cure me!" "Boo-hoo!" and "Boo-hoo!"
And mother, alarmed by the racket and noise,
Ran in to see what she could do for the boys.
Perry Davis's Pain Killer she brought for relief,
And soon made an end of their noise and their grief;
And then there was quiet and joy in the house,
And each of the lads was as still as a mouse.

In the make up of the house committee upon naval expenditures, Massachusetts has two members, New York, Pennsylvania and Florida one each; Virginia, California and Maine appear to have been lost sight of, though Capt. Boutelle of Maine brings up the rear of the committee on naval affairs. The Boston Advertiser thinks that Secretary Chandler will get very little comfort from this committee.

The New Orleans Picayune, the organ of the Ogden party, says that the recent bloody riot at a democratic primary meeting in that city, in which three men were killed and ten or a dozen wounded, was the result of a deliberately-formed plan of the McEnery faction to get rid of dangerous enemies to the McEnery administration, and the fact that all the men who were killed were at work in the interest of Ogden tends to confirm this allegation. The "riot" appears to have been to a certain extent patterned on the negro "riots" of times past,—the good citizens, alias the democratic machine leaders, killing enough of the "rioters," alias the opposition, to carry the election the right way; and it worked just as before, for McEnery was triumphantly renominated for governor of Louisiana by the democratic state convention. This is just what might have been expected; the men who by violence and murder have crushed out all opposition to their party, will be likely to resort to violence and murder to crush out opposition to themselves within their party.

"An Ambitious Woman," by Edgar Fawcett. Published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston. Price $1.10.

This is the best of this author's works yet published; and like "A Hopeless Case," by the same writer, gives a brilliant description of New York fashionable society life. The opening chapter contains a graphic pen picture of the lowest and most desolate part of Greenpoint, a suburb of Brooklyn. For sale at Goodrich's bookstore.

"History of Prussia to the accession of Frederic the Great: 1134-1740;" by Herbert Tuttle, professor in Cornell University, Boston; Houghton, Mifflin & Co.; price $2.25.

This is an account of the political development of Prussia from the earliest times down to the death of the second king. It makes a book of nearly five hundred pages. Its eleven chapters tell of Brandenburg; the early society and institutions; the Hohenzollerns, to the 17th century; the 17th century to the peace of Westphalia; and so on in different periods, well arranged with sideheads. A full index also is added. To the student of history this will prove a valuable acquisition.

"A Roundabout Journey," by Charles Dudley Warner. Boston; Houghton, Mifflin & Co.; 12-mo., price $1.50. Portsmouth, sold by M. Goodrich.

The author of "My Summer in a Garden" during the past year spent several months in Europe, visiting countries bordering on the Mediterranean, and also journeyed into Africa.

The Connecticut writer possesses not only the faculty of seeing everything that is worth beholding, but of describing in a peculiarly happy style, in which his never-failing humor abounds, places and things of which we delight to read. There are no dull places in Mr. Warner's book, not a page to be omitted, but all through its twenty-two chapters the reader will find an interest which never ceases, while occasionally a finely-narrated legend appears by way of rest to the reader who travels with the author in this his later volume, which has by no means less interest than its predecessors of the same character.

The Great Rock Island Route has issued a new and most comprehensive Cook Book, of 128 pages, filled with new and reliable receipts from the best caterers of this and other countries. No housewife can afford to be without it; and though worth one dollar, it will be sent to any address, postpaid, upon receipt of ten cents in stamps. As they will go like hot cakes send at once to E. St. John, G. T. & P. A., Chicago, Illinois.

The conductors of "The Atlantic Monthly" indicate a few of the noteworthy features for 1884, and assure its readers that it will continue, as it has been, in the foremost line of American magazines in all features and varieties of literary excellence. Mr. Crawford's serial story, "A Roman Singer," will run through the first six numbers of the volume for 1884; this story has attracted marked attention by its vigor and freshness. Oliver Wendell Holmes will write exclusively for this magazine during 1884. Dr. Weir Mitchell has written for it a striking serial story, entitled "In War Time," which will begin in January. Henry James will contribute several short stories and sketches of continental travel. W. D. Howells will furnish several papers of European travel. Charles Dudley Warner will contribute essays on literary and social topics. The "Contributor's Club" will continue to be one of the most agreeable feature of the Atlantic. New books receive more attention in the Atlantic than in any other magazine in the English language. Terms, $4.00 a year, in advance, postage free. With a superb life-size portrait of Hawthorne (new), Emerson, Longfellow, Bryant, Whittier, Holmes, or Lowell, $5.00. Each additional portrait, $1.00. Remittance should be made by money-order, draft, or registered letter, to Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 4 Park street, Boston, Mass.

President Sewall of the Eastern railroad says that with the coming summer the facilities for rapid travel by the Eastern and Maine Central roads will be far ahead of any that the public have yet enjoyed. One of the principal changes contemplated is in the running of the "Flying Yankee," a train which became very popular last season. Instead of leaving Boston at 12:30 P. M., as heretofore, it is proposed that this train shall leave at nine o'clock A. M., run through to Portland in three hours, and arrive at Bangor at four P. M., and at Hancock point, opposite Bar Harbor, Mt. Desert, (via the Mt. Desert branch of the Maine Central,) at seven P. M. From Hancock point passengers will be swiftly conveyed across the bay to Bar Harbor. This will be a revelation in New England railroad travelling such as few people have believed would be seen for years to come. Many other changes and improvements are contemplated by Presidents Sewall of the Eastern road and Jackson of the Maine Central, and General Manager Tucker.

The American Journalist, of St. Louis, Mo., has the following to say of Mr. Albert E. Wood, formerly of this city and for years an employe of this office: "Albert Wood, who has recently become attached to the staff of the New York Morning Journal, was unearthed by the celebrated condenser, Dr. J. B. Wood. When that worthy journalist was in St. Louis editing the Chronicle, of that city, Albert was a proof-reader on that paper, and the lynx-eyed doctor immediately saw what C. A. Dana had offered a premium for, to wit, a second Amos Cummings. Poor Albert little knew that the mantle of a great journalist had fallen upon his shoulders, and was loth to believe it until the good doctor drove the idea into him with four thousand horse-power force."

A CARD.

Having made large additions to our stock of standard goods, we shall sell the same at greatly reduced prices. Having done for eight years a liberal credit business, we now propose to do a liberal cash business. To our regular customers we shall give thirty days, which is all we get, and all that we can afford to give. For our transient customers we have no books. Our store is large and expenses small, and we shall sell our goods at a small margin for cash. The high quality of our goods will be maintained and guaranteed as represented. We do this to protect ourselves from those who expect the grocers to furnish them with the necessaries of life and take their chances for the pay, and in a great many cases, the grocer "gets left." We do not think our customers can find any fault with this way of doing business, which will not only benefit us, but them also. Thanking the public for their generous patronage in the past, we would ask for a continuance of the same.

Respectfully, H. W. OXFORD.

MEDICAL.

SCROFULA.

A remedy that can destroy the germs of scrofula, and when once seized has the power to root it out, must be appreciated by those afflicted. The remarkable cures of young children and the more wonderful cures of those of middle age and late in life, as illustrated by our printed testimonials, prove HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA to be a reliable remedy, containing remedial agents which do positively cure scrofula and eradicate it from the blood.

WARNER, N. H., Jan. 21, 1879.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.: Gentlemen.—For ten years previous to the early part of 1877 I had been a constant sufferer from scrofulous ulcers or sores, which had finally reduced me to a helpless condition, as described in my letter to you in September of that year. The continued excellent health which enables me to keep house for my aged father and to enjoy life, keeps alive my intense personal interest in HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, and I cannot refrain from expressing my gratitude for the permanent cure this wonderful medicine effected in my case nearly two years ago, while living in Lowell, when all my physicians gave me up as being in an incurable condition. One thing before I close. I have recommended your Sarsaparilla to hundreds, and I think more than a thousand cases, and my faith in its invincibility and I cannot refrain from becoming absolute by the wonderful cures it has effected aside from my own. I trust you will not be slow in making the merits of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA known everywhere, for it is a duty you owe to mankind. With best wishes I remain very truly yours,

SARAH C. WHITTIER

RAILROAD-TIME ALMANAC.

O. M. Knight, at the Mechanics block bookstore, has for sale "The Eastern Standard Almanac" for 1884, issued in Portland, Me., all the calculations being in "Standard Time." The astronomical data of the almanac were calculated under the direction of Prof. Thomas Hill, one of the earliest and most enthusiastic advocates of the "railroad time" humbug, and are for the meridians of Eastport, Bangor and Portland, Me. The almanac also contains a number of "Problems in Standard Time," showing how any person who does not live in the longitude of either Eastport, Bangor or Portland, and who knows in just what longitude he does live, can by a little mathematical exercise make a pretty fair guess as to what time the sun rises at his place according to the "Standard." It is a curiosity in the way of almanac making, and contains much information as to state and county officials associations, etc., in Maine, of value to residents in that state.

THE RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

The cause of the smash-up on the Eastern railroad at Greenland, shortly before nine o'clock in the evening on Dec. 24th, reported in the Chronicle on Christmas morning, was as follows:

The Pullman train from Boston was considerably behind time when it reached Newburyport, and it is said an attempt was made to make up the lost time between Newburyport and Portsmouth. When the Pullman left Newburyport there were two locomotives attached to the train, which consisted of two baggage, one mail and five passenger cars. At Greenland depot a frieght train drawn by engine 109 was side tracked waiting for the Pullman to pass. The Pullman whistled for Greenland at about 8:50 o'clock, and came along at a fair rate of speed. About 100 feet west of the depot is a switch, and so heavy was the shock as the engine struck the track connected with the switch that a switch rod broke. The engines passed along all right, but the front wheels of the first baggage car went off the track, and it swerved along sideways, half on and half off the rails. The engineer of the rear engine whistled "down brakes," but before the brakes could effect anything the shackles by which the first baggage car was attached to the rear locomotive broke, and the car plunged plump into the engine of the freight train. The two baggage cars and the locomotive telescoped, and the engine went over sidewise, considerably injured. The two baggage cars and the mail car next to them were entirely wrecked, and the track piled with debris. Strange to say the passengers felt only a slight shock. The mail and most of the baggage were saved.

The hindmost baggage car smashed through the mail car, cutting off almost its whole top down to the floor for nearly its entire length, and pushing the postal clerks to the rear end, giving them a perilously narrow escape with their lives. Tie letters and papers, and parcels of Christmas presents, were scattered around in wild confusion and great quantities; the clerks at first refused to allow any of the train men to aid in gathering up the matter, but were at length compelled to accept assistance.

There was a very large amount of express matter, evidently Christmas presents mainly for places east of Portland, and here sad havoc was made, hundreds of packages being ground up and ruined. A hamper of wine was torn open, but only a few of the bottles were broken; the amainder served to keep those passengrs who got hold of it, in a good humor. A handsome leathern hat-case, enclosed in a slat box, had the outer covering shattered, and a man who picked it up found it rather heavy; on opening the case to see what kind of a hat it was, he found a jug of extra fine old New England rum, bound for a town in Maine. None of that rum crossed Portsmouth bridge—at least not in the same receptacle it started in from Boston.

Wreckers were sent from Salem, Mass., as well as from this city, and nearly a hundred men were engaged in clearing the way. The loss to the railroad will probably reach $5,000.

The damaged locomotive, No. 109, came into this city on Tuesday, the 25th, on its own wheels, and it is alleged can be made better than when new for about $500; it is one of the latest built engines on the road, but has never steamed satisfactorily.

The freight brakeman who was injured was Edward Thornton of Lynn, Mass., and his hurts were not serious.

IN PORT.

The schooner Rockaway, of Boothbay, Me., before reported at anchor off Concord point, Rye, in distress, was towed into this port on Christmas day by the tug Clara Batemen, and berthed at Appledore wharf. Though somewhat iced up she is not leaking, and appears to have sustained no injury other than having her mainsail split and her foresail blown away. Capt. Kingsbury speaks earnestly in commendation of the crew of the Rye Beach life-saving station, and says that but for their successful persistence in the face of both difficulty and danger, all on board his vessel must have perished from cold and exposure; as it was they suffered severely.

GOSSIPS SAY

That the members of the Christian Baptist choir, eight in number, each received appropriate gifts at the close of the services on Sunday, Dec. 23d.

That the sidewalks of Congress and Islington streets were thronged Christmas afternoon with pedestrians to see the spirited spurting of horseflesh by local Jehues.

That a flock of nearly a hundred gulls were swimming in the open water in the north millpond on Wednesday.

That the skating rink season under the management of Messrs. Randall, Davis & Aiken closed on Christmas evening with the largest attendance of the season.

That the leap-year ball orders are out, and very "tony" affairs they are.

That Commander M. M. Collis, of Storer Post, G. A. R., has been importuned by Department Commander Linnehan to "remain in command of the best post in New Hampshire for another year."

That Marcus should yield to the wishes of his comrades and the request of the department commander, in this respect.

That M. J. Gregg has succeeded Moses H. Tilton as watchman at the Portsmouth Shoe Factory.

That the locomotive which can make the best time with a heavy train on the Little Rock, Mississippi River & Texas railway, is named "E. H. Winchester."

This evening, at Music hall, the "White Slave" will be presented by the Boston Theatre Co., with all the mechanical effects and beautiful scenery used on its former presentation here, and with the careful acting always noticeable in this company. See advertisement.

Ship Grandee of this port, Jacobs master, was loading at Manila on the 3d of November for a northern port in the United States, and would take 5500 bales of hemp and 1000 tons of sugar.

There was a peculiar fog bank hanging over the south pond about eight o'clock in the morning on the 26th inst.; it was not more than ten or fifteen feet high, followed the shores of the pond closely, showing every point and cove, was perfectly flat on top, was white as milk, and looked dense enough to walk on.

Those persons—and their name was legion—who were kept awake Christmas night by the results of their devotion to the Christmas dinner, had a nice time listening to the monotonous blare of the Whalesback foghorn through the night.

Dr. Cross, the magnetic physician, is at the Kearsarge house, where he will remain for ten days.

Benjamin Berry succeeds C. R. Edmunds as station agent at Greenland for the Concord & Portsmouth railroad.

Christmas festivals were held on Wednesday evening, the 26th inst., by the Middle street Baptist society at their chapel on State street, by the Congregational society in their chapel on Middle street, by the Christian society in Congress hall, and by the Unitarian society in Franklin hall.

The usual semi-annual dividend on the Concord and Portsmouth railroad will be paid at the clerk's office (William H. Hackett's) in this city on Saturday, the 29th inst.

Capt. Smith, of the steamer Lancaster, reports the coal shovellers of Portsmouth to be the best he has met with in any of the many ports he has visited. At half-past twelve o'clock on Saturday, Dec. 22d, the work of discharging 1661 tons of coal was commenced, and the job was finished at 12:46 o'clock on the the 26th, no work having been done on Sunday. Capt. Smith says this time "beats the record" of coal discharging, so far as his experience goes.

Numerous cakes of ice, most of them being of small size, were floating down the river on Wednesday.

Gen. Richard Cutts of the United States coast survey, whose death occurred at Washington city on the 13th inst., at the age of sixty-six years, was a son of Hon. Richard Cutts, who represented the York district of Massachusetts in Congress as a democrat from 1801 to 1813, and resided in Saco, on what is known as Cutts' island. Richard Cutts senior died in Washington in 1845.

Postmaster Peirce and his assistants had a busy time on Christmas morning. The Pullman mails from New York due on Sunday evening and on Monday evening, reached the office on Tuesday morning, having been gathered up from the wreck of matter at Greenland the previous evening, and brought to this city in a smoking car. The postal car was badly smashed on Monday night.

Mrs. James M. Carr, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Shock, started on Monday for Brooklyn, N. Y., where they will spend the winter with Mrs. Benjamin, another daughter of Mrs. Carr's. They may continue their trip in the spring as far as Milwaukee, Wis., to visit Mr. Henry Carr.

On Saturday evening last Conductor Lyman Grant of the Boston & Maine railroad in stepping on board his train fell under the wheels, and had his right leg crushed from the ankle to the knee. He was taken to his home in North Berwick, and the leg amputated.

Between Dec. 5th and Dec. 19th the four children of Thomas A. and Emma B. Smith, of Kennebunk, all died of diphtheria. The children, two boys and two girls, were between three and nine years of age.

The thermometer was twenty-eight degrees below zero in Biddeford on Sunday morning last.

The thermometer was at twenty-two below zero in North Kittery at sunrise last Sunday morning; at the same place and by the same thermometer, on the 25th of January, 1881, the temperature was twenty-five below.

The Government Chemist Analyzes two of the Leading Baking Powders, and what he finds them made of.

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Flour

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Carbonate of Ammonia
Tartaric Acid
Starch

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

Note.—The Tartaric Acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.

NEW YORK, JAN'Y 17TH, 1881.

The above shows conclusively that "Cleveland's Superior" is a strictly pure Cream of Tartar Baking Powder. It has also been analyzed by Professor Johnson of Yale College; Dr. Genth of the University of Pennsylvania; President Morton of the Stevens Institute; Wm. M. Habirshaw, P. C. S., Analyst for the Chemical Trade of New York, and other eminent chemists, all of whom pronounce it absolutely pure and healthful.

BEAUTY SOAP

TO keep the pores open, the oil glands and tubes active, and thus furnish an outlet for impurities in the perspiration and blood which cause humiliating blotches, blackheads, and other skin blemishes especially of infants; to cleanse, whiten and beautify the skin, remove tan, freckles, sunburn, and oily complexion, keep the hands soft, white and free from cuaps and roughness, prevent contagious skin and scalp diseases, and to provide an exquisite skin beautifier and toilet, bath and nursery sanative redolent with delicious flower odors and CUTICURA healing balsams, use the CUTICURA SOAP. Indorsed by physicians and chemists as absolutely pure and highly medicinal. Sales 1881-2 1,000,000 cakes.

THE HERITAGE OF WOE

Misery, shame and agony often bequeathed as a sole legacy to children by parents in neglected scrofula. To cleanse the blood of this hereditary poison, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the skin of disfiguring humors, itching tortures, humiliating eruptions, and to restore the health and vigor of body and beautify the skin, and restore the hair so that no trace of the disease remains, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great skin cures and beautifiers, are infallible.

I HAD SALT RHEUM

In the most aggravating form for eight years. No kind of treatment, medicine or doctors did me any permanent good. My friends in Malden know how suffered. When I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES my limbs were free from any humor that I could not bear my weight on them without the skin cracking and bleeding, and was obliged to get about on crutches. Used the CUTICURA REMEDIES five months, and was completely and permanently cured.

COPPER-COLORED.

I have been afflicted with troublesome skin disease, covering almost completely the upper part of my body, causing my skin to assume a copper-colored hue. It could be rubbed off like dandruff, and at times causing intolerable itching and the most intense suffering. I have used blood purifiers, pills, and other advertised remedies, but experienced no relief until I procured the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which, though used carelessly and irregularly, cured me, allaying that terrible itching, and restoring my skin to its natural color. I am willing to make affidavit to the truth of this statement. S. G. BUXTON, Milan, Mich.

A World of Good.

One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other Bitters, as it is not a whiskey drink. It is more like the old-fashioned bone-set tea, that has done a world of good. Food That is Poisoned by unclean teeth breeds dyspepsia. Such, at least, is the declared opinion of medical men. It prevents the unspeakable annoyance caused by defective teeth, if it is used while they can yet be saved from the destructive effects of tartar and other impurities.

Horn Todes.

Hop todes and horn todes is two kinds, cos the hop todes thay hops, but the horn chap he lies on a rock in the warm and shets his eys up reel slo an sollem, much as to say, "Lyin on the stumk of my belly is good enoughpe athletticle xercize for a feller which aint a goin for to be a show." But Billy he can turn a hanspring, and once there was aman which eude wock on a rope.

Jack Brily, which is the wicked sail (swears on evry thing), he says one time he was a ship rweck on the coast of Madgigasker an the ony frate saved was a horn tode. So Jack he sed to the other sailers, "Now ship mates, we got to do something for a livin or els we have to eat the second mate, wich shall it be?"

Then the second mate he spoke up and said, "An industrous caracter is the king of gettin rich."

So Jack he sed a other time, "Very wel, then, we wont idol a way our time a dining off of one a other but wil pitch in for to ern our bred by the swet of our broughs. We will make this horntode a show and charge the natifniggers ten cents for to see him."

So they made a circus tent out of the mainsle and Jack he painted a signe wich was this way:

THE VONDERFLEST SHOW WICH IS IN THE WORLD!
Only 10 Cents for to Get In.
!!! THE LIVIN CACTUS !!!
This a stonishin Freak of Nature and Vestkidge of Creation was giv to Queen Victoria by the King of Arizony, but got away an come here in 2 ships.
Brother to the Fossle Rainoctycurious, and Firs Cusin to the Prehistorric Pupywunnely.
Scientifficle name—Jumboree Jeewhillikins.
Wock Up! Wock Up!
The Only Reptile in the World which has got Horns!!!

Wen thay had got ready for the show to begin Jack he stude in the dore for to take the money, an pretty sone a big naked natif nigger he strutted up and read the sine, cos he had been teached by a mitionary preecher for to read, and then he wacked a way lookin mity wise, and Jack he sed, "I bet that feller is the king, and I guess he has red some thing to-day wich wil teech him that kings dont know it all by adamsite."

There was no customers to the sho that day, but next morning when it was time for to begin thar was a string of natif niggers a mile long a waitin to get in, and evry nigger had a bag threw over his sholder, and the feller which had been there the day before, he was to the hed of the proceshion, and he spoke up and sed, "There aint ten cents in this howle country, but we want to see yure sho mity bad, so we tot mebby you wude take it out in trade and we have brot you the only thing which the Island produces."

Then the line mooved up and every natif nigger a bag full out a bagfle of horn todes jest like the one wich was the sho. There wasent never any sech a stonish fellers like Jack an them sailers.

Wen Jack tole me a bout it I ast him wot thay done, and he said, Jack did. "Well Johnny, we dassent keep em out of the show, and we dassent let em in, and we was too brave for to run. So we just flew."—Little Johnny in the S. F. Wasp.

It is related that when A. T. Stewart, the dead millionaire, met the girl he wished to marry and asked her father, the answer was: "Want to marry Nellie, eh? Think she's got a rich father, eh? And you'd like to come in for a share of his earnings, eh?" "No, sir; you needn't leave her or me a cent. I'll soon be richer than you, anyway." "You will, will you? Well, I like that! Go ahead and take her, then, and Heaven bless you both." So the young folks were married and went to live in a modest little cottage, and were glad to be able to cover the floors with rag carpet.

The Federal Republic of Europe.

There are indications all over Europe whic are ominous for the reigning monarchies. England is a republic in all but name, France is one beyond all persdventure, while in Germany, Italy and Spain, the great body of the populations are republicans in theory. A change will probably come overEurope soon after Kaiser William's death. The kingdom of Sweden is even now shaken by a popular democratic agitation. King Oscar, a descendant of the French adventurer Bernadotte, has repeatedly set at defiance the popular will as expressed through the Norway Storthing. And as a consequence there is a determination on the part of that nation to asserts its rights against autocratic rule. King Oscar may yet lose his crown if not his head, for he has violated the fundamental law, by making the same pretensions which cost Charles I. of England his life. There are stirring times ahead for the peoples of Europe.—Demorest's.

Signs of a Cold Winter.

The following signs of a hard and cold winter are almost invariable, and may be relied on by all who have "been there."

When the man you owes $500 determinedly declares that unless you pay him by the 1st of December he will push "that note."

When your last winter's overcoat is faded out of color and the tailor informs you that it takes cash to pay the rent.

When your best girl grows cold because you do not take her to the theatre, not knowing that the money you would like to spend on church sociable oysters and local circuses now goes to provide cheap fifteen-cent soup for a stomach that may or may not continue to subsist thereon.

When the thermometer, let it go low as it may, never gets lower than the financial condition of your pocketbook.

When you are teetotally, ramfistiatedly, utterly dead broke.

Then, it will be a cold winter.

—Williamsport Breakfast Table.

The Penobscot Indians, who have been a part of the history of Maine for 300 years, have intermarried until they have become almost white. Oldtown, the seat of their mission, has decreased from a population of 8,000 in 1625 to a mere hamlet of a few hundred souls in 1883.

The Night After Christmas.

'Twas the night after Christmas; the boys were awake,
After stuffing with turkey, and pudding, and cake,
And doughnuts, and oysters, and plums, and mince pies,
There were moanings and groanings and piteous cries:
"O my stomach!" "O Moses!" "O help!" "I shall die!"
"How I wish that I hadn't had half as much pie!"
"O mother!" "Come, hurry!" "O what shall I do?"
"Bring something to cure me!" "Boo-hoo" and "Boo-hoo!"
And mother, alarmed by the racket and noise,
Ran in to see what she could do for the boys.
Perry Davis's Pain Killer she brought for relief,
And soon made an end of their noise and their grief;
And then there was quiet and joy in the house,
And each of the lads was as still as a mouse.

A Congressional Raid.

There appears to be a speculation on foot, which is likely to quite generally disturb the equanimity of investors in certain railway securities, and perhaps to some degree enrich one class at the expense of another, as is the common result of all speculations.

Some one has conceived the idea of raiding on the railways built by means of grants of the public lands. To do this, the cry of anti-monopoly can be used to some advantage with the democratic party during the present session of Congress. The democratic Barkis is willin', and will shout when so required. It is a similar garb to that which men are sometimes clad in for the purpose of an attempt at pleasing the people; Mr. Chandler tried it some time since, in this state, but was so generally laughed at by the politicians in both parties that he one day stole away and shed the raiment.

During the present session of Congress much eloquence will be aired in committee, and possibly in the hall of the house of representatives, upon this momentous question; speculators will hammer the shares in the market; timid holders will sell; sharp brokers will sell short, and work for a decline. Then the railways will stock hands. The representatives who seek to be re-elected, the men who want to be presidents, etc., will see that it will not do to go too far in this direction. If they are to make war on the railway power, they will be found without a constituency. Indeed, the most eloquent demagogue who may for a while lead the van, will as the summer grows apace and nominating conventions are about to be held, upon this question become

In the meantime a well-trained lobby will have had an agreeable winter at Washington, and the stock market will be sufficiently manipulated to enrich a few designing men; and by the time the resolutions are to be drawn for the consideration of the next Democratic National Convention, under proper inspection and with hints from the right quarters the rampant champions of the rights of the people will be as quiet and peaceful as a May morning.

A CARD.

Having made large additions to our stock of standard goods, we shall sell the same at greatly reduced prices. Having done for eight years a liberal credit business, we now propose to do a liberal cash business. To our regular customers we shall give thirty days, which is all we get, and all that we can afford to give. For our transient customers we have no books. Our store is large and expenses small, and we shall sell our goods at a small margin for cash. The high quality of our goods will be maintained and guaranteed as represented. We do this to protect ourselves from those who expect the grocers to furnish them with the necessaries of life and take their chances for the pay, and in a great many cases, the grocer "gets left." We do not think our customers can find any fault with this way of doing business, which will not only benefit us, but them also. Thanking the public for their generous patronage in the past, we would ask for a continuance of the same.

Respectfully, H. W. OXFORD.

MEDICAL.

SCROFULA.

A remedy that can destroy the germs of scrofula, and when once settled has the power to root it out, must be appreciated by those afflicted. The remarkable cures of young children and the more wonderful cures of those of middle age and later in life, as illustrated by our printed testimonials, prove HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA to be a reliable remedy, containing remedial agents which do positively cure scrofula and eradicate it from the blood.

WARNER, N. H., Jan. 21, 1879.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.:
Gentlemen.—For ten years previous to the early part of 1877 I had been a constant sufferer from scrofulous ulcers or sores, which had finally reduced me to a helpless condition, as described in my letter to you in September of that year. The continued excellent health which enables me to keep house for my aged father and to enjoy life, keeps alive my intense personal interest in HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, and I cannot refrain from expressing my gratitude for the permanent cure this wonderful medicine effected in my case nearly two years ago, while living in Lowell, when all my physicians gave me up as being in an incurable condition. One thing before I close. I have recommended your Sarsaparilla to hundreds, and I think more than a thousand cases, and my faith in its invincibility in curing scrofula has become absolute by the wonderful cures it has effected aside from my own. I trust you will not be slow in making the merits of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA known everywhere, for it is a duty you owe to mankind. With best wishes I remain very truly yours,

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, Dec. 27th, Mayor Treat in the chair:

Present the mayor, Ald. Atwell, the city clerk, city messenger, and our reporter.

Adjourned.

POLICE COURT—BATCHELDER, J.

THURSDAY, Dec. 27th.

Walter J. Harrington, for drunkenness, was fined $3, costs $6.90; county farm for Walter.

William Osgood and Daniel Buckley, minors, were before the court on a charge of malicious mischief displayed in the shape of destroying hats; their cases were continued to Dec. 28th, the accused being held in $100 bonds each. The testimony was that the boys were at a Christmas festival on the evening of the 26th, and happening into an ante room where among other articles of clothing were a number of stiff hats, did thump with their fists, and sit upon, several of the same, to the serious injury of the personal appearance of said hats and the great reduction of their monetary value.

GOSSIPS SAY

That there was a deal of telephoning about town, Thursday, in relation to the hat-smashing by a few young gentlemen at the Christmas festival of the Universalist society, and in regard to said young gentlemen having a chance to explain matters and settle damages.

That possibly there was good fun in smashing the hats, but it didn't seem to last very well.

That several members of the Sawyer's band, of Dover, had their hands frost-bitten while in this city on Sunday, Dec. 23d, attending a funeral.

ELECTIONS OF OFFICERS.

At a meeting of Branch 187, Order of the Iron Hall, held in G. A. R. hall on Tuesday evening, Dec. 25th, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

David Urch, chief justice;
Solomon Littlefield, vice justice;
Albert S. Gray, accountant;
Thomas Rees, cashier;
Charles E. Hodgdon, adjuster;
J. F. Trafton, prelate;
Charles F. Langley, herald;
C. F. Kenniston, watchman;
John H. Wells, past chief justice;
David Urch, John H. Wells, Langdon M. Perkins, trustees.

At a very full meeting of New Hampshire Lodge, No. 17, I. O. O. F., held on Wednesday evening, Dec. 26th, the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year:

John H. Wells, N. G.;
David Urch, V. G.;
Thornton Betton, R. S.;
Samuel Joy, Treas.;
Moses H. Tilton, Per. Sec.;
Solomon Littlefield, P. N. G.

HE WON'T STARVE.

Walter J. Harrington, claiming to be a printer from Newburyport, where he had been at work on the Germ, visited the several printing offices in this city on Wednesday afternoon of this week, being very urgent to "get work to keep him from starving." Finally one newspaper man, to get rid of the fellow, gave him a quarter, with the result of securing him from starvation for some time, for he got blazing drunk on the money—he already had a good start in that direction—was arrested by the police, and on Thursday was ordered to Brentwood for not having $9.90 to pay his fine with.

EDWARD G. PARKER POST, G. A. R.

Post, No. 99, Grand Army of the Republic, recently instituted in Kittery, Me., at a meeting held on the evening of Dec. 26th adopted the name of "Edward G. Parker" post, in token of respect to the memory of Lieut. Edward G. Parker of the 17th Maine regiment, a former resident of Kittery who was killed at Spottsylvania, Va., Dec. 12th, 1864.

CULPABLE CARELESSNESS.

As Mr. Cole, a milkman from Greenland, was driving into this city one morning about a week ago he was very much frightened, and very near being killed, at the place where Islington street is crossed by the spur track from the Eastern railroad to the Jones brewery. There was no flagman at the crossing, and Mr. Cole had no intimation of the approach of a train until one of the engine men shouted to him, when it was too late for him to get across the track or to stop, and he barely escaped by suddenly sheering his horse in the direction the train was moving; had he attempted to stop, or hesitated an instant what to do, he would almost certainly have lost his life. No train should ever be run across that street without a flagman being stationed there to warn travellers along the highway.

HAVERLY'S SPECTACULAR MASTODON MINSTRELS.

J. H. Haverly, the inventor of all the leading features of modern minstrelsy, will present his Spectacular Mastodon Minstrels at Music hall on Monday evening next. It is claimed that this organization is Haverly's "greatest effort" in the minstrel line, and judging from the names presented and the comments of the papers, we are inclined to believe that he has made a success of it. Tickets at Goodsich's.

COMPLIMENTARY.

At a recent meeting of the Portsmouth Cavalry the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, Capt. E. D. Coffin, on account of business cares, has felt impelled to resign the command of the Portsmouth Cavalry company, therefore be it

Resolved, That by his resignation we suffer the loss of an efficient, gallant officer, a gentleman and a most agreeable comrade.

Resolved, That our sincere thanks be tendered him for the many courtesies received at his hands; for the deep interest he has ever taken in the welfare of the company, both at home and abroad; and for the excellence of his instruction, which has counted so largely in our favor on many public occasions.

Resolved, That while we regret the necessity which deprives us of his able services, we tender him our sincere wishes for his future prosperity and happiness.

The usual semi-annual dividend on the Concord and Portsmouth railroad will be paid at the clerk's office (William H. Hackett's) in this city on Saturday, the 29th inst.

The monthly false alarm of fire at the navy yard was sounded at one o'clock Thursday afternoon; steamer "Dupont" was playing a stream on the locality of the imaginary fire in four minutes after the alarm was given.

A flagstaff with a big gilded truck was placed in position on top of the Walker block, Congress street, Thursday. Owing to unfavorable weather the sidewalk inspection of the job was not so thorough as it otherwise would have been.

The officers and employes of the Eastern railroad contributed a purse of $134 for Mr. Benjamin B. Hutchinson, a former employe of the road but now disabled at his home in this city from an injury received while in the discharge of his duty, and Baggage Master Arthur Pickering forwarded the money to him as a Christmas gift. Mr. Hutchinson was at one time a compositor in the Journal office, where he learned the printer's trade, but afterward went on the Eastern railroad as a brakeman; by an accident at the knownothing crossing in Somerville, Mass., several years ago, when he stood bravely at his post, he received an injury to his right hand which resulted in the loss of the arm.

Meagher's family clam chowder, now become an established institution, will be delivered to-day on order, as heretofore.

Gen. S. F. Cary, of Ohio, the celebrated Buckeye orator, will speak on Temperance next Sunday afternoon in Music hall, under the auspices of the Woman's Temperance League. Gen. Cary is an eloquent and polished speaker, and holds the pleased attention of an audience as long as he chooses to talk.

At a meeting of the newly-elected Maine Central railroad directors George E. B. Jackson was elected president, Payson Tucker vice president and general manager, and J. H. Dummond clerk—all unanimously.

Voluminous clouds of smoke were issuing from the chimney of the Portsmouth Machine Co.'s works on Thursday.

The Christmas festival of the Episcopal Sunday schools was held in Congress hall on Thursday evening.

At Kittery, Dec. 26th, Mr. Daniel Nason while cutting up the carcass of a pig received a gash nearly three inches deep in one of his thighs, through the slipping of the knife.

The schoolhouse in district one of Eliot, which was burned Dec. 20th, was insured to the amount of $500. It took fire just before school was dismissed in the afternoon, from hot ashes deposited in an insecure place. There was a hall over the schoolroom, used for religious meetings.

The Best Baking Powder.

The best baking powder is made from pure Cream of Tartar, Bicarbonate of Soda, and a small quanity of flour or starch. Frequently other ingredients are used, and serve a purpose in reducing the cost and increasing the profits of the manufacturer.

We give the Government Chemist's analyses of two of the leading baking powders:

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Flour.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Carbonate of Ammonia,
Tartaric Acid,
Starch.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

NOTE.—The Tartaric acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.
NEW YORK, Jan'y 17th, 1881.

The above analyses indicate a preference for "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," and our opinion is that it is the better preparation.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Those who doubt these assertions should procure the new medical work, published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, premature decline of man, or vigor impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Sixth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, for whom a prize was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. 300 pages, sent post-paid, for 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1.25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—[London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Author.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

BEAUTY SOAP

TO keep the pores open, the oil glands and tubes active, and thus furnish an outlet for impurities in the perspiration and blood which cause humiliating blotches, blackheads, and minor skin blemishes, especially of infants to cleanse, whiten and beautify the skin, remove tan, freckles, sunburn, and oily matter; to keep the hands soft, white and free from chapping, roughness, prevent contagious skin and scalp diseases, and to provide an exquisite skin beautifier and toilet, bath and nursery sanative combined with delicious flower odors and CUTICURA healing balsams, use the CUTICURA SOAP. Indorsed by physicians and chemists as absolutely pure and highly medicinal. Sales 1881-2 1,000,000 cakes.

THE HERITAGE OF WOE

Misery, shame and agony often bequeathed as a sole legacy to children by parents as inherited scrofula. To cleanse the blood of this hereditary poison, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the skin of all disfiguring humors, itching tortures, humiliating eruptions, and loathsome sores caused by it, to purify and beautify the skin, and restore the hair so that no trace of the disease remains, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, diuretic and aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great skin cures and beautifiers, are infallible.

I HAD SALT RHEUM

In the most aggravating form for eight years. No kind of treatment, medicine or doctor did me any permanent good. My friends in Malden know how suffered. When I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES my limbs were so badly swollen that I could not bear my weight on them without the skin cracking and bleeding, and was obliged to go about on crutches. Used the CUTICURA REMEDIES five months, and was completely and permanently cured.

COPPER-COLORED.

I have been afflicted with troublesome skin disease, covering almost completely the upper part of my body, causing my skin to assume a copper-colored hue. It could be rubbed off like dandruff, and at times causing intolerable itching and the most intense suffering. I have used blood purifiers, pills, and other advertised remedies, but experienced no relief until I procured the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which, though used carelessly and irregularly, cured me, allaying that terrific itching, and restoring my skin to its natural color. I am willing to make affidavit to the truth of this statement. S. G. BUXTON, Milan, Mich.

That Sea Serpent Identified.

The report of Capt. Green of the life-saving service in regard to the appearance of a sea serpent off Long Branch a few weeks ago was referred to Prof. Baird of the Smithsonian Institute, who has written to Mr. Kimball, general superintendent of the life saving service, as follows: "On carefully considering this matter, I have no difficulty in identifying the object referred to as the devil fish of South Carolina, or manta of Spanish America. This is a huge sting-ray, a fish with projections on each side of the snout, by means of which it sometimes picks up the anchor of a good-sized boat and carries it off, towing the boat at a high rate of speed to sea, very much to the alarm of the crew. In the old Beale museum, famous in Philadelphia forty years ago, there was a stuffed skin of one, taken in the Delaware river, that measured twenty-five feet across the flappers; its length was somewhat less than this."

The latest news from Africa is that the Zulu King has the croup; this news is doubted by many, but notwithstanding, the friends of the king have sent him a case of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup and consequently know his cure is certain.

A World of Good.

One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other Bitters, as it is not a whiskey drink. It is more like the old-fashioned 'one-set tea, that has done a world of good. If you dont feel just right, try Hop Bitters.—Nunda News.

Food That Is Poisoned

by unclean teeth breeds dyspepsia. Such, at least, is the declared opinion of medical men. Remedy the evil with purifying, aromatic Sozodont, which clears away corrosive particles which lodge in the teeth and produce an acid ferment, that in time destroyes their enamel and ruins them. It prevents the unspeakable annoyance caused by defective teeth, if it is used while they can yet be saved from the destructive effects of tartar and other impurities.

WIT AND HUMOR.

What is that which nobody wants and nobody likes to lose? A lawsuit.

Quite frightful—Nihilism is not the worst evil of Russia. The women are said to be addicted to china-painting.

"How Can a Woman Tell?" is the title of a recent poem. Humph! How can she help telling?

A young lady has written a book called "My Lovers." It begins, of course, at Chap. I.

"Can a noun in the plural number be also in the singular number?" Oh, yes. For instance: Drugs are a drug in the market.

General Sherman cannot restrain his boisterous merriment over the Nashville man who had to pay $800 for kissing a school teacher.

Church music is sold by the choir. Drum music, and much of the piano kind, comes by the pound.—New Orleans Picayune.

There are two colored women lawyers in the United States, and when one of them gets to talking the court hears more black's tone than it ever dreamed could be utilized in practice.

Some unknown person attempted to break into a Louisville editor's house recently, but discovered his mistake and escaped before the editor could rob him.

A Maine woman offered her husband at auction and no one bid. Then she put up a billy goat, and $12 was offered. Ever since, in talking with the former, she puts this and that together.

Anthony Trollope said that an ill-fitting shirt-collar would keep him from thinking. This shows Mr. Trollope's eccentricity. An ill-fitting shirt-collar will make the average man think with great rapidity.

Butcher: "I can't accept that trade dollar, madam; it is not a legal tender." Customer: "Oh, you needn't put on any airs about that trade dollar! It is as near legal tender as your beef is."

A Texas man has been sentenced to ninety-two years in the penitentiary. The judge would have made it an even hundred, but didn't want to be hard on the fellow for his first offense.—Bismarck Tribune.

The new Queen of Madagascar's name, being interpreted, means "Cloud-full-of-water." Very few paragraphists have mist making a pun on her name. What her husband wants to lay up for a reigny day is an umbrella.—Norristown Herald.

A woman who is kissed by mistake in the dark always screams and makes a great row about it, but one can wager she is provoked in another way when the man commences to offer excuses and says he wouldn't have done it if he had known whom it was.

"Sarah Jane," said a fond mother the other morning to her daughter, "did Daniel Johnson kiss you on the steps last night?" "No, mamma, he did not." If the fond parent had said mouth instead of steps, it would have troubled Jane to reply.

An exchange says: "Eve didn't lose much time because she had no looking-glass to be running to every half hour." "If we believe tradition, grandma was a rather good-looking lass herself," remarks Burdette, as he softly chuckles to himself.

"Yes," said the marketman, "Tawmus is mean about some things. Why, he's been hunting four times this week. The first day he bought a fox and a brace of ducks from me, and hang me if he hasn't used those same ducks and that fox every day since."

A Philadelphia man, in a sleeping-car, went through a terrible accident in which the sleeping car rolled down an embankment, without waking. It was noticed, however, that as the car struck the bottom he murmured: "Don't, Jane, don't; I'll get up and start the fire."

A Woman's Exchange has been opened in Washington, and already the secretary has received letters from several married men in various parts of the country, making inquiries concerning the probable expense of exchanging their "old women" for others. A misunderstanding probably exists somewhere.

A San Francisco man advertised for "320 red-headed girls—must be good-looking," and not one response was received. A few days later he advertised for "320 golden-haired beauties," and before the paper was out two hours the street in front of his office was crowded with just the style of beauty he desired.

"What would society do if a man should enter a ball-room with his arms bare to his shoulder and his shirt open from where his suspenders cross on his back to the third button on his vest in front?" asks a society paper. Society would say he was drunk.—Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

Miss Edith (aged 6)—Mamma, they say the Gibbses have come into a whole lot of money. Ella Stanford says they are real common and vulgar, but I think we had better be very nice to them, as there are two boys in the family about my age, and when I grow up something might come out of it, you know.

A trade circular, under the title, "What Will the Coming Girl Wear?" contains a description of the articles likely to constitute the wardrobe of the future. It is a description sufficient to convince anybody that what the coming girl will chiefly wear is a hole in the pocketbook of the man who supports her.

"How long have you been married?" asked the clerk at the hotel desk, as the elderly bridegroom registered. "Two weeks," replied the happy man. "Front!" cried the clerk, "show the gentleman to parlor B—$15 a day, sir." "Third wife," calmly said the guest. "Oh, excuse me. Front, show the gentleman to 824 back. Take the elevator; $4 a week, sir."

The Penobscot Indians, who have been a part of the history of Maine for 300 years, have intermarried until they have become almost white. Oldtown, the seat of their mission, has decreased from a population of 8,000 in 1625 to a mere hamlet of a few hundred souls in 1883.

A GREAT SUCCESS

AYER'S PILLS.

A large proportion of the diseases which cause human suffering result from derangement of the stomach, bowels, and liver. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS act directly upon these organs, and are specially designed to cure the diseases caused by their derangement, including Constipation, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, Dysentery, and a host of other ailments, for all of which they are a safe, sure, prompt, and pleasant remedy. The extensive use of these PILLS by eminent physicians in regular practice, shows unmistakably the estimation in which they are held by the medical profession.

These PILLS are compounded of vegetable substances only, and are absolutely free from calomel or any other injurious ingredient.

A Sufferer from Headache writes:

"AYER'S PILLS are invaluable to me, and are my constant companion. I have been a severe sufferer from Headache, and your PILLS are the only thing I could look to for relief. One dose will quickly move my bowels and free my head from pain. They are the most effective and the easiest physic I have ever found. It is a pleasure to me to speak in their praise, and I always do so when occasion offers."

W. L. PAGE, of W. L. Page & Bro.,

Franklin St., Richmond, Va., June 5, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S PILLS in numberless instances as recommended by you, and have never known them to fail to accomplish the desired result. We constantly keep them on hand at our home, and prize them as a pleasant, safe, and reliable family medicine. FOR DYSPEPSIA they are invaluable."

J. T. HAYES.

Mexia, Texas, June 17, 1882.

The REV. FRANCIS B. HARLOWE, writing from Atlanta, Ga., says: "For some years past I have been subject to constipation, from which, in spite of the use of medicines of various kinds, I suffered increasing inconvenience, until some months ago I began taking AYER'S PILLS. They have entirely corrected the costive habit, and have vastly improved my general health."

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS correct irregularities of the bowels, stimulate the appetite and digestion, and by their prompt and thorough action give tone and vigor to the whole physical economy.

SCIPIO, N. Y., Dec. 1, 1879.

I am the Pastor of the Baptist Church here, and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician, and advise in many chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

Capt. Albert A. Folsom of Boston, superintendent of the Boston & Providence railroad, has lately received from a member of the honorable artillery company of London a fine photograph of the duke of Portland, second in command of that company.

Human Blood.—On the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system. Disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause. A remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it as Hood's Sarsaparilla undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use. Sold by dealers.

Could Not Keep

Shop without them. I consider your Sulphur Bitters a remarkable blood purifier. I know of several people, whose cases were considered hopeless, that have been entirely cured by your medicine. The sale of Sulphur Bitters is so large here that I could not keep shop without them. E. S. Yates, Pharmacist, 99 Essex street, Lawrence, Mass.

The untidy, dirty appearance of a grizzly beard should never be allowed. Buckingham's Dye for the Whiskers will readily change their color to a brown or black, at discretion, and thus keep up your reputation for neatness and good looks.

Collectors of customs in the United States have been warned to look out for the schooner Theresa A. Kennedy of New Orleans, stolen with a valuable cargo by her captain from a port in the Canary islands. She is a small craft, registering only thirty-three tons.

I would recommend Ely's Cream Balm to anyone having Catarrh or Catarrhal Asthma. I have suffered for the last five years so I could not lie down for weeks at a time. Since I have been using the Balm I can lie down and rest nicely. I thank God that you ever invented such a medicine. Frank P. Burleigh, Farmington, N. H.

For 25 years I have been afflicted with Catarrh so that I have been confined to my room for two months at a time. I have tried all the humbugs in hopes of relief, but with no success until I met with an old friend who had used Ely's Cream Balm and advised me to try it. I procured a bottle and from the first application I found relief. It is the best remedy I have ever tried. W. C. Mathews, Justice of the Peace, Shenandoah, Iowa.

A woman has been arrested at Leyden, Holland, and confesses to the murder of sixteen persons, most of them being near relatives of hers, whom she murdered after getting their lives insured. Five of the victims were her own children. She is a bad woman.

Let These Things be Considered.

Thousands of men die every day who could be saved. Prejudice is mainly to blame for this loss of life. If it were believed that the sum of disease may certainly be reduced by physic, much would be gained. And yet the proposition is very simple: if you take out daily more impurities than is daily generated, you will soon be rid of impurities. The effect of this wise practice is soon seen in Bilious, Liver, and Kidney troubles. But it is equally of value in head and brain affections; in Pleurisy, Pneumonia, Apoplexy, and Paralysis.

In chronic and acute Rheumatism, and in all affections of the bowels, this principle soon relieves and cures, when the medicine used is Brandreth's Pills.

Yes, when all other means and medicine have failed to relieve from pain, these pills have cured, by taking impurities from the bowels and blood, and thousands of men and women now place Brandreth's Pills among the blessings of mankind.

More members of the "salvation army" have been arrested in Bridgeport, Conn., for parading the streets in procession without license.

The Night After Christmas.

'Twas the night after Christmas; the boys were awake,
After stuffing with turkey, and pudding, and cake,
And doughnuts, and oysters, and plums, and mince pies,
There were moanings and groanings and piteous cries:
"O my stomach!" "O Moses!" "O help!" "I shall die!"
"How I wish that I hadn't had half as much pie!"
"O mother!" "Come, hurry!" "O what shall I do!"
"Bring something to cure me!" "Boo-hoo" and "Boo-hoo!"
And mother, alarmed by the racket and noise,
Ran in to see what she could do for the boys.
Perry Davis's Pain Killer she brought for relief,
And soon made an end of their noise and their grief;
Then there was quiet and joy in the house,
And each of the lads was as still as a mouse.

A World of Good.

One of the most popular medicines now before the American public, is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. Food That is Poisoned by unclean teeth breeds dyspepsia. Such, at least, is the declared opinion of medical men. Remedy the evil with purifying, aromatic Sozodont, which clears away corrosive particles which lodge in the teeth and produce an acid ferment, that in time destroyes their enamel and ruins them. It prevents the unspeakable annoyance caused by defective teeth, if it is used while they can yet be saved from the destructive effects of tartar and other impurities.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1883.

A shocking crime is reported from Beverly, West Virginia, where the remains of Mrs. Elizabeth Summerfield and two young children were found in the charred ruins of their house. They lived in a secluded spot, and the house was evidently burned several days before the crime was discovered, the ruins being covered with snow when found. The bodies were chopped in pieces by the murderer or murderers, probably in the hope that they would then be wholly consumed.

At Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 26th, the steamer Reindeer was swept away with a tow of three barges; four other steamers were damaged at the wharves, and the three barges went over the dam and were destroyed. The Reindeer struck a bridge, blew up, and sank, three of her crew being drowned.

William J. Hutchings, an extensive meat dealer of Meriden, Conn., who recently ran away from that city with five or six thousand dollars, leaving behind a wife and three children and debts to the amount of $10,000, was accompanied in his flight by Mrs. John Wilkinson, who when departing took her husband's money, but left him their two children.

The barque Mohawk, which sailed from New York for Calcutta Dec. 22d, with a crew of twenty men, came to anchor off New Haven on the 24th, nine of the crew having had hands and feet frozen so badly that they were taken to the hospital in New Haven; two of them will lose their feet. One seaman fell from aloft and was killed.

It is announced from Hanover, Germany, that Col. Henry R. Rathbone of Albany, N. Y., recently killed his wife and then fatally wounded himself, it is supposed while insane. Mrs. Rathbone was a daughter of Ira Harris, formerly United States senator from New York. Col. Rathbone and Miss Harris were in the box at Ford's theatre, Washington, with President Lincoln, at the time of his murder, and Col. Rathbone was severely wounded in the arm by the dagger of the assassin Booth, whom he attempted to detain.

It is reported that among some men recently captured by the Haytian steamer Dessalines, and shot, were two British subjects.

A snow slide occurred near Montezuma, Colorado, carrying John Headstrom, John Ahlstrom and John Ling, three miners, half a mile down the mountain. Ahlstrom and Ling were found badly frozen, and will probably die. Headstrom, who is still missing, must have been killed.

On Wednesday evening of this week a well known grocer doing business on Hanover street fixed himself up in gorgeous array, with the design of spending a pleasant hour at Music hall with a number of relatives from the eastward, in enjoying the spectacular drama of the "White Slave." Upon arriving at the door of the hall John found everything very dark, which excited his wrath; and he was in no wise mollified, on trying the door, to find he could not get in. A passer-by giving the information that the entertainment was to take place the next evening, the party started for home with their indignation considerably appeased. People should read the papers more closely.

Mr. Samuel Sides, recently second officer of the four-masted schooner Jonathan Bourne, will leave Portsmouth next week to take charge of a large ice-house on the Kennebec river.

John Stetson's company will play "Confusion" at Music hall on Friday evening, Jan. 4th. "Confusion" is now playing at the Globe theatre, Boston, to crowded houses.

Mr. George L. Harriman of this city has for the past year been doing considerable granite work in the growing town of Merrimac, Mass., and several workmen from this city have been employed by him. A new cemetery is being laid out there, and Mr. Harriman anticipates receiving a share of the work.

Aaron H. Bean, a retired wine and tea merchant of New York, died Dec. 26th. He was born in Candia in 1810, and at an early age went to New York. He was for some time in partnership with his brother, Dudley Bean.

In Dover, on the evening of Dec. 26th, the wife of Rev. James Thurston fell on a slippery sidewalk and broke one of her wrists. The Democrat intimates that a claim for damages will be made against the city.

The village reservoir of Plymouth was emptied of water on the night of Dec. 27th, the water flowing over the earthen dam and cutting a narrow channel to the bottom. No damage was done by the escaped water.

A CARD.

Having made large additions to our stock of standard goods, we shall sell the same at greatly reduced prices. Having done for eight years a liberal credit business, we now propose to do a liberal cash business. To our regular customers we shall give thirty days, which is all we get, and all that we can afford to give. For our transient customers we have no books. Our store is large and expenses small, and we shall sell our goods at a small margin for cash. The high quality of our goods will be maintained and guaranteed as represented. We do this to protect ourselves from those who expect the grocers to furnish them with the necessaries of life and take their chances for the pay, and in a great many cases, the grocer "gets left." We do not think our customers can find any fault with this way of doing business, which will not only benefit us, but them also. Thanking the public for their generous patronage in the past, we would ask for a continuance of the same.

Respectfully, H. W. OXFORD.

Look Out for It January 1.

BOSTON, December 28.—Next Tuesday, January 1, THE BOSTON DAILY GLOBE will issue a number of extraordinary interest, and everybody who buys THE GLOBE will receive free a facsimile of the Chronicle just as it was printed in Boston January 1, 1784. MEDICAL.

THE WONDER

is becoming universal as to how such an immense sale could be created in Lowell for HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA. But, my friend, if you could stand behind our counter a week and hear what those say who are using it, the reason would appear as clear as the noon-day sun. The real curative power of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA demonstrates itself in every case where our directions are faithfully regarded. We would that we might get before the people a fractional part of the confidence that is expressed to us every day in this medicine by those who have carefully noted (without prejudice) its effects upon the blood and through that upon the whole system, stimulating all the functions of the body to perform the duties nature requires of them. Try a bottle and satisfy yourself.

Cold Hands and Feet.

LOWELL, Feb. 3, 1879.

MESSRS. C. I. Hood & Co., Gentlemen:—About one year ago my daughter commenced taking your Sarsaparilla. At that time she had very little appetite; could take no long walks, and her face was badly broken out with a humor. She was low-spirited; troubled with cold hands and feet; her blood seemed to be poor, and she was in a condition which caused us great anxiety. After taking one bottle of your Sarsaparilla she began to improve; and she now has a good appetite and can take much longer walks. Her humor is nothing compared with what it was one year ago. She is in better spirits, is not troubled with cold hands and feet as previously. All I attribute this improvement in her condition largely to your Sarsaparilla. She has taken six bottles, and intends to continue its use. I was inclined to oppose the trial of it at first. I now have great faith in it as a blood purifier. Very truly yours,

GOSSIPS SAY

That Naval Constructor Boush, formerly of this navy yard, is visiting friends in Portsmouth, Va.

That the well near the first Newcastle bridge, from which the residents of Pleasant point have drawn water for three-quarters of a century, has suddenly become salt as brine.

That the dwellers there are digging a new well.

That a little girl of this city, being told on Christmas eve that if Santa Claus on his rounds should find a nice cigar and matches on the mantel he would smoke the weed, and leave a generous supply of presents for the courtesy, procured two strong "ten-centers" and put them in a conspicuous place, taking care that the cuspidore should be near by.

That the fond father, arriving home late at night well laden with presents, was told by his wife that the cigars must be smoked and the stubs placed in the cuspidore, to keep up the Santa Claus illusion.

That the f. f. aforesaid smoked himself deathly sick, and Santa Claus left lots of presents, but somehow the Christmas goose did not sit well on the stomach of the head of that family.

HAVERLY'S SPECTACULAR MASTODON MINSTRELS.

The Boston Herald of Dec. 25th speaks as follows of the performance of Haverly's Spectacular Mastoden Minstrels, which will appear in Music hall on Monday evening:

The entertainment is full of fun and rich in humor, and the musical part of it is above the average in excellence. The "first part" is well arranged and contains good material, well utilized; old and time-worn jokes have been retired, to give place to fresh ones just as good and a great deal more welcome. Schoolcraft, Powers, Martin and Le Mock manipulate the bones; the tambourines are skilfully tossed about by J. Carroll Johnson, W. H. Smith, Waldron and Cronin; and the familiar face and figure of George Coes are seen in the centre. "Pleasures of a Boarding House," "Some Day," "Duffy, the Swell," and the "Rustic Bridge by the Mill" were among the musical selections, and were all redemanded. In the second part, Mr. George Powers displayed his skill with the banjo; the original "Big Four," Smith, Waldron, Cronin and Martin, gave a comical burlesque entitled "Barn Yard Frolic;" Schoolcraft and Coes were heartily welcomed in a funny sketch; Adams and Casey gave a clever musical act, and the whole company appeared in a comical absurdity called "The Princess of Madagascar." In this piece the native humor and eccentricities of the comedians are given full sway, and make up a rare treat for the lovers of a healthy, full-grown laugh.

A lecture is announced to be given on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Music hall, by Hon. Samuel F. Cary of Ohio; subject, "Wine; its use and abuse." There can be no question as to a full attendance by the temperance organization and all interested in the subject; but for the credit of our city it is to be hoped that a large and appreciative audience will greet the distinguished orator, who comes to speak for a cause to which he has devoted time and means for many years. It is to be hoped that by his powerful address he will excite a deep interest in a reform tending to the general abolition of the great curse of the country.

COM.

A small fishing schooner which was anchored in "the pool" inside the second Newcastle bridge about three weeks ago, was blown ashore on the rocks at Pest island by the gale of Friday, and at low water was high and dry, and in a bad position. She was reported as belonging to a Mr. Pridham, formerly of Newcastle but now a resident of this city.

On Thursday evening about 7:30 o'clock, while the rain was falling briskly, the sky was several times lighted up by flashes of lightning, though no thunder was heard so far as we are aware. In Boston there was a heavy thunder storm that evening, with much rain. Portland, Me., Providence, R. I., and New Haven, Conn., all report thunder storms that evening, a factory in New Haven being set on fire in three places by the electric fluid, and telephone and telegraph business much disarranged.

Gen. Cary, who is to give in Music hall his famous lecture in reply to Col. Ingersoll's position in regard to infidelity, is a world-wide famous orator. He speaks without notes, with that vigor of oratory which charms his auditors. The occasion affords a rare, a very rare opportunity for our people to listen to an able and eloquent address. The audiences which have listened to Gen. Cary throughout the state have been delighted with his masterly and indeed almost matchless oratory, and have listened with unabated zest to his remarks not only because of his attractive oratorical powers, but by reason of the cogent reasoning and logical positions he assumes and maintains. He has been welcomed everywhere with crowded houses, and the press of Nashua, Concord and other cities speak in the highest terms of commendation of his brilliant oratorical achievements.

The schooner Satellite, Aderton master, arrived at Portsmouth bridge on Thursday last from Cape Ann, and has hauled up for the winter. There are three Adertons employed in the brick-carrying business,—the father and two sons; Sewell says the Satellite is the last vessel of the brick fleet to lie up.

At the recent annual meeting of the Sabbath school of the Court street Christian church, Mr. Charles E. Buzzell was elected superintendent for the fourteenth year.

Rev. Edwin Johnson died in Morrisania, N. Y., on Christmas morning. He was born in Plymouth, Conn., in 1826; was graduated at Yale college in 1846, and was pastor of Congregational churches in several parts of the country about twenty-five years. He established a young ladies' seminary in Morrisania in 1878, and conducted it till his death. He married Sarah Bartlett, daughter of Mr. James Bartlett of this city, in 1850, and his wife and daughters survive him.

It is rumored that Commodore T. Scott Fillebrown is to succeed Commodore Wells in command of this navy yard.

The red sunsets still hold out; one of the most beautiful of the series was that of Friday evening.

The Government Chemist Analyzes two of the Leading Baking Powders, and what he finds them made of.

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Flour

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Carbonate of Ammonia
Tartaric Acid
Starch

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

Note.—The Tartaric Acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.

NEW YORK, JAN'Y 17TH, 1881.

The above shows conclusively that "Cleveland's Superior" is a strictly pure Cream of Tartar Baking Powder. It has also been analyzed by Professor Johnson of Yale College; Dr. Genth of the University of Pennsylvania; President Morton of the Stevens Institute; Wm. M. Habirshaw, F. C. S., Analyst for the Chemical Trade of New York, and other eminent chemists, all of whom pronounce it absolutely pure and healthful.

BEAUTY SOAP

TO keep the pores open, the oil glands and tube ducts, and thus furnish an outlet for impurities in the perspiration and blood which cause humiliating blotches, blackheads, and minor skin blemishes especially of infants; to cleanse, whiten and beautify the skin, remove freckles, sunburn, and oily matter; to keep the hands soft and free from chaps and roughness, prevent contagious skin and scalp diseases; and to provide an exquisite skin beautifier and toilet, bath and nursery sanative soap, with delicious flower odors and CUTICURA healing balsams, use the CUTICURA SOAP. Indorsed by physicians and chemists as absolutely pure and highly medicinal. Sales 1881-2 1,000,000 cakes.

THE HERITAGE OF WOE

Misery, shame and agony often bequeathed as a sole legacy to children by parents in neglected scrofula. To cleanse the blood of this hereditary poison, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the skin of disfiguring humors, itching tortures, humiliating eruptions, and loathsome sores caused by it, to purify and beautify the skin, and restore the hair so that no trace of the disease remains, use CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, diuretic and aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great skin cures and beautifiers, are infallible.

I HAD SALT RHEUM

In the most aggravating form for eight years. No kind of treatment, medicine or doctors did me any permanent good. My friends thought I should have suffered. When I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES my limbs were so raw and tender that they bear my weight; they broke out the skin cracking and bleeding, and was obliged to go about on crutches. Used the CUTICURA REMEDIES five months, and was completely and permanently cured.

COPPER-COLORED.

I have been afflicted with troublesome skin disease, covering almost completely the upper part of my body, causing my skin to assume a copper-colored hue. It could be rubbed off like dandruff, and at times causing intolerable itching and the most intense suffering. I have used blood purifiers, pills, and other advertised remedies, but experienced no relief until I procured the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which, though used sparingly and irregularly, cured me, allaying that terrible itching, and restoring my skin to its natural color. I am willing to make affidavit to the truth of this statement. S. G. BUXTON, Milan, Mich.

FOR WOMAN'S LOVE.

By MRS. SOUTHWORTH,

AUTHOR OF "THE HIDDEN HAND," "SELF-MADE," &c.

A BRILLIANT MATCH.

"Well, to think of it! Why, I remember Regulas Rothsay—or Rule, as we used to call him in them days—when he was a little bit of a fellow hardly up to my knee, running about barefooted and doing odd jobs 'round the foundry. Ah! and now he is elected governor of this State by the biggest majority ever heard of, and engaged to be married to the finest young lady in the country, with the full consent of all her proud relations. To be married to-day and to be inaugurated to-morrow, and he only thirty-two years old this blessed seventh of June! Well, well, wonders will never cease. But I tell you what, neighbors, such a thing could never happen in any country but this."

The speaker was a little, hale old man of sixty years, with a bald head, a sharp face, a ruddy complexion, and a figure almost as twisted as a yew tree, and about as tough. He was Silas Marwig, one of the foremen of the foundry.

"Well, I don't believe Regulas Rothsay would ever have risen to his present position if it had not been for his love of Corona Haught. No more do I believe that young Rockharrt would ever have allowed his beautiful granddaughter to be engaged to Rothsay if the young man had not been elected governor, with the prospect of reaching still higher honors," observed a stout, florid-faced matron of forty-five.

"I think you are about right in that, Mrs. Bounce," said Marwig.

"And how hard he worked for her! And how long she waited for him! Why, I remember them both so well! They were the very best of friends from their childhood—the wealthy little lady and the poor orphan boy. She taught him to read when she was only seven years old and he was twelve. And her haughty people no more objected to her fancy for teaching the poor orphan boy to read than if he had been a dog she was training to stand on his hind legs, so low and mean they thought him, and so high and mighty themselves. And now to think of him!"

"Ay, ay; but what gets me, Mrs. Bounce, is the question why one of my boys, or yours, couldn't have done the same thing, and been an honor to us. My Sam and your Phil had a heap more sense than that little fellow, and a better education, too, to begin with. Why, people used to say little Rudy was off his head when they found him poring over his book every minute he could snatch from running errands. Now, what ailed our sharp lads, not to rise to honors, instead of keeping on working in Rockhart & Son's foundry? It's luck! That's what it is. Luck!"

"Well, no. I don't think it's luck, Mr. Marwig. It is gifts. 'Gifts are divers,' you know. And as for me, I think our hard-working lads are doing us honor. I think it is just as honorable to make a steam engine as it is to make a state cabinet."

"That it is very true, Mrs. Bounce," said a young man, who was a newcomer in the neighborhood and one of the bookkeepers of the great firm. "But what I wish to know is this: How did that poor, friendless, orphan boy get his education? In such a place as this, too?"

"By hook and by crook, as the saying is, Mr. Wall. I think the little lady taught him to read and write, and she loaned him books. He left here when he was about thirteen years old."

"Where did he go?" inquired the bookkeeper.

"He went to the city, and got into the printing office of The National Watch. And he learned the trade. And, oh, you know a bright, earnest boy like that was bound to get on. He worked hard and he studied hard. After a while he began to write short, telling paragraphs for the Watch, and these at length were noticed and copied—"

"And, after a few years, he became assistant editor of the paper," suggested the young man.

"Yes. And by the time he was twenty-five years old he had bought the paper out."

"And, of course, he made it such a paper as it had never been before. Quite a power in politics," again suggested the bookkeeper.

"You better believe it. I reckon you know as well as I do the power of the Watch."

"Oh, yes. And I see the rest. He was elected State representative; then State senator."

"Yes, indeed. You've hit it. And now he is going to marry his first love to-day, and to take his seat as governor to-morrow," concluded the matron, with a little chuckle.

"Regulas Rothsay will never take his seat as governor of this State," spoke a solemn voice from the thicket on the right of the road along which the party were walking to the scene of the grand wedding.

At this startling speech instant silence fell upon the merry talkers.

All turned to see a strange form step out from the shelter of the trees—a tall, gaunt, swarthy woman, stern of feature and harsh of tone; her head covered with wild, straggling black hair; her body clothed in a long, clinging garment of dark red serge.

"It is Old Scythia," muttered the matron, shuddering and shrinking closer to the side of the bookkeeper, for the strange creature was reported and believed by the ignorant and superstitious of the neighborhood to be a very powerful and malignant witch.

"Regulas Rothsay will never take his seat as governor of this state!"

As the beldame repeated and emphasized these words, she raised her hand with a prophetic gesture and advanced upon the group of pedestrians.

"Now, then, you old crow! What are you up to with your croaking?" demanded Mr. Marwig.

"To warn you of evil so near, so awful, so mysterious, that its like has never happened before on this earth!"

"The fiend fly away with you, what do you mean by that?" demanded the foreman.

"REGULAS ROTHSAY WILL NEVER TAKE HIS SEAT AS GOVERNOR OF THIS STATE."

The obstinate reiteration of these words put old Marwig into a passion.

"Look here, Mistress Beelzebub! Do you know that you are a very lucky woman to live in a land, and in an age, where not only may a barefooted boy rise to the highest honors by talent and perseverance, but where a malignant old witch may torture and terrify her neighbors without fear of the ducking stool or the stake?" he demanded.

The beldame looked at him scornfully, and disdained to reply.

"Wait!" said a stout, dark, middle-aged, black-whiskered man, Timothy Ryland by name, and one of the managers of the "works" by state. "Wait, I want to question this miserable lunatic. She may have got wind of something. Tell me, old mother, why will not the governor-elect take his seat to-morrow?"

"Because Fate forbids it," solemnly replied the crone.

"How is Fate to prevent it?"

"I don't know."

"Will the governor be murdered?" He whispered the last word.

"No! Regulas Rothsay has not an enemy in the world!" exclaimed the beldame as in scorn of the question.

"Will he be killed on the railroad?"

"No!"

"Will he be kidnapped?"

"No!"

"Will he be taken suddenly ill? Too ill to go to the State House?"

"No! He never was ill in his life, and never will be!"

"What, then, in the fiend's name is to prevent his taking his seat to-morrow?" impatiently demanded the manager.

"Fate," solemnly replied the woman.

"You said that before. But what form will Fate take?"

"That of an evil so dire, so awful, so mysterious, that its like never happened on this earth!"

"You said that before also!" exclaimed the manager.

"Arrest her! Arrest her, Mr. Ryland! She ought to be taken and locked up until she could be sent to the lunatic asylum!" exclaimed old Marwig, in some trepidation.

"I have no power to do so, my friend," replied the manager.

"Why, where is she?" inquired Mrs. Bounce, trembling. "Who saw her go?"

No one answered, but every one looked around. Not a trace of the witch could be seen. She had passed like a dark cloud from among them and was gone.

"She makes my flesh creep," muttered Mrs. Bounce.

"Mine, too," whispered Ann Lang, a tall, thin, fair young woman, a seamstress by trade. "You know she can tell true what's a going to happen. She's done it again and again!"

"Yes I know! I know she can!" said Mrs. Bounce.

"She has missed it this time, though! What's to prevent Mr. Rothsay from taking his seat to-morrow? He is in first-rate health, up at the North End Hotel, with his groomsmen, waiting for the hour to come down to Rockhold to be married."

"Ah!" that wedding will be a show! But I should like to see the inauguration as well!"

"How do you know that there will be any inauguration? Wait till you see what is going to happen. Old Scythia tells true!" said Miss Lang.

"Ah, yes! that she does!" assented Mrs. Bounce. "Didn't she prophecy of little Ruly, that as sure as he lived to grow up, he would make a man?"

This argument was received with a burst of laughter.

"It don't take a witch to tell that!" said the bookkeeper.

"Oh, you know what she meant! that Ruly would make just the sort of man he has made! And didn't she prophecy he would be elected? And isn't he elected? Old Scythia has second sight, and she tells true."

"Now stop croaking! Here we are, opposite Rockhold," said Mr. Ryland.

It was a glorious day in June among the mountains.

A long, deep green valley lay low between two lofty ridges of the Cumberland Mountains, running north and south for ten miles, and near the boundary lines of three States.

This lovely vale was watered by a merry, sparkling little river called the Whirligig, which furnished the power for all the huge machineries of the great firm of Rockhart & Sons, proprietors of the Plutus Iron Mines and the North End Founderies, which supplied the mighty engines on the great lines of railroad from the east to the west, and whose massive buildings, forges, furnaces, storehouses, laborers' cottages, and so on, occupied all the ground between the foot of the mountain and the banks of the river, on both sides the Whirligig, at the upper or north end of the valley, where a substantial bridge connected the two shores.

This settlement, called, from its position, North End, was quite a thriving little village. The gathering together of so many workmen at the mines and foundries had drawn trades-people and other honest adventurers to the spot.

On this bright, June morning the great works were all stopped. There was a general holiday, and as this was at the cost of the firm, it gave general satisfaction.

All the people of North End, except the aged, infirm and infantile, were trooping down the valley, on the rough road between the foot of the West Ridge and the side of the river, to a fete to be given them at Rockhold on the occasion of the marriage of Old Aaron Rockharrt's granddaughter, Corona Haught, to Regulas Rothsay, the governor-elect of the State.

It was a marriage of very rare interest to the workmen and their families.

To the men, because the governor-elect had been one of their own class. The elders remembered him from the time when he was a friendless orphan child, glad to run the longest errand or do the hardest day's work for a dime, but also a very independent little fellow, who would take nothing in the shape of alms from anybody.

To the women, because he was going to marry his first and only sweetheart, and on the very day before his inauguration, so that she might take part in the pageantry that was to be his first great success and triumph.

And, therefore, all these people talked so incessantly of the bridegroom and the bride as they passed along the rugged road between the wooded foot of the West Ridge and the rocky bank of the Whirligig, until they came in sight of the ferry opposite Rockhold, the residence of the Rockharrt family and the scene of the approaching wedding.

Old Scythia, the mad woman, and her evil prophesy were soon forgotten, even by the superstitious and credulous, as they guzed upon the gay and festive scene on the east side of the river.

"Oh! did you ever see such a beautiful sight in all your life!" exclaimed Miss Ann Lang to the company at large.

"Oh, yes! When Mr. Fabian Rockharrt came of age there was ever so many more decorations! More flower-arches, and more tents, and more tables! But there! Now the ferry-boat has just left this side. If we had hurried we might have caught her. And now we shall have to wait!" grumbled Old Marwig.

On the opposite side of the river, at the foot of the East Ridge, stood Rockhold, the country seat of the Rockharrts, in its own park, which lay between the mountain and the river.

The house itself was without any pretentions to architectural beauty. It was more remarkable for substantial strength than for elegance.

It was, in fact, a large, heavy, oblong building of gray stone, two stories high, with cellar and garret.

From the front of the house to the edge of the river extended a fair green lawn, shaded here and there by great forest trees.

Under many of these trees, tables with refreshments were set, and seats were placed for the accommodation and refreshment of the out-door guests. In sunny spots, also, some white tents were raised and decorated with flags.

"There'll be a great crowd in the house, let alone the park!" said Mrs. Bounce.

"No, there wont, neither! It is only the nearest relations and most intimate friends of the family who are invited to the ceremony. There have only been five carriages passed since we have been sitting here, and I don't believe there was one come before we came, or that there'll be another come after that last one, which was certainly the groom's," said Old Marwig.

"Oh! was it, indeed? But how do you know?" demanded Mrs. Bounce.

"It is the new carriage from North End Hotel! And he and his groomsmen had engaged it. That's how I know! Here comes the ferry-boat! Now for it!"

The boat soon touched the banks, and as many as could find room crowded into it, and were speedily rowed across the river and landed on the other side.

They found a few of the lawn party there before them, men, women, and children, who, in their holiday dresses, gave color and animation to the scene.

"There is Mr. Clarence Rockharrt coming towards us!" said Mrs. Bounce, as the party walked up from the landing.

"Ah! he's the best of the whole bunch, bless him," she added.

A medium-sized, plump, fair man of middle age with a round, fresh face, a smiling countenance, blue eyes and light hair, and in "a wedding garment" of the day, came down to meet them.

He shook hands with all, warmly welcoming them in the name of his father.

Then he led them up to the lawn and gave them chairs among the unoccupied seats at the various tables.

"If you please, Mr. Clarence, is the groom in good health and sperrits?" meaningly enquired Mrs. Bounce.

"Mr. Rothsay is in excellent health and spirits, thank you," replied the gentleman, looking a little surprised at the question; and then moving quickly to receive some new arrivals.

"That don't seem like there was anything a hanging over him to prevent his taking of his seat to-morrow," exclaimed Mr. Marwig.

"We'll see," said Miss Lang.

The guests for the lawn party were constantly arriving, and the ferry-boat was kept busy plying from shore to shore.

The women and children of North End liked bright colors, and their holiday dresses of red, blue and yellow, purple, orange, and pure white, with gay sashes, scattered over the green grass and through the green foliage of the lawn, made a very brilliant and lively scene.

"It's a fine show, now I tell you all that!" said Mrs. Bounce.

"Ah! but it is nothing to the parade there will be in the city to-morrow, when they inaugurate the new governor. It's all well enough to see the wedding to-day, but I would a heap rather see the inauguration to-morrow," exclaimed Mrs. Marwig.

"You don't know that there will be any inauguration," muttered Ann Lang. "That old woman knows more than we do about what's going to be."

"You are right, young woman. And there will be no inauguration to-morrow. A terrible doom hangs over the bridal pair. It is written in the Book of Fate!" cried old Scythia, from a hill near by. All eyes were turned upon the witch. She waved her hand menacingly at the group, and disappeared.
